

Career Day held at Terrace Bay Public School

The News
Students at Schreiber and Terrace Bay Public Schools had a Career Day last Wednesday, part of the schools' Education Week activities.

Grade 7 and 8 classes attended presentations from a number of local employers, who described a typical day at work for each job.

The presentations took place at the school in Terrace Bay.

Students saw presentations by representatives from Kimberly Clark, Minnova, the armed forces, the police, pharmacy, recreation, nursing, law, printing, insurance, mental health, Ministry of Natural Resources and Confederation College.

Career Day was organized by teachers Becky Elgie and Derek Watt. Watt says that Career Day gave students a chance to learn what their options are, and what kind of education they would need for a particular career.

"The students have many choices to make," says Watt. "On the whole, I'm pleased with the attitude they showed toward the presenters."

The grade 8 students also had an orientation day at Lake Superior High School.

Terry O'Neill (top) talked about the insurance business; Sheila Kostecki (above left) talked about pharmacy; and Const. Dave Smeltzer talked on law enforcement.
