The News

Dear Mrs. Cosgrove,
We are pleased to announce that you are the winner of the News' Subscription Drive Contest! You have won the grand prize of a weekend for two in Thunder Bay.

Yes, Mrs. Cosgrove of Schreiber won a delightful weekend which includes a weekend stay at the beautiful Valhalla Inn which includes Sunday brunch; a delicious dinner for two (includes a bottle of wine) at the Neebing Road House and two tickets to see Flip Wilson (remember him?) at the Thunder Bay Community Auditorium.

Gone with daughter

Mrs. Cosgrove, who lives at Collingwood Court in Schreiber, shared her grand prize with her daughter Colleen Gauthier and the two went on this exciting trip last weekend.

"I enjoy going out for a weekend in Thunder Bay," said Mrs. Cosgrove. "I have a son there John."

Everyone was quite excited that she won the prize including her son, Mike Cosgrove, the reeve of Schreiber.

Some background

Mrs. Cosgrove has lived in Schreiber for many years, the last time since 1941.

She married Austin Cosgrove in 1930 and they lived in Schreiber until 1936. They then went east for about five years before returning to Schreiber.

Austin used to be a CPR engineer and the two had 10 children (six boys and four girls), who now live from "Calgary to Nova Scotia" said Mrs. Cosgrove.

At one time all 10 lived in Schreiber before growing up and spreading out across the nation.

Mrs. Cosgrove enjoys knitting and crocheting but told the News she enjoys family visits the most, which occur quite often, she said.

Her oldest son Dean from Dryden, Ontario, has just returned home from a week-long visit to Schreiber.

"I couldn't get over it when they called," Mrs. Cosgrove told the News. "My daughter entered the contest as well. She said she was going to win."

Well, even though Mrs. Cosgrove had the winning ticket, it looks as though neither mother or daughter lost out in the end.

Solicitor General attends luncheon

Crimestoppers seminar a success

By Ken Lusk
The News

The Terrace Bay Police Force recently hosted the 1987 Annual Crime Prevention Seminar, and Terrace Bay Police Chief Donald Kidder said it was "a complete success."

"The dinner was a success and the food was fantastic. There was a good turnout for all three parts (of the seminar)."

The crime prevention seminar was a gala event with guests from across the country and a presentation by none other than the Solicitor General herself, Joan Smith.

The seminar was opened on Wednesday, November 4, by Master of Ceremonies, Terry Morris of CBQ (CBC) Radio, Thunder Bay.

Sports and drugs

The morning session of the seminar, Part I, saw Inspector John Kopinak of the Niagara Regional Police Force discussing

"Sports and Drugs Don't Mix" to invited guests and the graduating VIP classes (Values, Influences and Peers) of Schreiber and Terrace Bay.

The VIPs attended all day as did the law class of the high school.

"It was a good presentation and well-received," said Kidder.

The "Sports and Drugs Don't Mix" program is one Kopinak developed for the Niagara Regional Police Force and it has recently been adopted and endorsed by the Solicitor General of Canada.

This program is available to all coaches.

Police Chief Kidder said Kopinak is an 18-year veteran of the police force who has been involved in sports.

Kopinak saw a need for this program because he has seen athletes who have fallen by the wayside due to drugs- athletes who have had great potential, said Kidder.

The police chief said representation from all areas was present; police, service clubs, municipal politicians, and provincial politicians (represented locally).

Luncheon

A luncheon was held at St.

Martin of Tours Church prepared by the Catholic Women's league.

Joan Smith, the solicitor-general of Canada, was there as was George Ramsay who represented the township as a councillor and as acting-reeve in Ollie Chapman's absence. Ramsay's third hat that day was representing Federal MP for Cochrane-Superior Keith Penner.

(Joan Smith is the ninth Solicitor General of Canada. She is married and has seven children. She is also the deputy house leader).

Terrace Bay Police Chief Don Kidder said Smith gave a 15-minute speech at the luncheon on crime prevention.

She highly-praised all people who participate in crime prevention programs, Kidder said.

Awards

It was during lunch that Smith presented awards to people who have contributed significantly in this area.

(The News will have the names and pictures of the recipients next week).

"Crimestoppers is one of the great crime prevention programs available," said Terrace Bay Police Chief Kidder.

He said one reason for its success is that people do not have to be afraid of being identified.

Anonymity is guaranteed when giving information to the police about crimes committed.

"People have a fear of being identified," Kidder said.

Part 11 of seminar is also a success

The News

The crime prevention seminar held on Nov. 4 had many facets to it.

Part 11 saw Sergeant Ken Baker, of the Thunder Bay Police Force, and Corporal Jim Brink, of the OPP, Thunder Bay, also discussing the many facets of the Crimestoppers program.

Both men are co-ordinators of the Thunder Bay District Crimestoppers program.

The Thunder Bay District Crimestoppers program has been very successful in its close to two-year existence.

The program was started on January 6, 1986.
