Christmas Seal campaign is 80 per cent below goal

Lung Association's Annual Christmas Seal Campaign represents the gift of life to the over five million Canadians who suffer from respiratory disease. Christmas seals were first used in Canada to help fight the spread of Tuberculosis. With this disease under control, the Lung Association is now dedicated to preventing diseases such as lung cancer, Asthma, Emphysema and other lung disease which affect so many Canadian children and adults.

"Our goal for the 1990 Campaign is $100,000.," said Alan Cranton, Christmas Seal

Chairperson. "But we are only 20% the way there. The Lung Association wants to remind our generous supporters to send in their contributions which will be used to support medical research and community programs to prevent the spread of lung diseases in Canada," added Cranton.

"We need the public's support to help us eliminate destructive lung diseases," said Cranton. "A little Christmas seal on a card or gift to someone you care about can go a long way to stamp out lung disease and make millions of Canadians breathe easier," concluded Cranton.
