

Mannila in town without Conway to canvass

Control Order

Much on the minds of every citizen of Terrace Bay, Schreiber and Rossport has been the pollution control order, which almost caused the option of closing the Kimberly-Clark operations in Terrace Bay and vicinity to be considered.

Manilla spoke about Premier Peterson's new funding initiative which will allow paper mills to borrow money from the provincial government to upgrade pollution control measures.

Peterson announced this campaign promise last Friday in Thunder Bay.

Manilla was firm about the idea of government-controlled auto insurance, as suggested by the NDP.

He claimed that provinces which already have implemented auto insurance also have "enormous deficits in the area of $100 million."

Manilla reminds constituents that these losses may not be covered in premiums but may be recovered by increased taxes.

The solution for the high price of auto insurance premiums is by "intervention into the industry...where the consumer gets a fair and equitable deal...within a free enterprise system."

Manilla also declares that the Progressive Conservative promise for lower gas prices in the North is empty.

He reports that the PCs had 42 years of government to implement this before. Why would they start now, he said.

The Provincial election will be held on Thursday, September 10, 1987.

Gilles Pouliot, the incumbent, is the NDP candidate for Lake Nipigon and Vic Fournel is the PC candidate for the riding.

Following a week of flying in the Northern regions, the Mannila campaign trail lead to many isolated communities.

Here Mannila addressed many of the concerns that have plagued many of the natives living in these remote Northern communities.

Mannila also visited Raith, Upsala and Graham. His arrival in English River, Savant Lake and Osnaburgh House proved to be one of tremendous support and the reception there was phenomenal.

After a brief stopover on home turf, Mannila then continued his campaign journey to Rossport, Schreiber and Terrace Bay.

Again, Mannila and his team

Geraldton for the evening and a hectic day was planned for Geraldton with John Evans, Dick Berday and Rene Fontaine accompanying Mannila.

The tour included a visit to the Senior Citizens' home there.

Finally, again after a much-needed rest, the tour detoured back to Nipigon.

Home turf

Friendly well-wishers met Mannila on his arrival back home and after four days of visiting homes in Red Rock and Nipigon he took time off to attend a relative's wedding in Thunder Bay and a friend's wedding in Red Rock.

were greeted warmly and openly throughout this region.

While in Terrace Bay, Mannila, accompanied by Neil Seagris of Red Rock, wound up his mainstreeting at the Annual Terrace Bay Golf Tournament.

Returning home for a much-needed rest, Mannila then took to the air once again, and this time to visit Armstrong, hosted by Pat Waltho, and then to Gull Bay reserve, hosted by Sam King.

While in Gull Bay, Mannila was given the red carpet treatment.

Beardmore

The tour also took Mannila to Beardmore, Orient Bay and Rocky Bay reserve- from there it was off to Jellicoe and the registration of nomination papers.

Mannila was greeted in Nakina by Terry Swanson and Rae Mercier who toured the community with the Mannila team and here he met with many of the residents who are actively involved in a quest to generate the new industry of raising chickens in the North.

After Nakina, the trail ended in
