and set the stage for a three-run homer which tied the game at 10. A missed throw to first brought in the go-ahead run, giving Stompers the lead for the first time in the game.

The lead wouldn't last long however. Crimestoppers scored five times in the sixth inning to take back the lead, and went on to win 17-11 in the seventh inning, forcing the final game.

In the second and deciding game, Crimestoppers proved to be just too tough, taking the game and the championship with a lopsided score of 31-9.
