Mother of murder victim petitioning for changes to Young Offenders Act

By Dave Chmara
Chantelle Hamelin was, as her mother puts it, "a beautiful two year old child".
But, on Oct. 8, 1988, Chantelle's 14-year-old baby sitter attacked and beat to death the two-year-old.
Since then, he has been charged with her murder. The case will be held in youth court and if the 14-year-old is convicted, he faces a maximum sentence of three years, under the provisions set out in section 20 (1) of the Young Offenders Act.
Chantelle's mother, Debbie, said, "I have now become acutely and rudely awakened to the cause and effect of much of the violence in our society today and a grossly imbalanced criminal justice system which undeniably shows partiality to the wicked deeds of the offender and continues to deny the innocent of justice."

Debbie Hamelin is now launching a campaign to bring about changes to the Young Offenders Act. She is petitioning to have youths charged with murder to undergo trial in adult court among other changes.
Interested and supportive citizens can sign the petition at the Terrace Bay Municipal Office.

Foreign bait fish illegal in Ontario

A regulation passed July 17, 1989, prohibits the bringing of any live fish, crayfish or salamanders into Ontario for use as bait.
The Ministry of Natural Resources says, "exotic or transplanted species can severely disrupt a fishery. The new fish compete with native populations for existing habitat or food, and may introduce parasites and disease."
Some species such as carp, which forage along the bottom of lakes and streams, can foul waterways and destroy spawning grounds for native species of fish and wildlife."
As a result, Vince Kerrio, Minister of Natural Resources, is urging anglers in Northwestern Ontario not to use live baitfish that originate from outside the province.
"The use of foreign baitfish by anglers is increasing on many lakes in Northwestern Ontario. This practice is dangerous because of the risk of introducing exotic fish species, parasites and diseases to our provincial fishery," said Kerrio.
Kerrio requested federal Minister of Fisheries and Oceans, Thomas Siddon, to amend the Ontario Fishery Regulations of the federal Fisheries Act because the Ontario Fishery Regulations are under the jurisdiction of the federal Fisheries Act, even though they are administered by the province.

The Ontario Ministry of Health has approved funding for the creation of a program to combat substance abuse in the North of Superior area. The Board of Directors of the North of Superior Programs is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Jim Grant as the Director of the new Substance Abuse Program.

For eight years the Ministry of Health and the Ministry of Community and Social Services have funded the North of Superior Programs with two programs. Mental Health and Community Development have been the main areas of concern. In conjunction with the Mental Health and Community Development program, the Substance Abuse Program will be working with individuals and families who suffer from the effects of alcohol and drug abuse.

Mr. Grant, the Director of the Program, has a Masters Degree in Education from Boston College, Boston Mass., and has 20 years experience in working with addicted individuals and families. At present funding levels, Mr. Grant will be covering the towns of Geraldton and Longlac himself. He will be supervising two other workers - one for the Marathon/Manitouwadge area and one in the Red Rock/Nipigon area.

As presently structured the Substance Abuse Program will have two parts. The first part will deal with the assessment, referral for treatment and follow-up individuals and families trapped in the vicious cycle of chemical abuse. The second part revolves around the continuing education of our communities regarding the issues of alcohol and drug abuse.
