

Terrace Bay musician named member of respected U.S. band

Anthony Friedrich who resides in Terrace Bay has been accepted for membership in the United States Collegiate Wind Band, a highly selective musical organization which will make a three week concert tour of Europe and England next July. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Heirbert Friedrich. He plays clarinet in the local Lake Superior High School Band (Orchestra) directed by Howard Alexander.

The invitation to tour with the Collegiate Wind Band came from Dr. Al G. Wright, Director of Bands Em. at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana because of his recent selection for the "All-American" Hall of Fame of Distinguished High School Musicians.

The United States Collegiate Wind Band will perform a series of concerts in some of Europe's most important musical centers including London, Paris, Lugano, Salzburg and Lucern.

The wind Band will assemble in New York City for four-days of intensive rehearsal prior to flying to Brussels for the start of the tour. Distinguished American, Canadian, and European conductors will direct the group at the concerts. The Wind Band will be of full symphonic proportions numbering 92 musicians.

Acceptance for membership in this highly talented group of young musicians is considered an important musical honor of national significance.

Previous concerts played by the group on tour have been received with critical acclaim by knowledgeable European audiences. Standing ovations have been the rule rather than the exception.

In addition to their concert performances, members of the group will visit a number of important musical shrines. These will include Mozart's birth place in Salzburg, Wagner's home and studio in Lucern, Beethoven's house in Bonn, and Chopin's London residence.

The students will also attend selected performances by world famous professional orchestras and concert bands.

Characteristics of men who batter their wife

Following is a list of common characteristics of men who batter their partners.

1. 80 per cent have been abused or seen abuse as children.
2. They tend to minimize or deny the frequency and severity of their violence.
3. They see their lives as being externally directed - both positive and negative aspects. (i.e. Causes of their violence located outside of themselves).

4. They tend to be impulsive. (i.e. make decisions without considering the consequences).
5. They tend to feel isolated.
6. They tend to be excessively dependent upon and possessive of their partner (i.e. Frequently pre-occupied with their partner's whereabouts and activities - unable to experience themselves and their partners as two separate individuals - this attitude is often encouraged by our society).

7. They have a need to control situations and people by external control rather than self-control.

8. They tend to express feelings as anger.

9. They can be depressed and suicidal.

10. They can use alcohol and drugs to lower their inhibition against battering.

With this character build up in mind, here are some thoughts a batterer could have about his behaviour.

- There is no problem.
- I am not to blame.
- It happened because we were fooling around, she slipped.
- We were just having an argument.

- She won't leave me alone. She is always nagging me.

- I don't hurt her.

- What I do is no one else's business. It's my wife. It's my home.

- I can criticize her, but she has no business complaining about what I do.

If she knew her place and did her job properly, there'd be no problem.

Wife assault is not a woman's private dilemma, it is a learned behavioural problem on the batterer's part. Men who batter need to realize that they are responsible for their own actions. They are hurting their wives, their children, and themselves.

Men who batter need to seek counselling to change their abusive behaviour. There are groups for "men who choose to batter" called First Step. The Thunder Bay First Step number is 623-2218 and the Marathon First Step number is 229-0607.
