Schreiber Reeve asked to resign

Resident accuses Bob Krause of breaching confidentiality guidelines

Schreiber Reeve Bob Krause (above) is accused of breaching confidentiality guidelines

by Darren MacDonald
The News

Schreiber Reeve Bob Krause has been asked to resign because of allegations he breached the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

The accusation was brought by Schreiber resident Nick Prebushewski, in a statement he made to Schreiber Council April 21.

Prebushewski accused Krause of making it "common knowledge" around Schreiber that Prebushewski's mother was going to be charged with welfare fraud.

"In the best interests of our community, I request that you resign," he said, at the end of his statement.

"I can tell you right now, I have no intentions of resigning," Krause responded.

He also refused to comment on Prebushewski's allegations, saying only "I'm not prepared to speak on it right now."

Sgt. Andy Templar of the Schreiber OPP confirmed that Mrs. Prebushewski was charged with fraud last week.

He also said information the OPP received from the township office led to the fraud investigation.

"It was through our ongoing interviews that the investigation became common knowl-

Spring must finally be on the way

A week that began with a wintry flashback, with freezing rain storms that closed schools and highways, ended on a much warmer note, with temperatures suitable to warmer pursuits such as soccer (above).

LSBE students get the highest scores in science tests

by Darren MacDonald
The News

What's the only star usually visible during the daytime? What's the best evidence we have that dinosaurs once existed? Why are light-coloured clothes cooler in the summer-time?

These are among the science questions put to grade eight students in 15 countries. On average, local students fared better than anyone else in the world.

Lake Superior Board of Education (LSBE) students did well in all seven science categories, beating out students in places like Korea, Spain and the United States.
