

Go fly a kite all year long . . . it's fun, seller says

Go fly a kite is what they're saying in Rosspport these days. Windy days find kites undulating, diving and even chasing one another off the docks, in boats and on land.

Kite lady, Judi Sundland of Forget-Me-Not Gift Shop in Rosspport said, "We're becoming known for our kites and wind-socks. It's not just a sport for the young either. I know an 84 year-old father who got one for Father's Day last year and loves it!" Most of the kites carried in the store are made in Canada but the range of prices are varied. For $3.95 you can get a mini souvenir kite with spool just for that little one who may lose interest quickly. However, for the avid kite flyer, you can go up past $50 per kite.

Kite flying has come a long way since the homemade kite. Now there are High Performers and aerodynamic lines. Ace two-spooled kites that, with a pull of one spool will take the kite into continuous "loop-de-loops." Dragon kites range from 18 feet in length to 50 feet and come in a rainbow of colours all on one kite.

"This is a favorite," Judi said. "Not only is it easy to get up but when flying it undulates in splashes of colour and you can't keep your eyes off the action. We even have a Parafoil 7.5 with 100 pound braided test line that can fly behind a boat and literally help it along," she said.

There are some kite tips for those of you who may find yourself on the end of a kite line. Remember, the line is your relationship with the kite. A line that is too light for a given kite might break under suddenly increased tension, and a line too heavy decreases the kite's performance. Use a fishing snap swivel at the end of your flying line to easily attach and detach your line from the kite. They give you one free with every spool.

When flying a kite, remember these two principles: (1) When you pull in the line of a kite, you accelerate the motion of the kite, (2) When you let line out, causing it to slacken, a kite will float. So...to continue in a desired direction, pull in the kite's line and when you want to interrupt the kite's course to change direction, let line out. When the kite finds a desirable direction, pull in the line again.

Kite flying is worth hours of enjoyment. It's a sensation to feel the tension on your line and watch your kite soar, stall, fall and lift again. "But be careful, it could become addictive," Judi laughs. "We even fly here in the winter off the ice!"

Who says March is the only time to go fly a kite?

Rosspport Report

By Anne Todesco

Cornelius Posin has arrived home from Ottawa University to spend his vacation with his mother Mrs. Julia Wesley at Pays Plat, Ontario. Mrs. Caroline Mahoney and children of Ignace is visiting her aunt and uncle, Dave and Hilda Mushqush here. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Legault were business visitors to Thunder Bay during the week.

The annual meeting of St. John Berchmen Altar Society was held Monday evening at Mrs. Freda Gerow's home. The meeting was chaired by Doris Legault, the retiring president. She led in the opening prayers and welcomed the priest Rev. Father P. Groulx. The minutes of the last annual meeting and the April meeting were read by Mrs. Laura Legault and approved.

The financial report was presented by Mrs. Pat Beno and proved very satisfactory and moved for adoption. The president gave a report on a recent penny auction held which was a successful event. The 50-50 draw tickets for Derby day are moving along quite briskly.

The results of the election of officers was: President, Mrs. Prina Gerow; Vice President, Mrs. Freda Gerow; Secretary, Mrs. Laura Legault; and Treasurer, Mrs. Pat Beno. The retiring President wished every success to the incoming executive members and thanked the church group for their support during her term in office. Father Groulx offered the closing prayers and blessings. Luncheon followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Douglas of Webbwood are visiting with his sister Mrs. Anne Todesco. Felix Legault is a patient in a Lakehead hospital. Daniel Legault has left for Sault Ste. Marie to meet up with some friends to take a kayak trip on some inland waterways.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Kenney made a trip to the lakehead to visit relatives. Mrs. Anne Todesco was a business visitor to Thunder Bay. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Huller of Aylmer, Ontario are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Legault.

Here is a 56 lettered word in Welsh. A friend of mine was recently visiting in the British Isles and while in Wales, copied the long word and dared me to pronounce it. Well I just can't get my tongue twisted around it: Langairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwlllantysilogogoch. It is sure heavy on the letters W, L, G and O--now I wonder if you can pronounce it? The meaning in English is "St. Mary's Church in a hollow by the white hazel, close to the rapid whirlpool by the cave of St. Tysilio." (The word is supposed to be spoken in one breath.) The Welsh language is very musical.
