

DAG told of dog service

President Shirley Mikus welcomed members and guests to the meeting of Disability Action Group (DAG) held October 20 in the McCausland Hospital lobby. It was particularly gratifying to have Councillor Jim Zeigler attend this meeting to offer many suggestions and to listen to problems.

Describing some of the progress with accessibility, committee members Alma Hart and Dorothy Plourde were asked to enquire of similar problems in Schreiber. Schreiber Council had mentioned having a spray bomb to spray a line of paint on cement steps. Members involved offered choices of colours and decided upon Hunter's Orange if this device is available.

The resignation of Russ Stevens as Resource Information Chairman was accepted with much regret.

It was reported that Community Resource Worker Gary Turcotte has completed a needs survey regarding Tele-Aid in this area. A meeting will be arranged to compare studies with those currently underway by DAG for Lifeline. DAG has some funds designated for Lifeline and planning other projects.

Social convenor Dorothy Kenny introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Alice Scott, representing Galaxy Kennels. With pet therapy as her topic, Alice held her audience enraptured with a film showing the careful selection and gradual training of the dogs used for CCI - Canine Champions for Independence.

Shirley presented the current report for the Handitransit Committee and answered Jim Zeigler's questions about the subject.

Going beyond the needs of the blind alone, these dogs were trained to assist in a great variety of physical disabilities such as hearing impairment or degenerative diseases and could respond to close to 132 commands.

These dogs when fully trained are distinguished by the blue and yellow packsacks on their backs serving as carryalls for their owner's needs. Presently trained by the originator of this system in California, these dogs mainly serve in the United States, but there are four in Canada, four in Holland and two in Israel.

Alice answered many of the audience's questions and promised to return next summer to display outdoors some of her pets' abilities. She has also worked for the annual Dog-a-thon raising monies towards this costly venture.

Coffee was served before the evening concluded. Everyone is welcome to the next meeting in the McCausland Hospital on November 17 at 7.00 p.m.

Terrace Bay firefighters responded to a house fire on Southridge Crescent last week. There were no reported injuries, and damage was mostly caused by smoke.

Money$worth worth it

(NC)—The problems of ever-increasing taxes and spiralling inflation have all of us wondering how to manage our finances without having a degree in economics.

TV Ontario's personal-finance series, Money$worth, returns for a sixth season beginning Friday, October 7th at 8:00 p.m. EDT to cover a variety of financial issues of concern to the Canadian consumer.

This year, Christine Johnson, well-known consumer specialist and former host of CBC's Market Place, joins Bruce Rogers in the Money$worth studio. The approach is relaxed, friendly, and straightforward.

"I'm not an economist, I'm not a stockbroker," says Johnson, "but I do have an instinct for consumers' rights."

Says Money$worth co-host and veteran broadcaster Bruce Rogers: "It's not the job of this program to sell any particular approach to investment. Our job is to explore the options."

Topics this season will include home and car financing; retirement planning and RRSPs; alternative investments such as small businesses; leisure travel; household budgets; real estate; mutual funds; legal matters; and what free trade and the new tax laws will mean to the consumer.

Tune in to Money$worth beginning October 7th, and see how to get the most from your dollar.

Christine Johnson.

His message:

Come to my Heavenly garden,
And see in perfect bloom,
The flower you loved so dearly,
And thought that I plucked too soon.
Then you will know the reason,
Though you know it not today,
Why in his promising manhood
I took your brother away.
