

Bélair letter

"At a time when our tourist industry is suffering, tourists will not want to visit Canada if they are harassed by government officials," Bélair said.

He went on to say that communities like Rosspport need support to build an infrastructure for their tourism industries.

But in a letter dated Nov. 13, Jelinek told Bélair he was unable to fund the Customs service because his ministry's "commitment to Employment and Immigration not to expand telephone reporting (which) would preclude its use to provide Customs clearance."

Jelinek also said that appointing an "acting customs and excise enforcement officer" was not an option either because they cannot adequately replace a telephone reporting system.

Jelinek did say that a new pilot program, called "Customs 2000", would allow persons crossing the border to carry a "Remote Area Border Crossing Permit" which would allow them to enter Canada without reporting to Customs.

"This project only applies to the international border from Pigeon River through to and including Lake of the Wood," Jelinek said.

"If it is successful, consideration may be given to expanding this service to include other areas."

Constitutional reform is about many things.

But mostly it's about you.

As Canadians, we are now facing one of the most important challenges in our history. Proposals have been put forward by the Government of Canada to improve our Constitution. These proposals, for a more united and prosperous Canada in which all Canadians can feel at home, are currently being reviewed by a special parliamentary committee. They will also be considered by a series of conferences run by independent Canadian organizations.

Some of the proposals include:

- ◆ a Canada clause that speaks of our hopes and dreams as Canadians, our values, our diversity, our tolerance and our generosity of spirit

- ◆ recognizing the right of aboriginal peoples to govern themselves while being protected by Canadian law

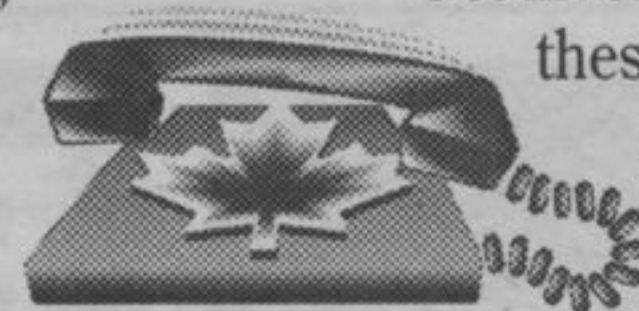

- ◆ ensuring recognition of Quebec's distinctiveness and of minority language groups

- ◆ reforming the Senate to make it elected, effective and much more equitable than it is now

- ◆ strengthening Canada's economic union so Canadians can work and conduct business anywhere in the country

- ◆ guaranteeing property rights.

A special heartfelt thanks to all the doctors and nurses of the McCausland Hospital. Also to Barb Lalonde and Nancy Wilson for their loving home care. A very special thanks to Sylvia Stasula for all her help and friendship to Agnes and being such a great help in our time of grief.

Thank You

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Terrace Bay for the beautiful years we spent there. It was hard to leave a place you have called home for all those years. We would like to also thank all our friends and neighbours who pitched in to help do the packing when we were both sick. For those who joined in prayers we are grateful. Thanks again and whenever you are in Thunder Bay please drop in.
