

Remedial Action Team completes plan on bay

Kimberly-Clark Canada Limited pulp and paper operations since the mill's inception in 1948.

The Blackbird Creek drainage area encompasses 62 square kilometres of rough, wooded terrain. Kimberly-Clark of Canada

Limited operates a kraft pulp mill at Terrace Bay which discharges its effluent into the Blackbird Creek system approximately 15 kilometres upstream of the Blackbird Creek inlet to Jackfish Bay.

Although it was originally expected that the creek/lake system would provide treatment of the mill effluent prior to its entry into Lake Superior, low flows in Blackbird Creek offer little assimilative capacity.

The Champlain

This house was built in 1884. It was originally clapboard.
