Bill Seagris, right, accepts the Bill Hanley Memorial Trophy from Marlene Hanley, Bill's widow.

The News
 History failed to repeat itself as Bill Seagris won the Bill Hanley Memorial Aguasabon Men's Open last Sunday evening in an exciting, five-hole playoff.
 Seagris lost a play-off in the same tourney last year.
 The Open celebrated its 25th anniversary with what Open Chairman Terry O'Neill described as one of the strongest fields ever.
 After the final round ended Sunday evening, four golfers were tied for top spot, each finishing with a two-day total of 147.

 Jordan Young and Trevor Jones, both from Thunder Bay, were eliminated by one stroke after the first playoff hole.
 Richard MacKay of Marathon was on the green after his second shot, but narrowly missed a putt that would have given him the title.
 Seagris, meanwhile, made a nice chip shot out of the rough on his second shot, landing the ball a couple of feet from the cup. Both men finished the hole with a four.
 Seagris also missed an opportunity to win the title, missing a putt from close in on the third hole when he was up a stroke on MacKay.

 About 100 onlookers followed the golfers throughout the playoff, which ended on the fifth playoff hole. MacKay's first shot landed in the trees and he was unable to recover, giving Seagris the win.
 "Losing the playoff last year was on my mind, especially on the third hole," he told the crowd as he accepted the Bill Hanley Memorial Trophy. Marlene Hanley, Bill's widow, presented Seagris with the trophy.

"It's a great pleasure to play in Terrace Bay, especially since I respect Kenny so much," said Seagris, in a reference to Terrace Bay golfer Ken Hanley, who has won the open eight times.
 In addition to the trophy, Seagris also won a trip for two to Orlando, Florida.
 Low net winner was Bill Solly of Terrace bay, who won a trip for two to Las Vegas.
 Open organizers say they were pleased with the Open this year, and say that the feedback from the 135 golfers who took part has been positive.

Water route to be studied

Terrace Bay, Longlac and Geraldton have received a $30,00 grant from the Ministry of Northern Development and Mines to study development of the water route linking the communities.
 The study will look at development on the Long Lake, Kenogami and Aguasabon Rivers, which flow into Lake Superior.
 "These communities are actively developing their waterfronts," says MNDM Minister Shelley Martel. "It's good to see this initiative lead to an undertaking to develop a new tourist attraction."
 The study team will arrange public meetings to discuss the waterway concept. Consultants will also
