

Voters want accountability

In fairness to Kevin Flynn, he has thrown down the gauntlet against the McGuinty government at the expense of considerable political capital.

Being a back bencher at Queen's Park provides limited clout or notoriety especially when you publicly disagree with the party line.

Despite that Kevin has been aggressively challenging the issue using every arrow in his quiver.

Lest we forget that our Prime Minister received worldwide criticism at the past Copenhagen Conference on Climate Change.

This is the party whose political base is in Alberta where the oil sands are the country's largest carbon emitter.

National Geographic has documented the lasting and wide spread destruction of the environment from the oil sands.

If this is the position of the Conservative Party then it would be hypocritical for either Harper or Young to take a stand against gas power generation.

This is the party of Big Oil and as we have seen with the Gulf Oil disaster.

No matter what your political affiliation may be, we all have to collectively make sure that our elected politicians take full accountability for decisions that are made affecting their jurisdiction.

The residents of Oakville cannot be forsaken by politicians who have abdicated their responsibility to the voters.

The mayor and councilors of this town have relentlessly fought this battle.

The buck stops with our federal government to provide the leadership in creating a cleaner environment.

Can we ask Terence Young as to where the Prime Minister stands when it comes to the health and safety of people of Oakville?
