Lifeline fund gets another boost...

By Angie Saunders
The News

Beta Sigma Phi recently presented Elaine Mannisto with a cheque towards the purchase of a new Lifeline unit. A number of fundraisers were held this year to help buy it.

small...portable

Lifeline is a personal response system that links a person to a 24-hour assistance at the push of a button. It allows you to move freely around your home but if you should happen to fall, have an accident, or sudden illness all you do is push the button and you will be helped out. You've probably seen the commercial on television.

The communicator unit, itself, is a small portable, personal Help Button that can be worn on a neckchain, wrist strap, or clipped to clothing. It is connected to your telephone line. An automatic call for help is sent when the Help button is pushed. Highly trained personnel will make contact with you and if assistance is needed, they will contact one of your "responders"- nearby friends or relatives. An ambulance or police will be dispatched for more serious situations.

A few added features offered to the unit include a smoke alarm, battery back-up, and a waterproof personal help button.

Lifeline users include people who live alone, people with ongoing medical conditions, new Mothers, post operative patients, and disabled or handicapped adults.

users widespread

Over 200,000 people across Canada and the United States benefit from Lifeline and are enjoying more active and independent lifestyles.

Hunter Course

A Hunter Education and Firearms Safety Course will commence April 27th from 6-9:00 p.m. and April 28 & 29th from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. for further information and registration call 825-3634 after 6:00 p.m.
