

Bay manager moving to Red Lake

the Schreiber store that unfortunately he won't be around to see happen. He said the store will be redone a bit more; the new manager, from the White River Bay store, will be moving things around a bit to have a different presentation and to make more room in areas that need it.

"There is a lack of space." Things like this are on the list for the next guy, Robb said.

Robb told the News he worked in business-related jobs for five years even before he was done high school. "I enjoyed it and so went into it. My favourite aspect (of the job) is the set up of merchandise on the floor, called merchandise presentation."

Robb's wife Laura has also worked in Schreiber as a receptionist at the chiropractic office. She has also been involved in Guides and Brownies and she was even the district commissioner.

Robb has been involved with the now defunct Kinsmen and just recently he is on the new Schreiber/Terrace Bay Futures Organization.

"I'm interested to see them (Futures) follow through (in their quest)," he said.

"I've enjoyed Schreiber. We've met some very nice people. We're going to miss our friends."

Robb added that he hopes the new manager and the store will continue to get the support from the community like he has.

Robb would like to see people guide the new man with their likes and dislikes.

The people have "helped me immensely," he said. "If you know what the customer wants, you can get it in. I hope people keep supporting the new guy."

Does it hurt?
