Improved Services for the Hearing Impaired

In order to better serve hearing impaired adults and children, the Canadian Hearing Society in Thunder Bay is studying the service needs of hearing impaired individuals.

The study is being conducted in several regional communities.

Members of the study team were in Terrace Bay on Feb. 23.

To ensure that any new program developed reflects the needs of hearing impaired, representatives of the hearing society spoke with individuals and agencies who have concerns about the availability of local services.

If you are aware of any special needs of the hearing impaired or have concerns about services offered, the hearing society would welcome your input.

For further information, call Kathleen Lynch, regional director, Canadian Hearing Society, 1-807-623-1646.

Futures for Terrace Bay?

Wayne Kushnier, from the Youth Employment Centre (YEC) in the Nipigon/Red Rock area, approached council on Feb. 22 to see if there is interest here for the Futures program.

This program focusses on youth between the ages of 16 and 25 who have been out of a job and school for some time.

The Futures program teaches youth how to find jobs, how to write resumes and how to act in an interview, to name a few of the services.

Youth in the Futures program are placed in the workplace for 16 weeks where they become trained in that particular job. The government pays their wages- the minimum wage of $4.55 an hour.

Kushnier told council the Nipigon/Red Rock Futures program has between a 90 and 100 per cent success rate- that is, about 95 per cent of the youth find employment after being in the program.

The Nipigon/Red Rock Futures is the most successful in the province at this time.

Clerk Dave Fulton asked Kushnier when he would need an answer regarding whether the township would participate.

Kushnier replied by saying he would like to have the program in place by summer, even as soon as possible.

He said that if the township did decide to participate, $10,000 would be a good amount to put into the program. The Ministry of Skills Development matches township funds up to $10,000.
