Correction

In the January 29 issue of the Terrace Bay-Schreiber News, a name was not spelled correctly in a story on the new Terrace Bay business committee. That name is Ken Randle.

In the January 22 issue of the News, a statement originally attributed to Angie Gereghy was not actually made by that person. The statement appeared in a story on the Day Care Committee.

The Christmas insert which came with the December 18, 1985 issue of the News included an article titled "Christmas at our house" which had a line that may have left an incorrect impression with some readers.

The paragraph in question was not meant to imply that non-Christian families only display love and sharing during the Christmas season. We apologize.
