

500 plus participate

The number of people participating in the Fun Run, Walk on May 14 was not enough to win the competition. It was sufficient, however to warrant congratulations to all who came out and enjoyed the fresh air! 526 people participated this year, an increase of 296 people, over last year, well over 100 per cent.

Not only did Terrace Bay improve considerably, but they came 4th on the North Shore following Marathon, Manitouwadge and Dorion and it was close. Only a few percentage points separated the four towns.

Winners in the special award categories were:

Oldest Participant - Mrs. Fleurette McBride, age 88 years

Youngest Participant - Rachel Papineau, age 6 months

Largest Family - Falzettas with 13 participating

Largest Club, Organization or Team - Diane Pyhtila and her Girl

Guide group

Largest Class - Grade 6 from Terrace Bay public school. Congratulations all.

Terrace Bay can certainly be proud of their showing but we would sure like to see the North Shore banner in the Terrace Bay Recreation Centre next year. Go for it!

Local youth served as page

Claudio Commisso and MPP Jack Stokes.

Claudio Commisso, son of Nella and Vincenzo Commisso of Schreiber, has recently returned from Toronto where he served as a Page in the Ontario Legislature.

Through the encouragement of Jack Stokes, MPP for this area, Claudio applied for this position and was accepted from over 500 applicants throughout the province.

The term that Claudio served as Page, consisted of 5 weeks extending from May 19th to April 19th. In preparation for this position, Claudio studied diligently to memorize the names and pronunciation of all the Ontario Members of Parliament. While in Toronto, Claudio not only served in the Legislative Assembly while the members were in session, but he also attended school. School was provided in the Legislative Building itself and Claudio, along with 22 other Pages, took part in such classes as French and Classical Music.

Claudio was impressed with the friendliness and professionalism of the people working in the Parliament Buildings. He especially enjoyed meeting and sharing this experience with other students his age from across the province.

Congratulations Claudio! We are sure that you represented this area with the same fine qualities of a young gentleman, that you exhibit to us every day.

Grossman fails the north, youth

Treasurer Larry Grossman promises a lot and delivers little. His budget is a heroic exercise in public relations. But it is not a document that will carry out economic transformation for the province.

Programs are created but jobs aren't.

For instance: the Treasurer announces his intention to assist in the economic development of the North. "This new program will provide industrial infrastructure and ... will help diversify" and "strengthen the economy of the North," he says.

The spending of the program will amount to $3.3 million a year for three years. However, spending by the Ministry of Northern Affairs has dropped from $180 million in 1982-83 to $159 million this year. So much for Northern Development. A drop of $16.7 million in two years.

Grossman also makes a commitment to increase social housing. But he promises to increase rent-geared-to-income housing by 3200 - only 2.7 per cent. The waiting list at OHC is now about 17,818 families; waiting lists for seniors is over 6,000. In fact, in real dollars spending, the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing budget has dropped.

In this budget, Mr. Grossman underestimates the seriousness of the problem of Youth Unemployment. He creates a number of new names for Youth Unemployment programs. But in fact he will be spending less than one third of one per cent of the province's revenues on these programs. That's less than 30 per cent of what government collects on licence plate fees.

In other words he fails to understand the North. He fails to understand Youth unemployment and he fails to reform the tax system.

The bottom line of Mr. Grossman's budget is that unemployment will be the same next year as it is now - 9.1 per cent.

Don't look to Mr. Grossman to create you a job.
