Library welcomes you

Terrace Bay has one of the best library services available in any small town in Northern Ontario and the woman who has headed that service for the last nine years is Ev Knauff. As you walk in the door of the library, Ev is standing there behind the desk with her familiar smile. It's a sight the people of Terrace Bay have grown used to, but it's one we may not be seeing much longer as Ev is considering retiring next year.

Ev has seen a lot of history come and go since she came to the town in its early days. She was Assistant Librarian from 1967 to 1974 when she took over as Head Librarian. How does a job feel after sixteen years? "I really like it. I am getting a little tired of getting up in the morning, but if I have to work this is where I want to work."

The Terrace Bay library originally started out in a little room in what is now the Moose Hall. The Hall was originally the Recreation building used during the mill construction. "It then moved to a little room in back of what is now Churchley Jewellers. Then it went to the Recreation Centre when that was constructed and this is the third room we have been in in this building. While the Recreation Centre was being renovated we had the fun of running the library out of the double wide trailers that are now Dr. Adey's office. We are very pleased with these new quarters, they offer everything we could ask for."

The library moved into its new facilities in the Recreation Centre two years ago. It now houses some 17,000 volumes. The books have been chosen to provide library service to the wide range of interests found in a small community like Terrace Bay. Books are available on virtually every subject and if they aren't on the shelves they can be provided through the Inter-Library Loan system from anywhere in Canada. "We get books from Alberta and British Columbia. We also have some 3,000 books from the Regional Library and we have the use of the National Film Library depot in Thunder Bay. Films can be ordered through us from the National Film Board's catalogue and we also have a 16 mm film pro-
