"When Vinceno (Jimmy) Figliomeni ended his last day of work for the CPR on March 23 he was met by his family, many other relatives and fellow employees offering good wishes."

"D.Q. Hamilton, terminal supervisor, in presenting a gift from fellow employees, mentioned Jimmy's long service with the CPR since 1928. One record was unique, in never missing a day's work through illness in his 45 years. The longest time off work was in 1930 when he returned to Italy for four months to be married."
