Royal Commission on New Reproductive Technologies/ Commission Royale sur les nouvelles techniques de reproduction

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Royal Commission on New Reproductive Technologies has been established by the Government of Canada with a mandate to "inquire into and report on current and potential medical and scientific developments related to new reproductive technologies, considering in particular their social, ethical, health, research, legal and economic implications and the public interest, recommending what policies and safeguards should be applied."

Throughout the next year, the Commission will be conducting an extensive public consultation program to hear the views and experiences of Canadians from all walks of life.

- Public hearings will be held across Canada beginning in September 1990. To be invited to appear, a group or individual must submit a short brief or position paper by July 31, 1990.
- Consultative meetings on specific issues are being organized to provide those with a specific interest in one or more areas involving the new reproductive technologies to share their views on the development, impact and implications of new reproductive technologies.
- Individual sessions can be arranged with those wishing to relate a personal experience, relevant to our mandate, in a private setting.

The Commission is particularly interested in hearing a full range of views on the following issues: the implications of new reproductive technologies for women's reproductive health and well-being; the causes, treatment and prevention of male and female infertility; all new reproductive technologies, including reversals of sterilization procedures, artificial insemination, in vitro fertilization, embryo transfers, prenatal screening and diagnostic techniques, genetic manipulation and therapeutic interventions to correct genetic anomalies, sex selection techniques, embryo experimentation and fetal tissue transplants; social and legal arrangements, such as surrogate childbearing, judicial interventions during gestation and birth, and ownership of ova, sperm, embryos and fetal tissue; the status and rights of people using or contributing to reproductive services such as access to procedures, rights to parenthood and informed consent; and the economic ramifications of these technologies, such as the commercial marketing of ova, sperm and embryos and the application of patent law and the funding of research and procedures including infertility treatment.

You are encouraged to discuss these issues from a social, ethical, health, research, legal and economic perspective.

Your views and experiences are important!
