Mine rescue competition

In May, Minnova Inc., Winston Lake Division competed against eight other mines in the Thunder Bay District Mine Rescue Competition in Marathon. Mine Rescue training involves rigorous training in the use of special equipment used in the event of an underground emergency. The competition provides an opportunity for team members to practice their special skills in the spirit of friendly competition. Many hours of training are required in preparation for this event in which each team writes an examination, is tested on their handling of equipment, and solves a problem set up in a mock mine on the arena floor. This competition helps ensure all teams will be ready in the event of a real emergency. Minnova plans to host the 1991 competition in Schreiber.
