you must have to have lots of patience and lots of sharpened pencils." Actually Jason you're close. "Pigheadedness" is more accurate than "patience" and I go through a lot more erasers than pencils.

Jason signed-off with: "Even though I haven't read or seen any of your articles or movies, I thank you." According to those who have, Jason, you have a lot to be thankful for.

Ryan kind of keyed-in on my career a little more keenly than I'd have preferred: "You should keep on writing because there might not be too many jobs open for a retired writer." Well Ryan the rumours of my retirement are somewhat premature, which is really wishful thinking on the part of a Toronto-based organization, People For Decency in Print Publishing.

David shared his lofty ideals with me: "When I grow older I am planning on becoming a pilot...I don't know if this is the best way to prepare myself, but I play Jet Games in which I control a plane just like a real one." Well Derek this is not only excellent training, you already share the fondest wish of every pilot we now have in the Canadian Armed Forces - to control a plane just like a real one. And I know for sure playing Jet Games is the only requirement needed to join the flight crew of Delta Airline.

And finally Marsha writes that she is an actress recently appearing in Mama's Gonna Buy You A Mockingbird and a regular on My Secret Identity. Gee Marsha what a coincidence. The producers of My Secret Identity contacted me and asked me to submit some story ideas, which I did with gusto. They came back with a note: "Look at the trash somebody sent us and signed your name." Marsha, I'm just so delighted that one of us made it. Yup, I really am.

My pen is tired and suffering from out-of-hand rejections.

Thank You

I would like to thank my family and friends for the flowers, fruit and prayers. A special thank you to Brenda and Tom for their many visits and fruit basket. To thank all my friends that prayed for me and sent cards, flowers and gifts while I was in the hospital. It really helped to brighten my days. I would also like to thank all the doctors and staff that gave me the excellent care to make a scary time a little easier to handle. I have now resumed most of my regular activities and am feeling stronger every day. The operation went well and the recovery period gave me a chance to relax. Your kindness and concern was greatly appreciated. God Bless you all. Thanks to everyone who cared,
