Dec. 13 is showtime
Photographer Hewson's show will illustrate her new creative outlook

By Ken Lusk
 The News

Come and experience the ageless beauty of the North Shore of Lake Superior captured for you by Susan Johnson Hewson, photographer.

Birch Magic Photography is owned and operated by Hewson at White Sand Lake near Schreiber.

Hewson's work captures the rugged beauty of the wilderness with a warmth and skill that indicates devotion to her art and an intimacy with her subjects.

After you've seen her work, you'll never perceive rocks, trees and water in quite the same way again.

You can see all of her work, and her beautiful home, together, on Dec. 13 at her show entitled "Photography with Feeling".

Hewson is holding yet another show but this time with a twist. The show will be in her gorgeous home at White Sand Lake.

Talented photographer

Hewson has been taking pictures for many years now. Her art is now celebrating its fourth year as a bona fide business.

Ten years ago, Hewson began her photographic career by taking a photography course as a pastime. She has been now selling her work since 1981.

Hewson grew up in Schreiber and went to college in Thunder Bay. She has lived Manitouwadge and Terrace Bay but now resides with her husband Chris at White Sand Lake.

A desire to share her love of nature and experiences finds Hewson photographing unusual scenes that capture many different emotions.

Her heart truly belongs to the outdoors.

Expanding skill

Up until just recently, Hewson photographed mainly scenic shots but she is now expanding into a more creative and wider choice of photographs.

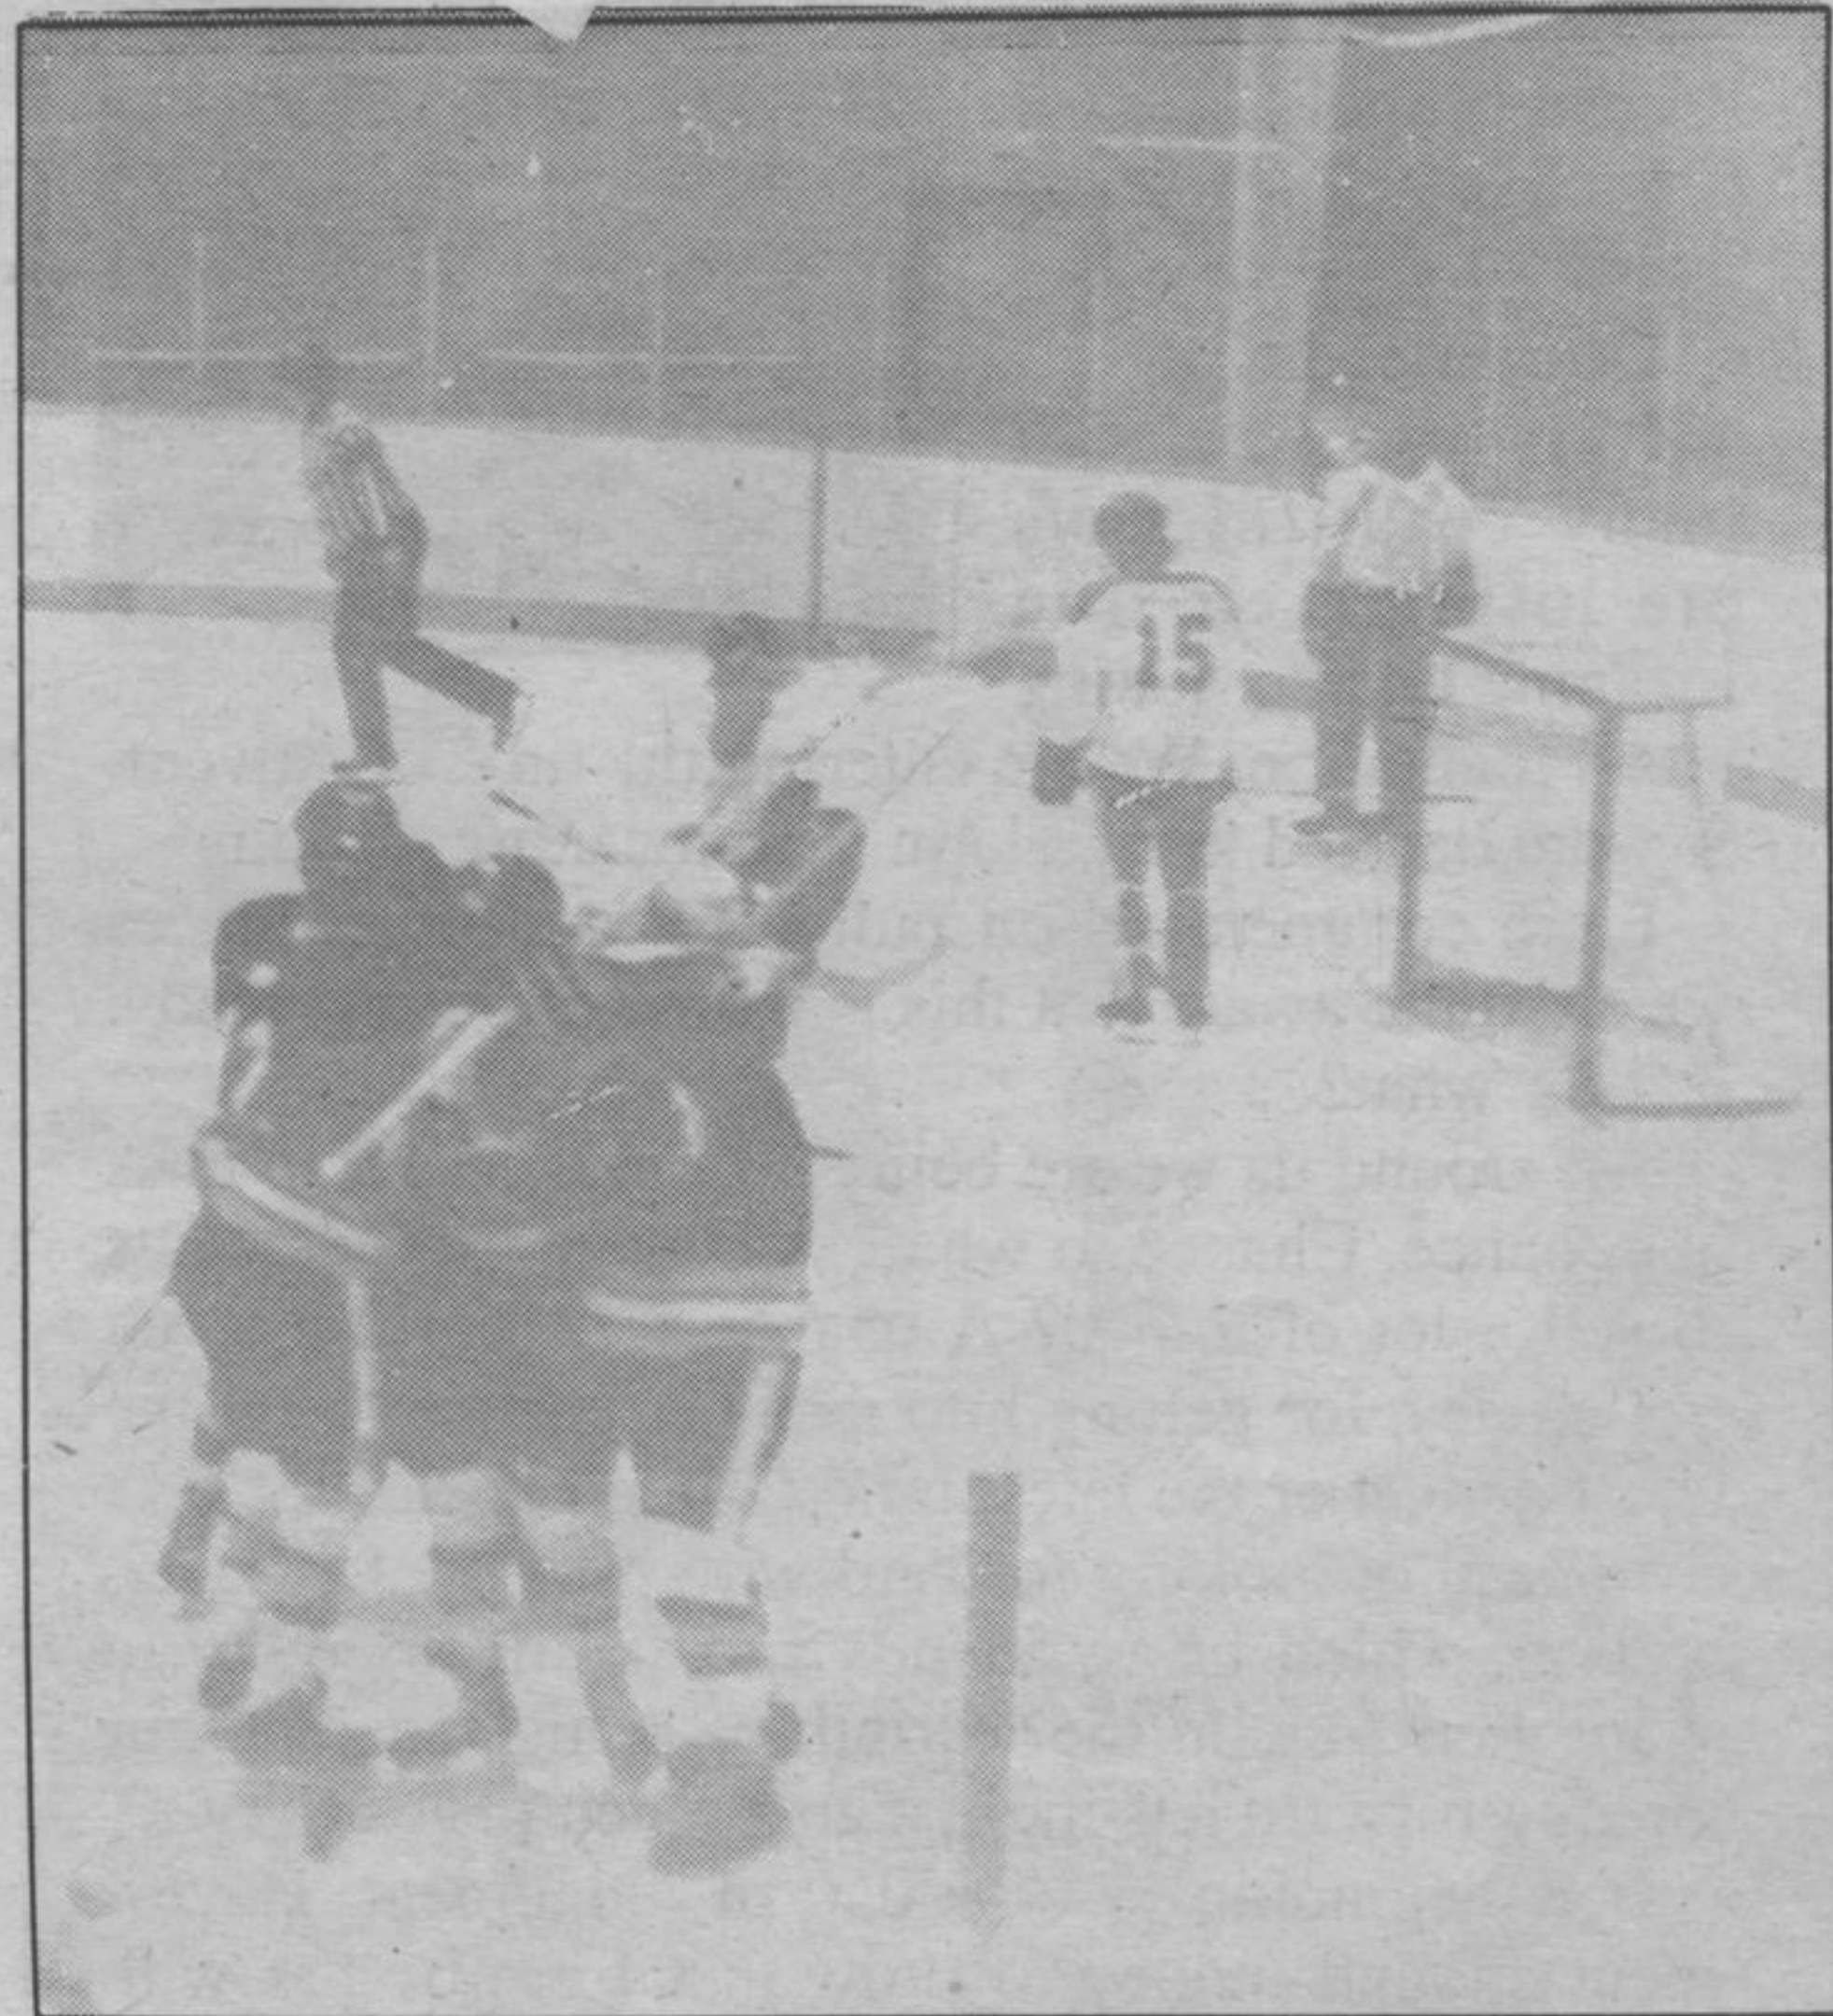

Her show, on Sunday, December 13, from 1-4 p.m., will be proof positive of that change.

Hewson is tying in the natural beauty of her home with the beauty of her photographs at her show.

Hewson said that because she has lived in the country for the last five years, she has "developed a sensitive and creative approach to photography."

"The show will illustrate photographs with feeling- a creative approach," she said.

Logo Winner

250 business and community leaders to attend

Strengthening Northern economy conference focus in Thunder Bay

Toronto- Strengthening the economy of Northern Ontario will be the goal of 250 business people and community leaders who will gather in Thunder Bay November 23 to the 25th for the conference on Northern Business and Entrepreneurship.

Northern Development Minister Rene Fontaine said the conference- a follow up to Premier David Peterson's conference in Sault Ste. Marie last November- "is critical to generating new business and jobs in the North."

Successful entrepreneurs will also receive Northern Ontario business awards of excellence during the conference, which will highlight an address from Premier Peterson.

The Thunder Bay conference follows a series of one-day regional workshops attended by as many as 500 Northerners and dealing with issues including economic opportunities, youth entrepreneurship and changes needed to create a better climate to promote the establishment of new businesses in the North.

nizations, labour groups, educational institutions, community leaders and others.

The conference will be divided into nine workshops of 25 to 30 people and will cover such topics as strengthening local economies, availability of capital for business starts and improving Northern

 David Peterson will highlight the conference

Hosted by the Northern Development Councils, workshop participants identified a number of issues which will serve as a basis for discussion in Thunder Bay.

The conference will be attended by business people, economic development orga-

Ontario's image.

In making the announcement, Fontaine said, "This conference will be an important forum for Northerners to produce specific action plans for promoting business development and entrepreneurship in Northern Ontario."
