

Theme for Terrace Bay

really reflect Terrace Bay, Tourism Coordinator Susan Johnson said.

"It's a semi-refined look," Johnson told the Jan. 27 meeting of Council. "It's not rustic, but there's not a lot of brick either."

The theme includes perennial flowers, rocks and a water feature.

"It's really a combination of the rustic and cottage themes," she said.

"We looked at all three themes, and we said Terrace Bay just isn't here," said Committee member Mike Moore, who also attended the meeting.

As a result, the committee came up with their own, combining the best parts of the themes.

Schreiber Reeve wants to set up citizens committee

Schreiber Reeve Bob Krause wants a citizen's committee set up to examine possible changes to the township's Animal Control By-law.

"I would like to suggest that some of the people who were here could form a committee," Krause told a meeting of Schreiber Council Feb. 4.

During the Jan. 21 meeting of Council, residents who were angry about the increase in the price of dog tags attended the meeting to express their opposition.

"I admire everyone that came forward," Krause said. "It throws a lot of light on the problem."

He said that if a few of the people who attended the meeting formed a committee, they could make recommendations to Council on what changes should be made to the by-law. Such a committee would examine things such as dog licences and fine structures, Krause said.

In the last two weeks, nine charges have been laid for violations of the Animal Control by-law, and offenders will have to go to court to pay their fines. Previously, people could pay their fines directly to the municipality.

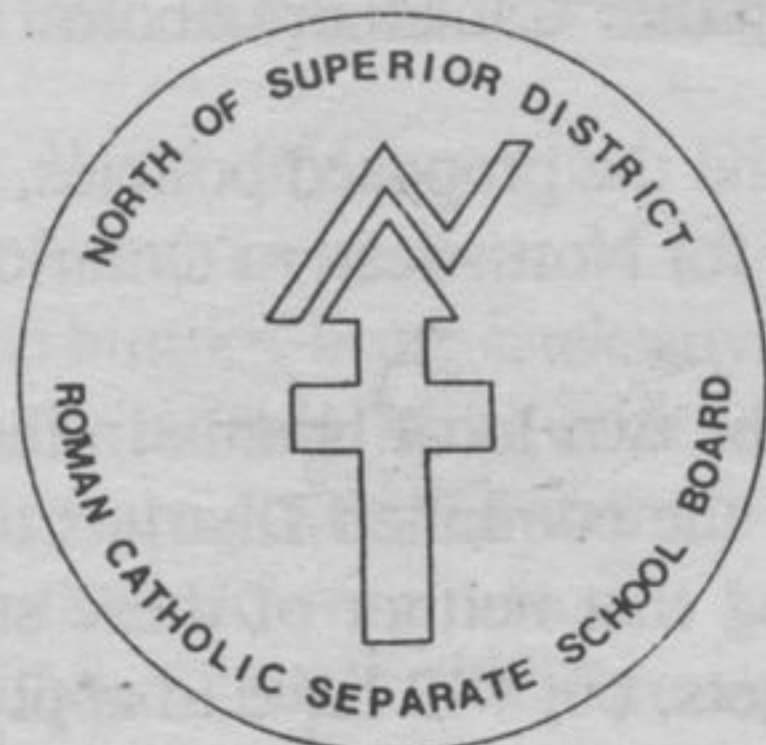

One hundred and seventy-eight dog tags were sold before the new prices went into effect Feb. 1, out of an estimated 250 dogs in Schreiber.

"There's a quite a few dogs running around out there without a licence," said Councillor Ron McBride.

Dog owners have until the end of this month to purchase their tags before they're in violation of the by-law.

"I admire everyone that came forward,"

Coming out of our shell

The time has come for us to wave our flag... blow our horn... come out of our shell. Time to summon the power of the Community Press and put it to work delivering your messages as only we can - directly into the communities you represent.

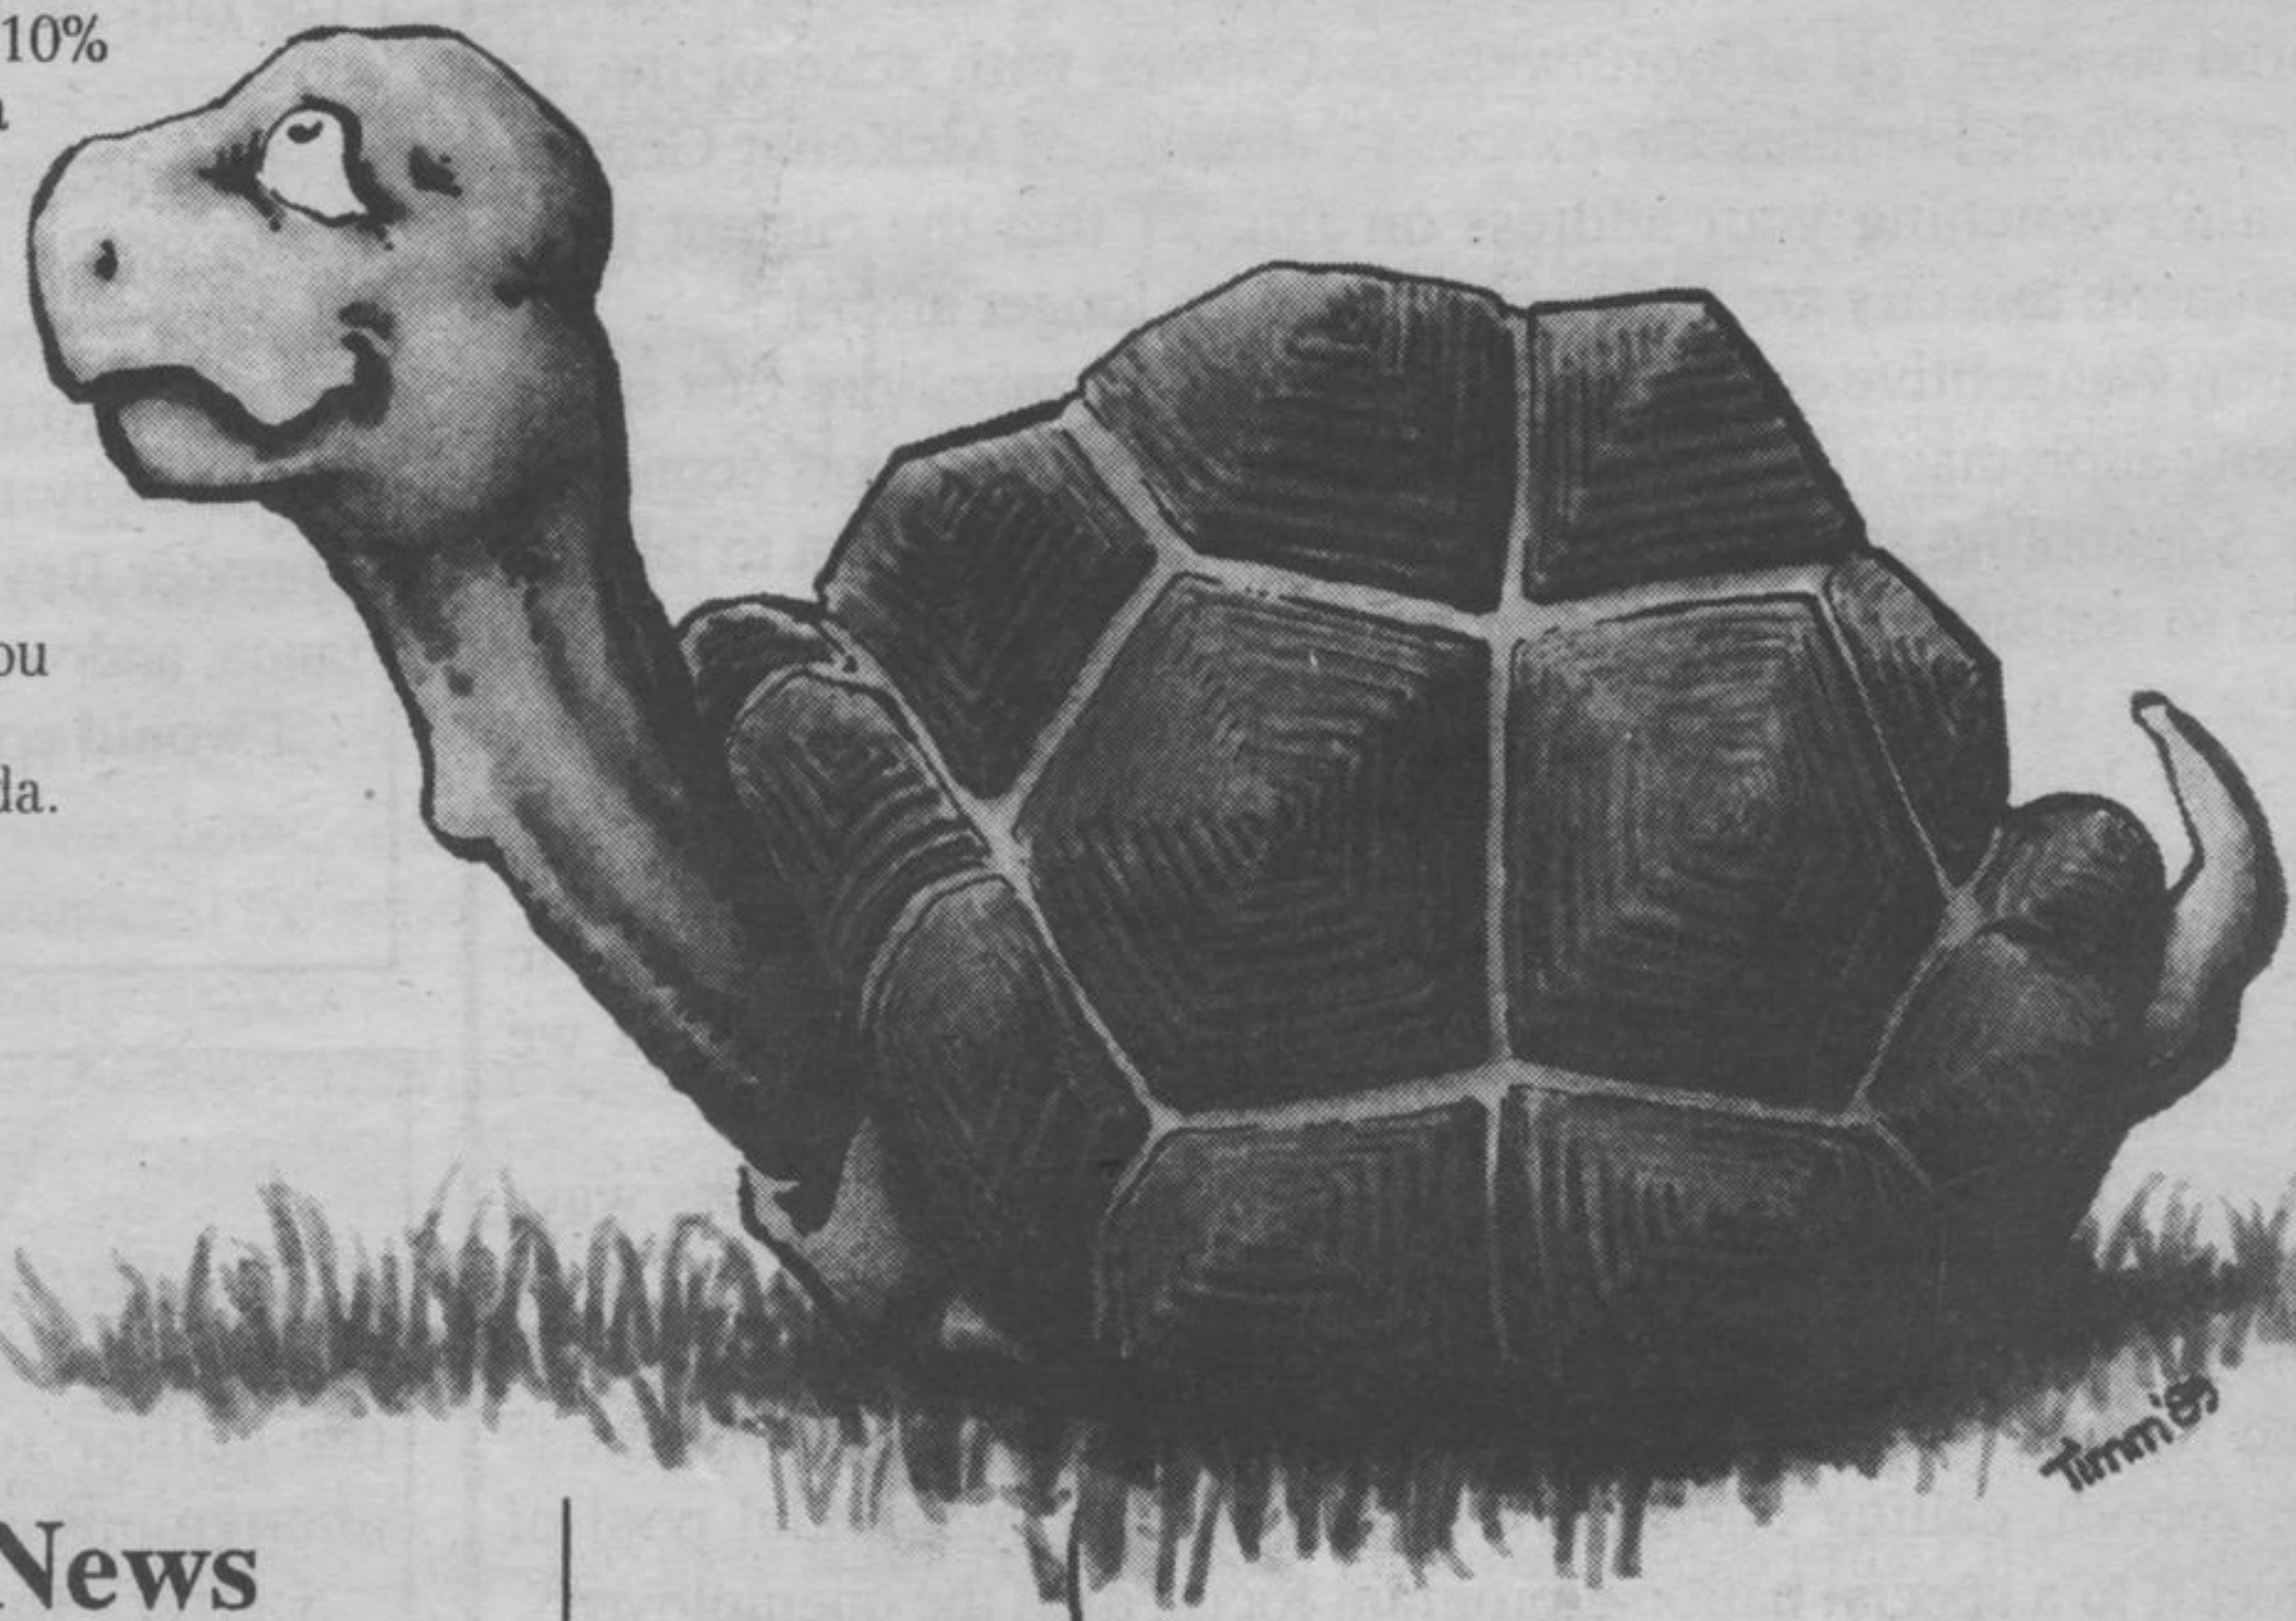

The latest P.M.B. results have found:

- 8,743,000 adults in English Canada read a community paper in the last 7 days.
- A "Readership to Possession Ratio" of 97% (95% in urban centres)
- Average issue is picked up 2.4 times.
- We can reach 39% of the adult population who are not exposed to the average daily (44% in urban markets)

In fact, one National Daily Newspaper buy plus one National Community Press

buy will provide a more cost-efficient reach with a 10% higher net coverage than a 4-insertion National Daily Newspaper Campaign.

That's a lot of clout and the reason we're coming out of our shell. Call your local advertising representative today and find out how we can put you in touch with your community, or all of Canada.
