 Lee Fogolin senior will be a guest instructor teaching defencemen. This former NHL-er with Chicago and Detroit is one of Canada's most experienced coaches. Lee Fogolin junior was the top draft choice in North America in 1974 and now plays defence with Buffalo Sabres. He was to be with the School last year but was on the United States team in the World Hockey Championships. Ken Clifton and Dave Fitzpatrick and members of Lakehead University Nor' Westers. Ken is a junior grad who has taught at two other hockey schools. Dave is one of the leading netminders in both the Great Plains Athletic Conference and the International Collegiate Hockey Association. Last year he taught at the School and his teaching techniques drew praise from those he taught and also the School staff. Ian MacRae joined the School late last year. He graduated from Queen's University in physical education and has been coaching high school hockey the past number of years. Sam Walter is one of the most respected men in the School. He is the director of the field program and is in his fourth year with the School.

The Lakehead School of Hockey offers more than three hours of ice time daily Monday through Friday with Saturday being a half day operation. The same amount of time is scheduled in the field program. Also included is Video-Tape Analysis, chalk talks and instructional films.

The School has earned a reputation as one of the best. As Mrs. Zimmerman from St. Louis said "before we sent Ted up to your school again, we scouted around. He's been to other schools but they just can't compare. I really mean it".
