

Sure Death to Insects

Fresh Ground Hellebore,
Pure English Paris Green,
Finest Quality Insect Powder,
Blue Vitrol or Copper Sulphate.

CHURCH'S INSECT POWDER

kills all leaf eating insects.
10 CENTS PER TIN.

These goods are absolutely pure and of the finest quality.

J. E. WILLIS,

CHEMIST & DRUGGIST,
MEDICAL HALL,
Brock Street, Whitby

The Chronicle.

WHITBY, MAY 22, 1896.

Short Notes.

Our copy of the Provincial falls passed last session has not come to hand yet, but our attention has for the second time been called to an error we made in commenting upon an act to enforce salaries for police magistrates. The measure, which was introduced by Sir Oliver Mowat before its final stages were reached. Many of our cotemporaries fell into the same mistake as we did, and we would have corrected the mistake sooner only that it was overlooked in the hurry and fussing over local matters.

Some people may not feel that a potato patch is a paying thing because last year's crop had to be fed to stock or sold at a York shilling. This may result in a smaller acreage this year, and we shall in all likelihood have a lighter crop, for it is seldom we have anything to compare with last year's great yield. The money is made out of potatoes usually when they are small, and few in a hill. We should not wonder greatly if there came a sort of potato famine this year, after such a plentiful time in 1895. Potatoes do not keep in stock like wheat. Twelve months is their limit. There is plenty of seed this spring, and plenty of land that farmers scarcely know what to do with, and though we do not set up as a prophet, we predict a good return for those who plant potatoes this year and cultivate the ground well.

Mr. J. D. Edgar, the poet, has a hard time of it finding a candidate to oppose him in West Ontario. The Tories have convened twice, but have as yet failed to bring forth. In the first place Lieut.-Col. N. F. Pfister was selected, but as his nomination did not suit the president of the party he was called to resign, and the committee called another meeting. From that time the matter turned into a horse race, and Mr. R. Graham, Clarendon, was named. He spent three months canvassing among the Grits, and just about the time he concluded that the Edgar would have no supporters in the riding, when one fine morning he woke up to find that while he had the candidature somebody else had the patronage, and that his nomination had been dropped all but ignored. He thereupon dropped all his brilliant prospects of being the sitting member for the Grit hive of West Ontario, and threw up his nomination for good. Now one McCormack has the job.

So far the election campaign throughout the country, though active, is not hot. Sir Charles Tupper has been east and west, and has explained the policy of his government, and Messrs Laurier and McCarty, though not so active, are quite as busy flying round and organizing their forces. Still the people are keeping cool, and it is a wonder, too, for a campaign in this riding is always a hot one. The most important event of the week is the mandement of the bishops of Quebec, which was read in the churches last Sunday, and is to be read again on the Sunday before election. This document directs all Catholics to support the claims of the minority of Manitoba for an adjustment of their grievances, and appeals to protestants to be fair and do the same. Archbishop Walsh of Toronto declined to join in the mandement, fearing that Catholics in Ontario might be crowded out by protestant influence in many cases if they took such a strong position in this matter.

Town Locals.

Mrs R. K. Orr leaves this week to visit friends in Berlin and Guelph. Every man should read the advertisement of The Statesman on another page of this paper. Walter Robson has returned home. He says that situations are scarce in the Queen city.

Mr. E. Stephenson is having his residence greatly improved by treating it to a coat of paint.

6 piece solid walnut parlor suite, plush, with silk plush bands, for $32, worth $45, at W. Till's.

The services in the tabernacle next Sunday will consist of a children's service in the morning and a special musical service in the evening.

The furnaces advertised to be sold at the market block, Whitby, on Saturday 23rd May, can be seen at the Ontario Ladies' College.

If you want to enjoy the comforts of home buy a lot package of genuine TONKA smoking mixture. Sold by M. C. Lawler and J. E. Willis.

Don't forget the sale of bedroom sets, spring mattresses, school desks and seats, registers, book cases, etc., which will positively be sold at the market block, Whitby, Saturday (to-morrow) 23rd May.

The solid foundation of any town is the abiding faith of its people in that town's future, and their earnest determination to give their patronage to its commercial and manufacturing enterprises. Two classes of people trade outside their own town. One does so from different motives. One class sends away for goods because they think it is the proper more-greater variety, like styles, and that sort of thing you know. A dress purchased and made up in Toronto, these deluded people imagine, must be better than one procured in Whitby. The other class is attracted by the cry of cheapness to the distant pastures that look green. Sometimes they get a bargain; more frequently they find their cost that low prices and good values do not go hand in hand. The people who turn their backs on our own well-stocked and up-to-date stores to gratify an empty, increasing pride, or have a few cents, are not patriotic citizens. They all of them make their living in Whitby and are materially interested in her prosperity. For selfish reasons—did they look beneath the surface—they should be constrained to their assistance in the upbuilding of the commercial prosperity of their own town. Stand by your town as against all others; defend its good name; speak well of it wherever you are; and spend your money right among your fellow citizens.

To Day!
Ice cream, cakes, boiled ham, at Yates'.
The best Anthracite coal.
Nuts, stove, egg, $4.75; No. 2 nut, $4; at yard, J. H. Downey & Co., opposite post office.

Bargains.
100 pairs of ladies' and children's shoes and slippers at 50c per pair. See the barrels outside the West Side Boot and Shoe Store.
Sale of fancy articles.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's church will hold at Mr. Campbell's store a sale of useful and fancy articles on Friday, May 23rd. Admission free. Ice cream, lemonade, tea served at 6 o'clock. 15c.

S. O. E. D. O. E. S.
The town Sons and Daughters of England will march to All Saint's church on Sunday next, May 24th, Queen's birthday, where Rev. J. H. Broughall will preach a sermon to them and their friends, the public being cordially invited.

The Wabash Railroad.
It is now an acknowledged fact that the Wabash route is the shortest, best and quickest route from Canada to Chicago, St. Louis, Hot Springs, Texas, Mexico, California, and all southwestern points. It's train equipment is superlatively the finest in America. Full particulars from any R. R. agent or J. A. Richardson, Canadian passenger agent, north-east corner King and Yonge streets, Toronto.

Ladies Home Journal.
Bret Harte's new story and Jerome K. Jerome's latest piece of fiction have both been secured by The Ladies' Home Journal for immediate publication. Jerome's story is called "Reginald Blake, Financier and Cad," and sketches an incident in fashionable London society. Bret Harte calls his story "The Indiscretion of Elsbeth," and pictures the romance of a young American who falls in love with a German princess, masquerading as a dairy maid.

Oshawa demonstration, May 19th.
The Oddfellows of Oshawa and Toronto will hold a grand demonstration in the beautiful grounds of Prospect Park, Oshawa, Monday May 25th. The day's sport will comprise bicycle races, baseball matches, lacrosse match, foot races and other athletic sports. In the evening there will be a vocal and instrumental concert in the pavilion at the park and fire works at the close. Every body should go. The 14th Band will furnish music both at games and concert.

Methodist District meeting.
The annual May district meeting of the Methodist church on the Whitby district was held in Port Perry on Tuesday and Wednesday the 19th and 20th inst. The ministerial session began at ten o'clock on Tuesday, when all the ministers on the district were present, including the Rev. Mr. Phillips, whose snowy locks and saintly face remind one of the Puritan fathers. Time dealt gently with Father Phillips, and his ministerial life and character, and of the general state of the work on the district was satisfactory. On Wednesday the laymen were present in proportion of one layman to each minister in active work. The chief business under discussion was the question of the arrangement of the circuits on the district. After much consideration of the report of the committee appointed at the fall meeting to draft a scheme was rejected in part and in part accepted. The committee recommended that Audley and Greenwood be joined to Pickering, Kinsale joined to Brooklin, and the remainder of the Greenwood circuit joined to Clarendon to form a circuit for a married and a single man. To this proposition Clarendon strongly objected on the ground that it preferred being left as it is, and Greenwood objected to the same ground, and also because it would remove the parsonage from Greenwood. Though there was a majority for this scheme yet seeing the opposition to it some would not agree, and a two-thirds majority was required to make the change legal. It was then proposed that in order to strengthen Pickering, the Pickering and Greenwood circuits be joined together and two married men be stationed upon them, and this proposition was carried by a large majority. After so many stands. Then the question of strengthening the Prince Albert and Myrtle circuits was taken up, and after long discussion it was resolved to join Raglan to the Columbus circuit, and Myrtle to the Prince Albert circuit, thus doing away with the Myrtle circuit. It was proposed to send a young man and a married man to Prince Albert and Myrtle circuits, but this was deemed impracticable. The resolution was carried by a large majority, one voting against it, to join Raglan to Columbus, and Myrtle to Prince Albert. The Rev. Mr. Harris was elected to the stationing committee. The Rev. Mr. Leggett and H. W. Wilcox to the Sun day school committee, the Rev. Mr. McCamus and J. S. Barnard to the Epworth League committee and J. L. Smith, as usual, to the Missionary committee. The following laymen were elected as delegates to the annual conference which meets in Trenton on Thursday, June 4th: Whitby, J. S. Barnard, H. W. Wilcox; Pickering, B. Bunting; Clarendon, A. H. Henson; A. Ross and J. H. Brown, Port Perry.

Division Courts.
Uxbridge Court.
Jones vs Bryant.—Adjudged. Lowell vs Swanwick. Undeclared judgment for plaintiff for $61. Campbell vs Graham.—Adjudged by consent for costs. Watt vs Lamb.—Judgment for plaintiff, for $13. Dismissed as to Doble, garnishee. Chapple for plaintiff. Judgment for garnishee, Kelly vs Lamb.—Judgment for plaintiff for $21.25. Dismissed as to garnishee. Burnham vs Harwood.—Action for balance of rent, $40. The defendant claimed that the rent was reduced from $300 to $260. N. P. Paterson for plaintiff; Chapple for defendant. The date of the judgment that this reduction was agreed upon. Judgment for the defendant. Campbell vs Faulkner.—Action on a note given for a cultivator. Defendant denied making the note and alleged it to be a forgery. Nonsuit. Chapple for plaintiff; Deft. in person. There were six judgment summonses.

Port Perry Court.
Division court was held here on the 19th inst., when these cases were tried before Judge Dartmouth, C. J. Bryant.—An action to recover balance on a promissory note. Judgment for plaintiff, $20. Yarnold for plaintiff. West vs Willard.—Action to recover $60 for a quantity of onions sold defendant. Willard in October, 1895. The defendant claimed that he had shipped the onions with his own for West, and had not purchased them, defendant afterwards gave West an order on a commission merchant in Toronto for $50, to be paid out of proceeds of onions shipped by Willard to the commission merchant. $18.68 was paid on account of the order. Judgment reserved. Yarnold for plaintiff; Ebbs for defendant.

Case against Cooney.
Fleury vs Bryant. Undeclared judgment for plaintiff for $26.25. Campbell vs English. Action for price of a fanning mill. Adjudged by plaintiff. Costs of the day to defendant in person. Patterson for plaintiff; Chapple for defendant. Keeler vs McFadyen. Suit and garnishee. Adjudged for service upon defendant. Smith vs Taylor. Adjudged by plaintiff. $100. Cooney vs Bryant. On a note. Undeclared judgment for $27.34. The defendant Blackwell. Action for price of a set of harness at $20. The defendant claimed that he only ordered a pair of collars, for which he paid $5. Mr. Chapple for plaintiff; Francis vs Francis. Action of damages for obstructing a drain awarded to be made from the plaintiff's premises through the defendant's. The obstruction was shown to be caused by the natural use of the land by the cattle tramping thereon. Nonsuit. Mr. Chapple and Mr. Noble for plaintiff; Mr. Patterson for defendant. Doble vs Horner. Account and set off. Mr. Patterson for plaintiff, Mr. Chapple for defendant. Judgment for the defendant with costs. Action vs Action. Action garnishee for services upon the defendant in Dakota. Mr. Noble for plaintiff, Mr. Chapple for garnishee. There were two judgment summonses.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

Biggest Fish Story yet.
Many people who have read all the fish yarns from Jonah's whale story down to the present, have wondered if the imagination of man could produce anything to equal what has already been told by disciples of the rod and line. As the bible and Shakespeare are said to cover the whole ground of originality in literature, so it has been supposed that Jonah and Isaac Walton and Rev. J. H. Broughall have exhausted all possibilities in the matter of piscatorial exaggeration. We use these historical facts and philosophical considerations to preface the story of a little fish which was taken on Thursday last week. Messrs. W. S. Gold, G. V. Martin, Judge Dartnell, Theo. A. McGillivray and Fred Hatch set out the day previous for Kendall, north of New-Castle, in a boat fully equipped with a private pond owned by a gentleman there who takes in sports at so much per head. Our townsmen had to call at every house on the road, of course, to enquire the way, and the delays caused by such little incidents caused them to arrive at their destination a trifle after midnight. Knowing they were on a fishing trip and liable to require considerable elbow room for their imaginations, as called "The Fish Story," they called a meeting hall for the four younger sports, so that they would have space enough to picture out immense fish yarns to one another after they retired and before sleep overtook them. Knowing that the others would not be so taken in by the judge in fish narrative, a honor was sent to solitary confinement in a room by himself. The others fell at it to illuminate each other's minds with incidents in which enormous fish had been landed or else larger ones had escaped, until Messrs. McGillivray and Martin were exhausted by mental efforts and had dropped away into the arms of Morpheus. Hatch and Gold maintained the contest with spirit for some time longer, when their attention was suddenly called to Mr. Martin who was apparently struggling with a monster in his sleep. Soon McGillivray was awakened by Martin kicking him repeatedly, and the three lay there laughing and commenting upon the hard and determined effort their sleeping comrade was making to conquer. At last the latter sprang up with a final effort, and from a sitting posture opened his eyes to take in the situation. After finding out for sure where he was, he was quizzed as to his nightmare, and gave out as follows: He dreamed that he was whipping a silvery stream along a beautiful ravine. The running mill was of silver and the natives had led him to expect that any fish he caught would be of gold. He soon attached a minster trout. The fish strained to get away up and down the stream, while Mr. Martin's pole in the water bent like a tortoise, and excitement began to boom. As the struggle increased the stream grew swiftly wider until it became a vast expanse, while the land on which Mr. M. stood decreased in dimensions until it finally sank beneath the surface, and he found himself and his prey pulling at the ends of a line which had now grown to be a three or four inch cable. The golden fish turned out to have ten heads, and he equipped with a prodigious mouth, into one of which apertures the excited dreamer was hauled as it swallowed the line. Immediately another mouth opened and Mr. Martin escaped, only to be swallowed in a third and soon the line he was going round and round in a circle of mouths—in one and out of the other. It was intensely exciting sport, but so dangerous that his nerves were fast giving out. Presently he became dizzy, and could not perform the mouth-to-mouth act dexterously, and at last fell himself slipping down its great cavernous throat. He grasped and shouted and struggled, but to no good, and was finally going into a stupor, when he perceived the monster whose he awoke in indescribable terror. The sequel to a night of excitement was a haul of nearly two hundred trout next day.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

many people who have read all the fish yarns from Jonah's whale story down to the present, have wondered if the imagination of man could produce anything to equal what has already been told by disciples of the rod and line. As the bible and Shakespeare are said to cover the whole ground of originality in literature, so it has been supposed that Jonah and Isaac Walton and Rev. J. H. Broughall have exhausted all possibilities in the matter of piscatorial exaggeration. We use these historical facts and philosophical considerations to preface the story of a little fish which was taken on Thursday last week. Messrs. W. S. Gold, G. V. Martin, Judge Dartnell, Theo. A. McGillivray and Fred Hatch set out the day previous for Kendall, north of New-Castle, in a boat fully equipped with a private pond owned by a gentleman there who takes in sports at so much per head. Our townsmen had to call at every house on the road, of course, to enquire the way, and the delays caused by such little incidents caused them to arrive at their destination a trifle after midnight. Knowing they were on a fishing trip and liable to require considerable elbow room for their imaginations, as called "The Fish Story," they called a meeting hall for the four younger sports, so that they would have space enough to picture out immense fish yarns to one another after they retired and before sleep overtook them. Knowing that the others would not be so taken in by the judge in fish narrative, a honor was sent to solitary confinement in a room by himself. The others fell at it to illuminate each other's minds with incidents in which enormous fish had been landed or else larger ones had escaped, until Messrs. McGillivray and Martin were exhausted by mental efforts and had dropped away into the arms of Morpheus. Hatch and Gold maintained the contest with spirit for some time longer, when their attention was suddenly called to Mr. Martin who was apparently struggling with a monster in his sleep. Soon McGillivray was awakened by Martin kicking him repeatedly, and the three lay there laughing and commenting upon the hard and determined effort their sleeping comrade was making to conquer. At last the latter sprang up with a final effort, and from a sitting posture opened his eyes to take in the situation. After finding out for sure where he was, he was quizzed as to his nightmare, and gave out as follows: He dreamed that he was whipping a silvery stream along a beautiful ravine. The running mill was of silver and the natives had led him to expect that any fish he caught would be of gold. He soon attached a minster trout. The fish strained to get away up and down the stream, while Mr. Martin's pole in the water bent like a tortoise, and excitement began to boom. As the struggle increased the stream grew swiftly wider until it became a vast expanse, while the land on which Mr. M. stood decreased in dimensions until it finally sank beneath the surface, and he found himself and his prey pulling at the ends of a line which had now grown to be a three or four inch cable. The golden fish turned out to have ten heads, and he equipped with a prodigious mouth, into one of which apertures the excited dreamer was hauled as it swallowed the line. Immediately another mouth opened and Mr. Martin escaped, only to be swallowed in a third and soon the line he was going round and round in a circle of mouths—in one and out of the other. It was intensely exciting sport, but so dangerous that his nerves were fast giving out. Presently he became dizzy, and could not perform the mouth-to-mouth act dexterously, and at last fell himself slipping down its great cavernous throat. He grasped and shouted and struggled, but to no good, and was finally going into a stupor, when he perceived the monster whose he awoke in indescribable terror. The sequel to a night of excitement was a haul of nearly two hundred trout next day.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

much counsel and advice that if followed would aid them in their organization. He predicted a victory not only for Mr. Burnett but for the reform party throughout the Dominion. He contrasted the public acts of Messrs. Laurier and Mowat, the Reform leaders in this campaign, with the acts of the Liberal Government, and called upon the Young Liberals to take pride in their leaders. He was opposed to oppression in any shape or form and stood ready to redress grievances wherever they were found. He said that could be done so without injustice to others. The Reform party was opposed to coercion whether it was of Manitoba or of the members of the House of Commons, and consequently that party could not support the Remedial Bill, which was a direct coercion of Manitoba. Apart from the merits of the case he was opposed to the method of applying the remedial bill, which was called P. and closed a splendid address by giving the club further counsel. Mr. Dryden was often applauded during the delivery of his address and loudly cheered when he sat down. Mr. Bewell and others made short speeches, after which an meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Reform leaders and Candidate Burnett.

GOOD VALUE, GOOD VALUE

Is Clearly Demonstrated by the Crowds that Daily throng our Store.

This Week We Are Offering Great Values in:

STRAW HATS—Boys' at 15c., 20c., 25c., 30c. Men's at 25c., 35c., 45c., 50c., 60c., 75c.
Special drive in Ladies' Shirt Waists. Beautiful patterns to select from. All new Goods.

LADIES,

we are showing an excellent range of PRINTS at 10c., 11c., 12c. per yd. Also some nice goods in Cotton, Crepons, Stripe Zephyrs, Chambrays. All new goods to select from.

A Bargain in VICTORIA LAUNES at 10c., 12c., 15c., 20c.

Just received a new line of Summer Corsets. Call and inspect them. (All sizes.)

Try our new Dress Lining. The ELDERADO takes the place of Fibre Chammois and comes much cheaper and wears just as long. Also our LINNETTE lining that rustles like silk.

The quantity of CARPET that we are sending out daily clearly shows that our assortment is the best and cheapest in town. Tapestry at 23c., 35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., 85c. (with bordering to match.) Union at 30c., 35c., 40c., 50c. All Wool at 70c., 75c., 85c.

Tailoring is booming with us. First-class Cutter in charge.

P. S.—TRY OUR NEW CARPET PAPER.

ANDREW M. ROSS,

Dry Goods, Carpets, Ready-made Clothing.

GO TO

Cormack's

—FOR THE BEST VALUES IN TOWN IN—

Wall Papers, Baby Carriages, Wagons, Croquet, & Fine Stationery.

A limited quantity of the latter only, left at HALF PRICE. A rare chance. Secure some before it all goes.

Agency for School Desks, Butterick Patterns, and British American Dyeing Co.

DEVERILL'S BLOCK, - WHITBY.

HOUSE TO LET

Good frame house; stone foundation; first-class class, (two compartments); shutters and double windows; garden; hard and soft water, Centre ward, Whitby. Rent low to right person. Apply to T. G. WHITFIELD.
May 14th, 1896—41.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

Pursuant to R. S. O., Cap. 110, notice is hereby given to all creditors having claims against the estate of THOS. HUSTON, late of the town of Whitby, gentleman, deceased, who died on or about the 19th day of April, 1896, to send in to D. Ormiston, Whitby, solicitor for Nancy Huston, the administratrix on or before the FIRST day of JULY, A. D. 1896, their names, addresses, with particulars of their claims, and of the securities, if any, held by them. And notice is further given that after said day of JULY, 1896, the administratrix will proceed to distribute the assets of the deceased among the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which notice shall have been duly given.
Dated at Whitby the 12th day of May, A. D., 1896.
D. ORMISTON,
Solicitor for Administratrix.

Valuable farm for sale by tender

The undersigned will receive tenders for that valuable farm owned by Geo. E. Alger, situate in the township of Pickering, about two miles from Brougham, containing about 110 acres.
This farm is without doubt one of the best properties in Ontario, and is known as the model farm of Pickering. The buildings consist of a large two-story house, large bank barns sheathed with iron, stables finished in hardwood, and brick hog pens with accommodation for about 100 hogs. There is a good wind mill upon the property which supplies water to the buildings and dairy. All the buildings are fitted with the latest contrivances for preparing and distributing fodder.
Tenders will be received until the 26th DAY OF MAY 1896. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. For further particulars apply to MACDONALD & FITCH,
Solicitors for the Vendor,
Stouffville, Ont.

House and Lot for Sale.

Frame house and 1/2 acre of land. Well stocked with choice fruit trees and small fruit; hard and soft water. Situated on south-west corner Chestnut and Perry street. For further particulars apply to DOW & MCGILLIVRAY,
Solicitors,
Whitby, Mar. 9th, 1896.—3 mos.

Fat Poultry.

All kinds of Fat Poultry and Laying Hens wanted, for which cash will be paid. Either send me a postal card and I will come out, or bring the poultry to my place on Thursday afternoons.
RICHARD BLIGHT,
March 4, 1896.—3 mos. Myrtle.

WANTED—YOUNG OR MIDDLE AGED MEN of character

Hundreds foremost in Canada, started with $100. About $14 a week to begin with. THE GRADLEY-GARRETTSON CO., LTD., Toronto, Ont.

For Service.

The pure bred Durham bull "Harpoon." At lot 26, 1/2 mile north of town on gravel road. Terms $1 at time of service.
JOHN S. THOMPSON,
Whitby, April 16th, '96. Proprietor.

AUCTION SALE

of Bedroom Sets, Furnaces, School Desks and Seats, etc. There will be sold by public auction at the market block, town of Whitby, on SATURDAY, MAY 23rd, 1896, the following: 21 school desks and seats; 17 bedroom sets, principally in oak; 6 registers, complete; 1 Pease furnace, nearly new, suitable for large house or church; 4 Boynton furnaces; 5 dry earth closets; 3 hanging lamps; 3 book cases; 1 secretary, etc. The Ontario Ladies' College, having been equipped with steam heating, iron bedsteads, etc., all the above will be sold without reserve. The furniture is in good order and nearly new. Terms cash. Sale at 10 o'clock, a.m., at the market block, Whitby, L. FAIRBANKS, auctioneer, Whitby May 14th, 1896.

Notice of License Transfer.

Notice is hereby given that I shall, at the next meeting of the Board of License Commissioners for South Ontario, apply for a transfer to me of the Tavern License now held by James Broad, of the Ocean House, Seagrave.
ROBT. BROWN,
Seagrave, May 12, 1896.

BARNARD BARGAIN

Last week we told our new Silver W. Links and Buttons who saw them in the style and price were equally delighted. Priced at the value.

SILVER MOUNTED

Fine Silk Ribbon
Silver Buckles
Silver Woven Belts
Silver Buckles
Silver Plated Kid
and Silver Silk Ribbons
Black Mounts

50 cts. Leather Belt
Bright Buttons

LOCAL LACONIA

Hardwood dining tables, at W. Till's.
Allin's for pure hellebore, insect powder.
Chas. Wilcox, son of Mr. P. has returned from New York. Young men or old should Thos. Slater's advertisement.
Mr. Wm. Black, the general of the Gordon house, Pickering on