Count your toes

WARNING:
To snowmobilers and ice fishermen. Even before you start out for a day on the ice or ride on the trails, make sure you know who your friends are!

There's nothing more frightening than to see the last snowmachine go by you and you're bogged down and the cord is in your hand. But heck they're your friends and family. They'll return (8 hours later).

It's comforting to know you were the main topic back at camp around a nice warm fire and drinking fire water to warm up the inside and your helmet is sitting on the freezer. Heck they had a hard day. They have to rest a few hours (6 - 7).

Good friends and family got up at the crack of dawn and went looking for the guy who MIGHT have taken a short cut or who MIGHT of headed to Red Rock. Heck what does he know when he was with experienced outdoors men and they've lived in the bush most of their lives.

All I can say to these eight or more guys is that this will be with you everyday of your lives and when you put your socks on, count ten toes. God willing, my son will be able to do the same.

With friends like that; who needs enemies?

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

Your picture on Page 9 of the January 10 issue of the News was excellent.

However, what it failed to show is my concern. The picture does not show the other grades gathered on either side of the Grade 7 class in the gymnasium that December 15 afternoon.

The caption fails to state the purpose of the assembly - which was to celebrate with and thank the entire school community for its excellent response to our call of "Sharing the Wealth" with those less fortunate than ourselves in the Terrace Bay -

Schreiber area.

The fact is the Grade 7 class co-ordinated the effort throughout - by daily reminders and collection of food and/or toys from the rooms. A picture and short caption fails to convey the joy of giving and helping as expressed in the eyes and excitement of the Primary Children as they witnessed the boxes filling.

It fails to recognize the parents of our school community who through their co-operation at home encouraged their children to bring in these goods for distribution. It fails to recognize the teachers of our school community who encouraged, reminded, and discussed the ideals of sharing - co-operating and giving.

I could go on with the merits and benefits gained by this exercise by my students in Grade 7, needless to say they are many and varied.

To say that I am disappointed with the coverage given, the time spent on this human interest story and the timing (Dec. 15 to Jan. 10) for exposure to the public, is really an understatement.

Response to Letter to the editor

By: Paul Marcon, General Manager, The Terrace Bay/Schreiber News

In response to the letter written by Mr. John St. Amand.

I am sorry that someone does not appreciate the fact that people have not yet accomplished the art of mind reading. For a newspaper, a group, an individual or organization to understand what someone else wants there has to be a form of communication. Mr. St. Amand did not explain to us exactly what he wanted in the paper.

We attempt to satisfy the whole community and to do so in a short time frame with staff shortages means that many articles do not appear in the paper. Share the Wealth had excellent coverage. We placed large ads for free as a contribution, each employee of the NEWS also donated food, pictures were taken at an event, well after the deadline and a large picture of the event with a cutline explaining the picture was placed in the paper on a right hand page for excellent exposure. WE DID OUR SHARE!

Mr. St. Amand may not appreciate the fact that Christmas occurs (not only a time to rest for himself but for others also) between Dec. 15 and Jan. 10. Mr. St. Amand may not also know that while he was enjoying the Christmas Holidays, I was work-

In Memoriam

WOODRUFF - Ray (Woody),
in loving memory of our dear father, father-in-law and grandfather who passed away January 29, 1989.

Our heart still aches with sadness
And secret tears still flow
What it meant to lose you
No one will ever know
When we are sad and lonely
And everything goes wrong
We seem to hear you whisper
Cheer up and carry on
Each time we see your picture
You seem to smile and say
Don't cry, I'm only sleeping
We'll meet again some day

Forever loved and sadly missed by Bob, Pauline and Sara
