

D and A display

Dick Hoben, the manager of the Red Dog Inn in Terrace Bay, recently donated money to the Terrace Bay Police Force which went towards the purchase of material for the Drug and Alcohol Awareness Program, shown here with Hoben, at right, and Police Chief Russ Phillips. The display has been brought to schools in town and will be on view at the Curling Lounge in the Recreation Centre on May 13 and 15 as part of Police Week.

Some students upset

by Tonya Zborowski
A graduation meeting for the 1986 Lake Superior High School graduates was held on Tuesday, April 15, at 10:30 a.m.

Agendas were handed out before the meeting and students discussed and argued over many vital issues concerning their upcoming graduation.

The most important issue discussed at the meeting was the date on which the prom dance would be held. In the past, the graduation dance was held on the same night as the ceremonies and supper.

This year, to avoid the hassles of decorating the gym and putting chairs away before the dance, the grade 12 and 13 students agreed that it would be more convenient and a relief to hold the graduation dance previous to the supper and ceremonies. Being a grade 12 student myself, I attended this meeting in hopes that a date for the prom dance would be agreed upon.

I was surprised, and to say the least shocked, at the fact that we grade 12s, who are also graduating this year, were practically "unheard". The dominating grade 13s seemed to have had previously discussed a date for the prom dance that was convenient for them. They thought that the prom dance should be held as early as the weekend of May 9 and 10. Without stopping to consider the fact that that weekend is only about a month away, and some of us girls have not got a dress for the prom yet, they continued to press the date.

A democratic vote was taken on this issue, and May 16 was decided to be the date for the prom dance.

Unfortunately, myself and many other students left the meeting upset and angry. Many of us grade 12s even considered not going to the prom if it was going to be so much trouble.

I think that in order for us graduates to have a successful, fun, and memorable graduation, we must work together and "listen" to each other's ideas and opinions. As well as being the grade 13's last high school graduation, it is also many of us grade 12's last high school graduation.

Due to circumstances, the date set for the prom night will not be changed. It's too bad that a simple issue such as a date for a dance cannot be agreed upon. This year's prom dance will very likely be successful, but whether or not the bad feelings between the students will pass before the dance is questionable!
