Local artist paints wall mural

Marvin Fulton, above, is pictured with the wall mural he painted last summer in the meeting room of the North of Superior Programs Office in Terrace Bay.

Artists Gary Bouchard

from Pays Plat, Dan Campbell from Rossport and J.M. Kenney from Terrace Bay were involved with Fulton in planning what the mural would look like, but Fulton did the actual painting.

The painting was drawn on a piece of paper before it went up on the wall. It describes a scene in a park, emphasizing healthy activities such as running and walking.

Long says there have been delays in getting replies from the office in Thunder Bay concerning New Venture loans, but says the delay may be attributed to the "transition" process.

"The CIBC manager came up from Thunder Bay and spent a fair bit of time trying to reassure me that all of this stuff will be cleared up, and that they're doing the best job they can from Thunder Bay," she says. "I really have to give him a lot of credit for making the effort because I know he's backlogged in Thunder Bay."

But even if the problems in getting New Venture loan replies are solved, Long says she still preferred the way things were done before.

"Gone are the days when you could phone up (local CIBC bank manager) Bryon (Cassie) and say 'Look Bryon, I'm having a little bit of difficulty, could you not bounce any cheques for a couple of days, and I'll be in later to straighten everything out,'" says Long.

"You can't do that any-more because the flexibility
