

Crafts for Kids Fingerprint drawings are fun and unique

by Carolyn Williams

Get an ink pad and place any finger or your thumb on it. Make sure your finger is covered with the ink. Then place it on white or colored paper pressing firmly. Draw legs, arms or faces on the print. Turn your fingerprint into a bird or person. Use several prints from different fingers and make an animal farm or use different coloured inks to make a peacock.

Children rewarded for wearing lifejackets

A children's water safety program initiated last summer in the Bruce Peninsula is being expanded across the province.

The OPP Marine Coordinator, S/Sgt. Larry Smith, says the success of Don't Be A Sucker - Wear a Life Jacket, started by Lion's Head Detachment patrolling parts of Georgian Bay and Lake Huron merits Ontario-wide promotion.

Smith says the OPP is working with several groups and companies this month to supply 20 thousand posters to schools and more than 20 thousand candy suckers are being delivered to OPP marine units, including Schreiber, for distribution between June 29 and September 2.

"Whenever an officer stops a boat this summer and sees a child on board wearing a lifejacket, that child will be given a candy sucker, mounted on a bookmark, said Smith.

The orange bookmark bears a safety message and the names of the partners in the safety campaign.

According to Smith the small gift is to encourage children, who may be boaters themselves one day, to consider the importance of wearing lifejackets.

Smith says he realizes people boat for fun and enjoyment and says the officers on marine duty will be able to use the suckers and bookmarks to make positive contacts with children as they check watercraft.

The OPP has assigned 150 officers to summertime patrol throughout the province in 110 boats.
