Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white jersey styled on princess lines, the high neckline and cuffs edged with maribou, over which was placed a hooded cape falling into a train and edged entirely in maribou. She carried a cascade of orange roses and white carnations.

The bridal dinner was held at the Masonic Hall where Ivan Cocks was Master of Ceremonies and Mark Caccamo proposed the toast to the bride. A reception followed in the Moose Hall.

For travelling to Winnipeg, the bride changed to a tailored pant suit of camel with matching soft felt hat and brown accessories. The couple will reside at 310 Newman St., Schreiber, Ontario.
