

1987 forecasts for Terrace Bay-Schreiber

Schreiber

Schreiber Reeve Mike Cosgrove reflected that 1986 was a good year for Schreiber, despite the uncertainty surrounding the major employer in neighboring Terrace Bay, reports Thunder Bay's Times-News.

Cosgrove said the township isn't sure yet of the impact of the Kimberly-Clark layoffs.

Families of about 100 workers live in Schreiber and work at K-C's Terrace Bay mill.

"They pushed back the layoff date from Nov. 27 until about the first of February for retraining purposes. Some of the 100 families would probably be affected," said Cosgrove.

However, the reeve didn't have to dig for good news, because Kerr Addison is expected to go ahead with production of its nearby Winston Lake zinc mine in July or August. He said they are expecting to hire 130 full-time employees.

Fire Hall and ball field

The Centennial Fire Hall was completed in 1986 for $340,000, which doesn't include volunteer labor.

Development of a $70,000 ball park is well underway through the municipal parks and recreation department.

About 300 people used a substandard gravel field last baseball season, but it should be complete by next season, Cosgrove said.

The Lake Superior Board of Education included a track in the facility.

Work continued on Schreiber's subdivision, money was spent on a creek diversion and flood plain mapping study of the area and Schreiber township councillors twice met with their Terrace Bay counterparts, "with excellent dialogue between the two councils," Cosgrove said.

Some joint Schreiber-Terrace Bay tourism projects are planned. A Terrace Bay-Schreiber chamber of commerce was formed last year and the township is receiving good co-operation, noted the Schreiber reeve.

The major project for 1987 is completion of the 57-lot subdivision, to be in place if required by Kerr Addison, which will have a 10-unit apartment ready by spring.

There are two other possible applications for subdivision development. Cosgrove hopes they will be on line for 1987.

Official township plan

A beautification program was started in 1985 and the township would like to give it a major shot in the arm this year.

The official township plan should be adapted soon, with approval needed from provincial ministries. Once it's in place, Schreiber will be eligible to receive government funding of such projects as neighborhood improvement and downtown core improvement.

Terrace Bay

"The major challenge for 1987 is to keep Terrace Bay alive," Reeve Ollie Chapman told the Times-News.

She said the big disappointment for Terrace Bay in 1986 was the announcement by Kimberly-Clark, resulting layoffs and the uncertainty of the future of the community.

Up to 200 people have been laid off in the local K-C pulp mill since August, with 100 more anticipated in February.

"There's a down mood in Terrace Bay, particularly around this time of the year," said the reeve. "Business is down. For those working it's great and for those not working it's disastrous."

Terrace Heights Drive

This past year Terrace Bay township council accomplished some of its goals.

A senior citizens housing study is underway. (The response to the study through questionnaires has been disappointing).

Councillors met Ministry of Transportation and Communications officials and were told that in early spring the MTC will start a survey and study on the Terrace Heights entrance.

That new subdivision was jammed when a forest fire came close to the houses and there was only one exit open from the development.

The ministry said at a meeting last month that it will try to alleviate the Terrace Heights bottleneck, whether it's with a new road, merges or passing lanes, noted Reeve Chapman.

The senior citizen's snow removal assistance program, and an independent heating system for the recreation complex were major accomplishments for 1986, said the reeve.

The community Futures program is being explored for 1987.

In addition, a study will be done on possible development of the Aguasabon Falls and waterfront development through the Ministry of Northern Development and Mines as a tourist area, said Chapman.

Alert device will help to prevent the hitting of animals on highway

Besides speeding, what causes the most accidents in Northern Ontario? Ontario Provincial Police report that there were about 3,100 vehicle crashes involving animals in 1985.

Many small animals were hit, but deer, bear and moose were frequent victims.
