A Home and Home game.

The Toronto cricket eleven failed to show up here on Monday, so Messrs. G. A. Ross and J. T. Mathison hunted up scrub eleven and fell upon one another for a hot game. The bulletin of the first innings was suggestive of base ball, being 8 runs for the Mathison aggregation and 7 for the Rossites. During their second innings Mathison's batsmen hit for 40 runs, and then cut off the others for 15, thus winning by 6 runs. There was time enough left to have made it nine runs, but the etiquette of the game forbids this, or else each side might have made a hundred runs or more. The feature of the game was a dexterous double somersault in the air turned by W. N. Granger to save a collision with Rev. J. H. Broughal, who was trying to stump him out.

Children's service on the 24th.

Sunday last being the 24th of May, allusion was made in many of the churches of the country to the long and useful life of her Majesty Queen Victoria. There was a large congregation at the Methodist tabernacle of this town on Sunday evening. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Manning, preached from the text "Honor all men, love the brotherhood, fear God, honor the king." He spoke of the relation which rulers sustained to the people over which they reigned, that righteous kings made a happy and prosperous nation, and wicked kings wrought misfortune to their subjects; that rulers of some kind are necessary in every nation, each nation having its form of government that is most suited to it for the time being; that loyalty to authority is essential to the welfare of every country; that loyalty to our queen is easy seeing that her rule is constitutional, and that her domestic and social life has been a blessing to her subjects; that loyalty to Victoria should be subsidiary to loyalty to the greater king; that Christ, though a Jew, was king of kings, and the Son of man, and in Him is neither Jew nor Gentile. One is our Father, and all we are brethren. The choir sang several numbers, and Mr. W. Richardson sang a solo, all of which were unusually well sung.

Up to date the "talent" from here and Port Perry has been "hit" rather hard in guessing out the winners at the Woodbine. The rumors may exaggerate facts, but some of them are said to be hunting for hundreds where they lost them.

A large building collapsed in Buffalo last week in which Miss McCann and Miss Blow of this town had until a fortnight ago been employed as telegraph operators of the G. N. W. telegraph company, which concern had moved to new quarters. We congratulate the young ladies on their escape.

On Monday night 4 ducks were stolen from S. Hughes and 5 hens from Patsy Fogarty. Four of Fogarty's hens were located at Mat Murphy's by Patsy, and were restored to their owner on full identification. One of Hughes' ducks appears to be of a homing breed, for it has come home, but the others are still in the hands of the marauders, whoever he be.

From a report of the town council in regard to Mrs. Davey's remuneration for attending Mrs. A. K. Rice an inference may be drawn which would do an injustice to Miss Linton and Miss Solit, who collected some funds to pay Mrs. Davey partly. She was first engaged by the ladies of the Methodist church, and these young ladies collected and paid her $6 for two weeks during which the Methodist women were responsible. After that she was engaged by the council, and the dispute at present is as to whether or not she should have $4.50 or $3 from the town.

Sale of fancy articles.

Literary Notes.

The political situation in the United States on the eve of the presidential nominating conventions is admirably covered by the June Review of Reviews in its departments of "The Progress of the World," "Current History in Caricature," and "Record of Current events." Prospective convention-goers will be greatly interested in Dr. Shaw's sketch of "St. Louis. This year's Convention City." Apropos of this year's rush of gold-seekers to Alaska the Review presses an authoritative description of the Alaskan gold-fields prepared by a member of the staff of the U. S. Geological Survey. There is also an interesting illustrated account of the services of that intrepid pioneer, Dr. Sheldon Jackson, by whose efforts reindeer were introduced into Alaska, and who has done so much to establish civilization in Seward's great purchase. The coronation of the Russian Czar is a fitting occasion for the publication of a character study of that modest young ruler. The Review gives in this number the most complete and reliable ever published of the methods and results of the Government investigation into foods, commenting at length on the work of Professor Atwater, of Wesleyan university. Timeliness and practical interest are the characteristic qualities of the June Review on Reviews.

S. A. Notes.

Services for children at 11 a. m. Sunday, and for adults at 3 and 8 p. m. Envoy Wm. Jones will lead on at 3 p. m., and the officer at 8 p. m.

Series of open air meetings will be commenced in Francis' grove, Brooklin, on Sunday next. Adjutant Miller will conduct the first at 3 p. m., and also give his farewell address to the people of that vicinity. His last Sunday here, June 7th, will be spent at Whitby.

The Salvation Army Harmonic Hurricane Band visited Whitby, and by permission held a musical meeting in the Methodist tabernacle Sunday school last Friday evening. It played both noon and night at the latter. It was evident to all that it was a fairly good band, but whether it was owing to other engagements or want of appreciation their entertainment was only sparsely attended. However, those who were present received plenty of satisfaction, as what with selections on the piano, clarinet, and organ from Prof. Little, R. A. M., London, Eng., cornet solos from Bandmaster Griffiths, late of 48th Highlanders' band, Toronto; violin solo from Mr. Medlock, violin and mouth organ duet from Mr. Medlock and Tom Bloss and vocal solos, duets and united pieces from the various members of the troupe interspersed by the rendering by the brass band of various marches (many pieces and otherwise) a very good musical entertainment was furnished, and as the leader, Adjutant Hughes, and his band are to be in charge of the musical portion of the army camp meetings to be held at Corbett's Point from 28th of June to 7th July, the residents of Whitby and vicinity will be regaled with some good music. The grounds have been secured for the above dates, and a steamer chartered to bring down on 1st July a great number of Toronto salvationists for a big field day at the point. All meetings will be open to the general public.

Allin's for pure essences, vanilla, lemon, etc.

There is very little talk about the county magistracy, it being conceded that no appointment will be made until after the coming elections.

Speckled trout fry will be scarce in this Province for a year or two. The hatchery of S. Wilmut on the Credit River being destroyed by fire, while all the fry in the hatchery near Uxbridge had died.

On Monday evening, June 2nd, the C. E. society of St. Andrew's church propose holding a social in the basement of the school. An interesting programme of music, and speeches by Mr. Southam and others will be given.

The street committee has laid a new four foot sidewalk from King's tannery to the athletic grounds. It is not as wide as some folk would like to have, but is quite expensive enough as it is to suit the town's finances, and will last about fifteen years, which is as often as we shall be able to lay new walks.

Our correspondents in a good many places appear to have spent all their time celebrating the Queen's birthday, and have not sent in budgets this week. In each case the readers of the vicinity will be much disappointed, and an unusually heavy burden has fallen upon the editorial quill (and scissors). Our staff must celebrate with greater moderation.

About 80 members of the town Sons of England marched to All Saints' church on Sunday afternoon to listen to their annual sermon, preached by Rev. J. H. Broughal. The congregation filled the church. Mr. Broughal dwelt largely on the virtues of Queen Victoria and loyalty to the crown of England. It was a highly patriotic sermon.

A great many enquiries are coming in as to what will be done about local option in Pickering, now that the long delayed judgment of the privy council has been handed down. We presume that the Attorney-General will soon digest the judgment, and then the proper department will send out a circular instructing inspectors as to what course is legal and proper. People who have waited so long can extend their patience a little further.

Opportune showers.

The clerk of the weather contributed a fine series of showers to the Queen's birthday observances in this locality. It was a most valuable feature of the day's celebration, most welcome and opportune. The grand outlook both in field and garden was greatly jeopardized by drought, but all are flourishing again. Yesterday afternoon a clerk duplicated his efforts on Monday, and gave us another dousing. It is particularly gratifying to be thus blessed whilst the daily record of the press shows such dreadful disasters to life and property in the west and south, thousands of lives being sacrificed. In one storm at St. Louis, Mo., on Wednesday over 1000 people were killed. On Tuesday a cyclone crossed Michigan from the west and killed 100 people. We little know how much we have to be thankful for.

How women discuss public matters.

The following letter has been handed in for publication by a Whitby woman. "A word to our respectable council men of Whitby. There is some of the big bugs trying to stop the poor mans cow. How would the poor man pay the heavy taxes if he had not the cow to help him. I hope our council men has level head enough to see to the matter not to mind these snotty girls that talking so much about the cows. If the cow was did eat the grass on the commons we would have priare fires and get burned out. I think we are paying heavy enough taxes to get cow pasture and when the ladies' college can run six cows and pays no taxes. I think the poor man should run one. I don't keep a cow myself. I know the cow will help all headed men and women would like to get everything their own way. Well it's good that ill wooled bull has got short horns and can't go only so far."

Honor the Dead.

Those who have burial spaces at Union and other cemeteries need not be reminded that the growth of grass and weeds rendered them unsightly. To make the matter worse some people, who have a proper respect for their loved ones that are gone, have trimmed up their graves beautifully, thus making all the others a reproach to those who should look after them. Surely 'tis a labor of love to visit the graves of departed ones and clear them of filth. Our sorrows are the sweetest, the most precious, and most lasting of all our worldly attributes, and the display of a little effort and taste renews that love for lost ones that enables us to know what time and wisdom has in store for us. It must be confessed that passing away to think that some friends will love us still, and that a few days or years will not suffice for them to pass by and see burdocks, yellow weeds, thistles and briars boring their way into ones ashes. This may seem like taking a quick flight from the sublime to the ridiculous, but such methods are sometimes useful in picturing both ends of the argument, and to accomplish the end in view.

Leveling the hills.

Messrs. King, reeve of Whitby, Coulthard, reeve of Oshawa, Calder, reeve of Whitby township, and McGregor, reeve of E. Whitby, commissioners to expend the $800, appropriated by the county and the municipalities concerned, to cut down the hills on the Kingston road between Oshawa and Whitby, held their first meeting on the hill tops on Tuesday. Messrs. J. Lick and Road Overseer Geo. Thompson, who are probably more familiar with this road than any person else, were also called upon to have their say in the deliberations. Mr. Lick volunteered a sum of $50 to add to the $800, and it is to be hoped that many others interested may supplement the grant. The commissioners decided to spend most of the money on the big hill west of the union cemetery, and on Starr's hill at Hamer's corner. Some stakes were placed to emphasize the ideas of the commission, but a decision was arrived at to employ Engineer Deanes of Oshawa to make specifications and to oversee the work. He was busy yesterday applying his instruments on the grades. There is a natural spring of good water coming to the surface on Starr's hill, and Reeve King of Whitby stated his intention to devote sufficient funds to capture the water and carry it in iron pipes to the base of the hill where a public fountain will be established for the benefit of the public, and for the refreshment of all travelers on the road, man and beast. This will prove a great convenience and advantage to the public.
