OPP's R.I.D.E.

Toronto- Ontario Provincial Police officers checked 369,403 drivers during the Christmas/New Year anti-impaired driving campaign and charged a total of 1,683 motorists with alcohol-related criminal code of Canada driving offenses in R.I.D.E. checks and general patrols.

In comparison to last year, more vehicles were stopped in the recent seasonal R.I.D.E. campaign, yet fewer impaired drivers were found behind the wheel.

During the 1986/87 OPP Christmas/New Year program, police checked 357,167 drivers and charged 1,812 of them with alcohol-related driving offenses in R.I.D.E. checks and general patrols.

Fewer 12-hour licence suspensions were issued during the year's Christmas/New Year R.I.D.E. program- 1,999 suspensions, compared to 2,938 12-hour suspensions issued the previous year.

Although the eight-week Christmas/New Year R.I.D.E. campaign is now over, the year-round OPP R.I.D.E. program will continue throughout 1988.
