To fulfil the expectations of even the most sanguine is a condition seldom attained by any public institution. To exceed the anticipations of all a condition never looked for, and is too much to hope for in more than one case of a thousand. The Ontario Ladies' College to-day stands in that unique, that triumphant, position of having surpassed the grandest dreams of its promoters. Not even the most anxious and hopeful of them could have looked forward to the proud position it has this week taken before the world. The magnificence and architectural grandeur of this institution from an outside view, the beauty and comprehensiveness of the interior, its complete equipment, and thorough faculty, were in strong evidence during the exercises which were in progress this week. This commencement marks the close of a brilliant and successful year's work. The results of university examinations last year and this year have demonstrated to a certainty that the students of this college are fully equipped not only for matriculation into the universities, but also to accomplish at least two years of the university work here. The head of almost every department for the coming year to be a medalist from one of the big universities. The staff has been greatly strengthened, and for scholarly attainment and experience stands ahead of any like college on the continent of America. One of the very strongest features of this college is the strong religious and moral tone. From the moment a young lady enters this college seeking an education until her graduation she is surrounded by the most inspiring and refining influences. The discipline is as strict as will enable the faculty to place pupils on honor, and has been highly successful.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

Rev. W. F. Wilson, Trinity church, Toronto, preached the baccalaureate sermon in the Methodist tabernacle on Sunday night to a very large congregation. He selected for his text Psalm 9: 1, "I will take heed of my ways." The last and most divine act of God's creature power was to make a young woman. Women always outnumber men in the state, the church and every good institution. She is the queen of the hour, and can elevate or degrade mankind at will. She may advance the common health of our country, or bring destruction to it. To be guided by the text is of great value to young people going out into the world. We live in a golden age. All the triumphs and treasures of the past are ours. In order to take full advantage of this we must take heed of our ways. We must take heed of the culture of our physical and intellectual being. There is nothing more beautiful than the rosy cheek, the bright eyes and the sweet song of a young woman. On the other hand nothing should bring more sorrow to our hearts than seeing a woman wrecked by sin. There never was a time when woman had as many opportunities of earning her own living as she has now. In her efforts to maintain herself. The highest, happiest manner in which she can exercise her imperial authority is in the home, the oldest, grandest and most beloved institution we have to-day. We should think more than we have ever thought, read more than we have ever read, take more heed than we have ever taken. Love the bible; read it, obey it. Let it be your chief and chosen companion in your lone hours. Take heed in the morning of life to consecrate to God all your powers. Think of Christ and his objects. Co-operate with Him in the morning of life.

Rev. Thos. Manning addressed the graduates. He said there was a sacred sadness in this service which meant the graduation of the class and its severance from the congregation. Nevertheless there were feelings of congratulation. In all the more civilized nations of to-day woman is appreciated and honored. Great responsibilities fall on the women of this country. Men are more or less what women make them. Religion is good, but education should enhance its working. You will have smiles and tears; prosperity, adversity and disappointment. Stand for your rights—you will have to if you acquire them. We often have peace because we fight for it. "To thyself be just, thou canst not then be false to any man." The world has been a long time acknowledging woman's rights, and does not yet do so entirely. Women need more than character. God made woman to be beautiful, and to love. That love must be sanctified, and you cannot make life too sweet or too useful. The choir did most effective work in rendering the service a success.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NIGHT.

So important and extensive has the Christian endeavor work at the college become that one night of the commencement exercises is devoted to a great meeting of this organization. The attendance was so great that Francis hall was taxed for seating room. Rev. Thos. Manning presided, and Revs. Abraham and McKim occupied seats on the platform. After singing and prayer Miss favored the audience with an appropriate song. Miss M. E. Masson, Ottawa, addressed the meeting on the White Ribbon movement, as instituted by Miss Willard, the veteran female temperance worker. This white ribbon band was organized at Hillsboro, Ohio, 20 years ago, and so great is its membership already that it encircles the world. Its motto is "Do Everything." There is no "Don't do this, or that," in its programme. People who are kept busy doing right need no "don't's" to restrain them from wrong. The work of the movement embraces 52 departments, and its members are thus provided with an inexhaustible field for good. Miss Willard is the sovereign and guide of more people than most monarchs, yet her 60 years sit lightly upon her. The white ribbon work commences with a pledge against the use of alcoholic liquors as food or drink. But it does not stop there. It is considered that total abstinence is but a small virtue in one who violates morality in other ways. Every kind of reform and religious work is embraced in the movement. The temperance department of the work is carried on upon scientific as well as moral grounds. Love of humanity is the power which guides the workers. The people of the world are not looked upon as sinners, but as instruments with which to accomplish good. To accomplish anything there must be a fixed plan and a united effort. The pledge and the wearing of the ribbon is the sticking point with many joiners, but such a band of union is necessary to place all in even line for work. Miss M. J. MacDonald, Toronto, followed, using the 12th chapter of Chronicles as the basis of her talk. From the story of the mighty men who volunteered to serve David against his enemies, she drew the lesson of the secret of might in the service of the King. These mighty men were armed and any of them could sling a stone accurately with either hand. Besides this they had courage, that pluck which always belongs to a volunteer. They were ready to fight to the death for David. Such is the courage of the christian soldier who is armed for the King. Besides this we must be definitely on the side of Christ. There must be no mistake about this. We must say as did the mighty men: "Thine are we, Lord." Added to courage and definite purpose we must be armed. We must be armed with a full knowledge of the gospel and in fighting crime. David tried the mighty men to see if they had definite purpose, courage and skill before he accepted their service. Then he knew that with such fighters he must win, and he did win. We must be so situated as to be able to look into God's face and know that he is with us. We cannot be mighty until we meet all these conditions. Then we must separate ourselves from the constant association of those who are not willing to obey God. Otherwise we will accomplish nothing and will be constantly tempted. We cannot fight sin by compromising. His may be weak but the bible says "It is not by my might or my power, but by Thy holy spirit." We should be ever found speaking little personal messages to people. And we should remember that God always prepares the heart for our messages. It will not cramp our lives to go fully into the service. Rather will we find it in the end as did the mighty men. "There was great joy in Israel."

THE WEEK'S PROGRAMME.

The extent, variety, and merit of the work done in the various branches may be judged from the long series of programmes lasting from Saturday until yesterday, and occupying the boards two weeks. The programmes were many and splendid recitals were all planned in advance, and were carried out during the whole week without a failure or hitch. It required no chairman to make announcements, nor explanations as to the method adopted. The faculty joined the students as listeners on which, it is considered that these successes are based upon the whole college course of the competitors, and not merely upon the results in the end of hard coaching and plugging, as the university graduates call it, the public will see the amount of application required to win a medal. In elocution there is added to this final public competition, upon which a percentage of marks is awarded, and the committee this year had a most difficult task in deciding between Misses Hamilton, Davis and Jones, whose text on Tuesday night was a burlesque of Shakespeare's characters of Juliet, Portia and Lady Macbeth, respectively. Miss Gordon, post graduate, taking the part of Ophelia. The interpretation of character was by way of take-off, and was remarkably spirited and amusing. Miss Pease, the graduate in vocal music, is one of the sweetest and most charming singers as well as one of the prettiest girls the college has turned out for years. Miss C. Grenfell, the leading graduate in the arts course took for the June examination—instead of the May—at Toronto university this year, and carried off the following honors: First class in English, second in Phonetics, third in French, German and Italian. Her highest standing, standing of Grade A in Latin and Mathematics, Grade B in Physics. She took a first year university pass. This is, indeed, a most creditable showing for one year's work.

FINE ARTS.

The art work of the college shows no signs of deteriorating from the high place it has held in past years. An examination of the exhibit of pupils painting and drawing would satisfy the most exacting critic that sound principles are instilled into the minds of the students, and that the artistic taste and executive ability is recognized and developed along the lines which will bring the best results in after life. We have from time to time drawn attention to the fact that college art work is based upon drawing from models, still life and from the beautiful landscapes found within easy reach of Whitby. Thus the work done here is a sure and tried foundation upon which the student may build the glorious fabric of an artistic career if her ambition and taste lead in this direction in past collegiate days.

A report recently published in the Mail and Empire will convey some idea of the relative merit of the work done this year, as compared with that of other art schools and ladies' colleges of this country, wherein Archbishop Walsh paid Ontario Ladies' College the very high compliment of declaring its work the best on exhibition at the competition. In addition to the work above referred to there was a choice and exceedingly artistic show of china painting.

It is said to be the intention of the directors to further advance the efficiency of the art department by procuring additional equipment for the next year. In fact we will be put upon the same satisfactory basis as the other work of the college and nothing short of the foremost place amongst the schools of Ontario will satisfy the management.

College Notes.

College reopens Sept 8.

The heating is by steam and the lighting by electricity, and the machinery runs in a most superb manner.

The town is making a tremendous water tank near the college gate, which will afford ample protection against fire.

The contrast between the old gymnasium and the new Frances Hall as a place for holding public entertainments was very marked.

The college board has purchased two new Heintzman grand pianos at $750 each, one of which was in use during this week's exercises.

The elections and the attendant excitement had the effect of thinning out the attendance at the various entertainments during the fore part of the week.

Frances Hall has lately had its equipment completed by the erection of a $2000 pipe organ. This will enable the college to graduate well-drilled organists for churches.

Mrs. J. W. F. Harrison gave a fine programme on the new grand piano on Wednesday afternoon. She is a most expert pianist, and won great applause by her deft handling of the keys.

Much to the regret of everybody, Mrs. Hare, Lady Principal, has been absent during the whole week, being quite seriously indisposed. The grace, charm and brightness which her winning presence adds to passing events at the college has been wanting at many times on this occasion.

The buildings look magnificent inside and out. The new additions appear to have more than doubled the size of the establishment. Frances Hall, the grand assembly room of the college, is large in size and decorated in a most substantial and attractive manner. Its acoustic qualities and extent afford fine facilities for such entertainments as those held there this week. The dining hall is a tremendous place, where three or four hundred could be comfortably seated. The halls, stairways, rooms, etc., are of a class not to be found in any other college in Canada. The new lighting and heating apparatus is of the highest order. Without the slightest strain the whole building can be lighted and heated during the lowest temperatures experienced in this country.

LOCAL NEWS LETTERS.

GREENWOOD

Mr. Jim Harris Sundayed with his parents and friends here.

Miss T. Gleason, of Toronto, is visiting relatives and friends here at present.

Mr. John Bennington, of Dakota, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. John Emerson last week.

Mr. John Seldon had some of his summer pork stolen out of his barn a few days ago. The thief is a lover of lean meat as he just took the hams and left the sides.

Mrs. L. Harrison has the best well for miles around. Mr. Cookwell, the digger of same, on reaching the depth of thirty-six feet struck water and in less than three hours the well was overflowing.

Elections passed off very quietly in this riding. Neither party seemed to take any great interest in them. J. D. Edgar polled the most votes, but just how many of a majority I cannot say. The Liberal party are greatly pleased with the result of the elections all over.

Rev. John Harris and family left for their new appointment on Tuesday. As Mr. H. and family were well liked by young and old they will be greatly missed by all. May they be long spared to enjoy the pleasures of this life and to press along the cause of God in the world of all.

On Tuesday night there was a contest for eating pie at the Kickapoo concert. Some six or seven boys entered and the one that finished his piece received a prize. Before they got through they had lots of pie both inside and out. Maslar Charlie Ledgett was the fastest eater and was therefore given the prize.

The Kickapoo Company are having good attendance at their concerts and large sales of their valuable medicine. The people of Greenwood and neighboring villages have laughed more this week than they have for months. They give a first class entertainment every night and on pay nights they give us a double dose. Next Monday will probably be the last night.

A very sad and painful accident happened to Mr. Alex. Moore, Sr., on Monday. He, in company with Stuart Corbett were riding down the hill when the team suddenly became frightened at some dogs that ran out at them, and commenced to run. The wagon was upset, and Mr. Moore's leg was caught by one of the wheels and badly broken just below the knee, as well as his shoulder being injured.

Under the skillful treatment of Dr. J. Moore, of Brooklin, it is hoped the sufferer will soon recover from his painful accident. Mr. Corbett was badly bruised and shaken up but had no bones broken.

ASHBURN.

Miss Jennie Valentine leaves to-morrow for New York.

The stalwarts from this place went to the Burnett procession Wednesday evening.

Miss Lillie Balfour is home and we hope to soon see her enjoying good health. She is rapidly improving.

Marriage in our midst. Miss Millie Harris to Mr. Dont, Trenton. May long life and happiness be theirs.

Mr. Jas. Moffatt has left Ashburn and started a blacksmith shop at Siskard. We wish him every success.

PORT PERRY

Prof. Arthur Allen is visiting his friends in this vicinity.

Miss Clara Rolph returned home from Montreal last Saturday.

Wm Motheral is learning to be a tonsorial artist in Broad's barber shop.

Harry White, of Lindsay, has been visiting former schoolmates the last week.

Mr and Mrs Brooke, of Georgetown, are guests of Mr and Mrs U L Whitby.

C D Allen, of Bethany, was a visitor this week with his university mate, Mr G M Jones.

Mr and Mrs J J Minty, of Toronto, were visitors of Mrs Dennison and family the first of this week.

The G. I. R. have made quite an improvement in the warehouse now occupied by Delaporte & Co., grain buyers.

The centre sabbath school on Scugog island will hold a picnic on 1st July in a grove near at hand and a pleasant time is anticipated.

A goodly number of persons from town and Scugog had an excursion per Str. Stranger and scow to Lindsay last Saturday and were pleased with their day's outing.

Several Americans have been here fishing since the 16th inst., and had some good sport. They have shipped large quantities of maskinonge to Albany and Pittsburg.

Mr W Mills was struck in one of his eyes with a splinter of wood last Thursday at Vicky's planing mill and had to secure medical assistance in removing the piece. It was very painful for a time.

The three sabbath schools on Scugog Island purpose having an excursion next Tuesday, 30th inst., per Crandella to Pleasant Point, near Sturgeon. The boat leaves Hood's landing at 7:30 a.m. All are welcome.

Mr Geo Barnes, Whitby's star lacrosse player, who is playing with Stouffville this year, was in town on Saturday morning, he being en route for Uxbridge, where the Stouffville team played Uxbridge a championship game. Stouffville won by 4-3. Master John Sebert accompanied him over from here.

Port Perry tennis club met Lindsay collegiate institute tennis club last Saturday and the game resulted in a tie. Several of our players, Messrs Allison, McMillan, Burnham and Sangster played a grand game. It was a hot game from start to finish as both sides had no good players. Our team will play a return game on July 1st at Lindsay, and no doubt victory will be theirs.

Excursions and Parks

A large excursion from Ops was here on Thursday of last week. On Saturday another excursion, under the auspices of the Lindsay collegiate institute, was brought here by the Str. Crandella. Our citizens always give a hearty welcome and are pleased to see such visitors as those that came in on those two excursions last week. Their gentlemanly and ladylike deportment was noticed by our townspeople. Come again, you are thrice welcome. Our town needs one or two nice parks for visitors to go and rest and while away the time. Several citizens since then have said that steps should be taken and made that fine plot west of the hall into a nice park. It could be done without a very large expense. Another place is those vacant lots on the north side of Queen street. This spot could with considerable outlay be made a very nice park in time and would be appreciated by our own citizens as well as visitors in the hot weather.

The Election and Procession

As far as South Ontario was concerned excitement ran high last Tuesday. Conservatives and Reformers worked hard in getting out their voters; the outside vote was a large one as was to be seen by the many faces to be seen on the streets that day. About 6 p.m. the crowds commenced to gather, and it was soon found that the returns that Mr Burnett was the successful man this time. While this was a hotly contested election and the wordy warfare was strong at times, it is pleasant to note that very little, if any, mud-slinging work was done and that was to be expected from the personality of Messrs Smith and Burnett. When the 8 p.m. train arrived Mr Burnett was escorted to the train by a large crowd of his friends. About 8 p.m., those who come to town to hear the reports, and many citizens, went to the town hall where a nominal admittance was charged and it was soon found that building was filled. The reports were read every few minutes and cheers were freely given when the name or names of favorites were read according to the side of politics to which they belonged. On Wednesday evening a grand procession, made up by large numbers from the south end of the riding meeting those from the north, proceeded to Port Perry. The procession entered town about 9 o'clock and looked magnificent as it came down the long hill, showing scores of lighted torches. Conservatives and Reformers illuminated their residences and stores, which showed off to advantage. It is estimated that 1500 to 2000 people were in town on Wednesday evening. Addresses were delivered by Messrs Burnett, H. Gould, I J Goble, Chapple, Harman, Pringle, Forman, Holliday and Dryden.
