

Winter survival at Mountsberg

You now have a chance to learn something about how to survive in the wilderness thanks to the Mountsberg Wildlife Centre's special events calendar.

Richard Elop, of the Scout House in Hamilton, will explain surviving the scout way Sunday (Jan. 13) at Mountsberg.

Shelter building, edible plants, snaring animals and more will be covered in this informative session.

The lesson on winter survival will be followed next Sunday on cross-country skiing.

Mountsberg will present the best tips on skiing equipment, waxing, clothing, techniques, and more. The information will be provided by the ski staff of Collegiate Sportsworld. These experts can discuss the facets of cross-country with beginners and experts alike.

Once you have learned how easy it is to go skiing, you are invited to try the different levels of trails at Mountsberg which are set up for beginners, moderate skiers, and experts.

Lastly, one of the most popular events held at Mountsberg, the Owl Prowl, is scheduled for Friday, Jan. 25, from 6-9 p.m.

This is the time of year when the Great Horned Owls are looking for mates and their haunting calls are often to be heard on cold winter nights.

Visitors will meet the centre's own Great Horned Owl and then will be given hooting lessons before going on a hike to try to find some of the owls.
