

Vandalism occurrences growing in Terrace Bay

The News

Do the people in Terrace Bay have to start worrying about their safety?

In the past few months, there have been quite a few incidents of vandalism and petty thefts.

Much of the goings-on is quite inexcusable in the Terrace Bay Police's eyes. Cars have had the paint scratched, had articles stolen from them, and trucks have been stolen and damaged.

You don't expect things like this to happen in a small town but unfortunately they are happening...and lately quite regularly.

It's up to the town citizens to do something about it. If you see something you find unusual or suspicious report it to the police.

By not doing anything about it, you can only make yourself more susceptible to being the next victim. Face it, there aren't that many cars in this town so the possibility of your car being vandalized is greater.

Another problem encountered (not so much in small towns) is thieves selling stolen property.

"If you buy something hot you've probably made yourself the next victim," said Chief Kidder.

"A thief in dire need of money can turn you (a person who bought hot property) in to Crime Stoppers and then collect money from both ends. Or quite often a caught thief will notify the police where the stolen goods are to lessen his punishment."

It seems no one ever wants to do something until something happens to their own property.

"Every citizen has a job to inform and work with the police," said Kidder.

People are still reluctant to phone an organization like Crime Stoppers. What a lot of people don't realize is - you will remain completely anonymous if you wish.

Successful Fall Fair

This year's Fall Fair in Terrace Bay was extremely successful. Exhibitors came from Thunder Bay, Wawa, Red Rock, Marathon, Sault Ste. Marie, Schreiber and Terrace Bay.

We had over 70 exhibitors at the 9th Annual Fair, with a large variety of merchandise for sale and display. Record crowds attended the show.

Once again, the Multicultural Association presented a colourful and entertaining performance.

This has been one of our great community events and we look forward to seeing everyone next year at our 10th Anniversary Fall Fair.

Crime Stoppers is used after a crime has already been committed. The way it works is simple. If you phone in information about a crime, you are given a number. Your name and address is not needed unless you want to give it. The police will use the information and if it results in the solving of the crime there is a reward offered.

The reward can be picked up by giving your number at a police location of your choice. All you do is say "I'm number so-and-so" and you are given the money.

Very few citizens who give information to the police want the money but do it as a good turn.

People who accept the money should not feel guilty about it either.

"There is nothing morally wrong with collecting money," said Kidder.

It seems that although the 'no-parking- signs' have been erected on Highway 17 in Terrace Bay, transports are still continuing to park along the road.
