

Photo at right by Inez McCuaig. Postmaster, Russel Macadam and Barbara McLaughlin with old Christmas greeting poster.

Although nettled at the rising cost of mail service, Schreiber felt a certain sense of security, and pride, feeling that all was not lost, when they saw the Christmas Greeting which has been hung in the office for twenty years. This card was painted and designed by Norman Glad for postmaster, Russell Macadam, and, although the colours are fading a bit, customers still await its appearance and enjoy recalling certain events of past years and former postal workers.

Why does Sandra MacDonald bring her savings to us?

"Every payday, I make it a habit to save a little. Just a little. But regularly. It's a nice habit and it's easier to get into when the teller gives me a nice big smile. It's the same kind of smile I'd get if I'd gone out and bought something. Except I feel even better because I haven't spent my money at all. In fact, I've put it in a place where it will earn interest too."

Deposit something - or open a savings account this week - and prove to yourself how good it feels to do something really sensible with your money.
