The Chronicle.

WHITBY, JULY 31, 1896.

Short Notes.

In another column we publish accounts of the escape from death in a most remarkable manner of three boating parties whose lives were in great peril, two on Lake Ontario and one on Lake Simcoe. Driven out into deep water by the gale of a week ago, each of the parties lost control of their small boats by reason of the loss of oars or some other cause. They were all at the mercy of the waves all night, and in one case for over 20 hours.

The Government of Cape Colony has decided that Sir Cecil Rhodes, who was until lately cracked up as the Napoleon of South Africa, was chiefly to blame for Dr. Jameson's invasion of the Transvaal, and therefore Jameson's defeat may be called Rhodes' Waterloo. The South African Company appears to have been imitating the course once pursued by the East India Company in assisting to subjugate territory where there was lots of virgin wealth to secure.

While all the world protests with words instead of war, every few days another batch of news comes from some part of the Turkish empire showing that a few thousands more Christians have been slaughtered by the bloodthirsty Turk. The Christians are forced to gather in large numbers for self-protection, and are at once on and massacred by Turkish soldiers as rebels against authority. From a standpoint of humanity it now becomes obvious that the British made a mistake in preventing the destruction of the Turkish empire long ago. They insisted on its existence against the wishes of Russia, and now Russia seeks to demonstrate the futility of such a plan by backing the Turks in anything they see fit to do.

We notice that in various other places the county judges have split up municipalities in making electoral divisions for the new-fangled county councils. This, we fancy, is not desirable unless in extreme cases. A discrepancy of no great magnitude in either population or assessed value should not be made the reason for gerrymandering and complicating minor municipal boundaries and business. It will, we believe, be a mistake to make two sets of boundaries for municipal affairs. The new county council is merely an experiment, and it is not enough to cut and carve when it has proved itself a success, though we feel it will be a success.

In Canada we have run to seed with D. D's and Q. C's, while in the United States a man counts for nothing unless he is an Hon. or Col., or Gen. Once these degrees and titles attested that the holders were either learned men in theology or law, or had performed honorable civil or military service. To-day those entitled to be called Q. C's and D. D's blush for the ten to one who are not, and every American from a bog constable up tries to call himself Hon., or Col., or Gen. A correspondent of the New York Sun asks to know exactly what constitutes a man's right to be called Hon., and our cotem's reply was to the effect that every honorable man is entitled to the distinction, but that by general error it seldom was applied to any but the conspicuously dishonorable class.

A lot of nonsense is talked by partisans on both sides as to what one side will do to another in the election courts. A point overlooked by these boosters is the radical change of the law, since the wholesale unseating of members after the general elections of 1891. The law under which the last Dominion elections were contested in the courts, was terribly severe. Proof of one illegal act would win an election no matter how large the majority might be. It was not necessary to prove a sufficient number of illegal acts to affect the result. Proof of one illegal act and proof of agency was cause for unseating a member who might have tried his best to run a pure election, and who polled an overwhelming majority. The Dominion election law has been changed until it practically corresponds to the Ontario election law. And under the Ontario election law, it is anything but easy to unseat a member elected even by a small majority. The late Thomas Stinson, whose majority in Hamilton was only eighty-six, was unseated with the greatest difficulty. After the last election, Reid of West Durham, whose majority was less than fifty, and MacNeill in South Perth, whose majority was only fifteen, held their seats in spite of efforts to dislodge them in the election courts. The history of past election trials under the Ontario Act indicates the future of election trials under the Dominion Act, and according to these indications, it would be difficult to unseat members elected by majorities of fifty and over, and almost impossible to unseat members elected by majorities of fifty and over.

Notice.

This is to notify D. McKay, county treasurer, that a party left a pair of specs belonging to him at this office yesterday, and if he does not call and get them before Jan. 1st, 1897, they will be sold as the law directs.

Whitby Towns Leads.

If your feet sweat at Allin's drug store and try Foot Elm.

Mrs. J. S. Barnard spent a few days in Hamilton this week visiting.

Miss Fuller, of Toronto, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Broughal.

Mr. Jno. Gale, principle of Dufferin street school, has gone to spend his vacation on the shores of Georgian-bay.

His Worship Mayor Rutledge, in answer to a petition of business men has proclaimed Monday, Aug. 10th, civic holiday.

The county judges meet here next Monday to divide the county into electoral divisions for the election of county councils.

Mrs. Fox and Miss Alice Fox, mother and sister of C. Fox, manager of the Western bank at Hamburg, were the guests of Mrs. Johnston last week.

Harvest is now over and upon the whole it looks as if this were going to be a year of plenty. Farmers all say the crops are pretty fair, or else very good.

Mr. J. W. Lamoreau, Hamilton, spent some time here visiting Principio Brown, Mr. Lamoreau was born in Pickering, and taught several years in this county.

The Oshawa Vindicator tries to offset the fact that Whitby's mayor rides a bike by setting up Oshawa's Deputy Reeve Hare as a wheelman. Of course if Oshawa cannot do any better they will do it, but we wish it distinctly understood that a deputy-reeve-ship under the new regulations is purely an honorary title, and carries no municipal weight with it.

Excursions.

About 300 took passage by the Eurydice to Toronto on Friday, the Tycoon failing to show up.

About 1000 people from Newcastle, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby and Pickering, went to Niagara Falls on the Columbian Tuesday. The crowd was probably the largest that ever left these ports on any excursion.

The Richelieu Navigation Co's steamer, Columbian, filled its engine room here on Monday, by carrying about 600 people from these parts to Toronto. The Eurydice also advertised a 25 cent excursion, for the sake of rendering opposition, but after securing about one hundred passengers on that basis she ran aground near Oshawa, owing to the log, and spent the day seceding and getting off the sand bar. The general feeling was one of very little sympathy with her owners under the circumstances. The Columbian is a magnificent ship for excursions, being superbly equipped, and capable of bearing 1000 or more passengers in comfort. The trip to Toronto was very much enjoyed, the day being last, the day very agreeable, and the return early, the passengers being landed here at 7:40 p. m.

Neglected and Dependent Children.

Mrs. L. J. Harvie, Toronto, Provincial visitor under the Gibson Act for the protection of neglected and dependent children, visited town on Wednesday with the object of enquiring into a case of alleged cruelty and neglect which had been reported to Mr. J. J. Kelso, Toronto, Provincial secretary of this work. When Mrs. Harvie arrived here she found that the case in question was some distance from Whitby. However, the day was spent in interviewing parties who might be induced to go into the work, and she addressed a very nice audience at night in the Presbyterian church. In speaking she first gave facts and statistics of work being done in other countries. She next took up the Gibson Act, passed by our Provincial legislature in 1893, under which power is given to form Children's Aid societies in towns and villages, with power to enquire into all cases of complaint, and even to take possession of ill-fed, ill-clothed, neglected or abused children, or those who are being allowed to drift into immorality. When such children are taken possession of, homes are found for them, and applications for such children are constantly being made to children's aid societies wherever they exist. In many cases to show where neglected or abused little ones have been provided with good homes. Photographs were placed on inspection to show the improvement wrought in these children by their adoption into respectable households. In conclusion Mrs. Harvie announced that the Provincial authorities have a boy nine years old who desires to come to Whitby, and who promises to prove a worthy object of philanthropy to any good farmer who chooses to adopt him. If any farmer around here would like to take this boy he may write the CHRONICLE office or J. J. Kelso, Toronto. Mrs. Harvie is a veteran in philanthropic work, and is admirably fitted for the duties of going about the Province enquiring into cases of neglect and immorality. Whenever a case is reported to headquarters at Toronto, Mrs. Harvie visits the locality and very soon brings the parties to time. During her stay here she interviewed Judge Dartnell, Mayor Rutledge, Sheriff Paxton, County Attorney Farewell, Police Magistrate Harper, Lawyer Ormiston, Mr. J. H. Long, Miss Starr, official visitor for this county under the Act, and others. It is expected that a Children's Aid society will be formed here at once. During her stay in town Mrs. Harvie was the guest of Rev. John and Mrs. Abraham.

Golden Wedding.

"O fortunate, O happy day!
The people sing the people say,
The ancient bridegroom and the bride,
Smiling contented and serene,
Upon the blithe, bewildering scene,
Behold, well pleased, on every side,
Their forms and features multiplied,
As the reflector of light.
Between two burnished mirrors gleams,
Or lamps upon a bridge at night
Stretch on and on before the sight,
Till the long vista endless seems."

The scene that floated before the vivid imagination of the immortal Longfellow when, more than a quarter of a century ago, he penned the above stanza, was most realistically presented at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Madill, of this town on Tuesday last, the occasion being the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. The happy couple, surrounded by children and grandchildren to the number of twenty-five, all giving unmistakable evidence of health and prosperity, had every reason to smile "contented and serene." While a kind providence has dealt most liberally with Mr. and Mrs. Madill, yet they have not been without their griefs and sorrows, and the angel of death has been permitted twice to enter their peaceful home and to carry off two of their beloved daughters. The beautifully festooned and brilliantly lighted dining room, with its grandly decorated tables surrounded by thirty-six happy guests, presented a "wedding breakfast scene" most pleasing to behold. The Rev. Mr. Abraham was the presiding genius and around the festive board sat the bride and groom, Mrs. Abraham, Mrs. Dr. Gunn, Mrs. Wm. Madill, Mrs. and Mrs. Horden and child, Miss Ketchen, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. Alex. Frazer and Miss Katie, and the following children and grandchildren: Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Gadsby and son George, of Carleton Place; Mrs. M. Thos. Madill, D. and L. R. official, Syracuse, N. Y., wife and two children, Maggie and Earnest; Mr. John Madill, merchant, Hamilton, wife and daughter Edna; Mr. Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, wife and son Stanley; Miss Mary Madill, Whitby; Mr. Jas. Madill, clerk, and wife, Toronto; Mr. Benj. Madill, Whitby, wife and daughter Louise; Mr. Walter Madill, druggist, Toronto, wife and son Ross, and his Olga.

The youngest member of the moon was Sat drumming with her silver spoon. After ample justice had been done to the wedding breakfast the Rev. Mr. Abraham took charge of the toast list and in his felicitous way submitted in turn the following: "The ancient bridegroom and bride," which was responded to by Mr. Jno. Madill, who, told, amidst the blushes of the bride and much to the amusement of the guests, how courtship, love and marriage were carried on half a century ago. Mr. and Mrs. Madill had been children together in their native country, Ireland, the former coming to this country with his parents and settling in Pickering in '37, and the latter, whose maiden name was Finney, coming in '45 and settling in Markers. Mr. Madill did not permit his intended to remain long in this country before making her his bride, fearing no doubt that some sturdy Canadian might steal his Irish beauty and carry her off to bring sunshine and gladness to some backwoods home. The Rev. Mr. Lambie, old kirk minister, performed the requisite ceremony in '46 and Mr. Madill has been the happiest of men ever since. By sturdy industry and strict integrity Mr. and Mrs. Madill were enabled to raise and liberally educate a large family and lay by a competency for old age. In '73 they moved into town since which time by their unselfish devotion to all good works they have continuously added to their large circle of friends many of whom sent letters of congratulation accompanied by substantial tokens of esteem. "The day we celebrate" was responded to by Mr. Jno. Madill; "The sons" by Messrs. Thos., Walter and Benjamin; "The daughters" by Rev. Mr. Gadsby; "The grandchildren" by William and "Our native country" by James. All the speeches were most appropriate to the occasion and merited the warmest congratulations of the guests. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. took advantage of the occasion to present the following address accompanied by a pair of gold spectacles.

Whitby, July 28th, 1896.
Mrs. Jas. Madill, President of W. C. T. U.
Dear sister,—It is with much pleasure that the members of the W. C. T. U., of the town of Whitby, over which you have so long and ably presided as chief officer tender their congratulations to yourself and your esteemed husband on this joyous occasion, the celebration of your golden wedding. They also take the liberty of presenting you with a simple token of their regard, not as a reward for services rendered (that you already have in the consciousness of duty done), but simply as an outward sign of the inward esteem and affection which is felt towards you by the members of this sisterhood and which the present occasion affords them a fitting opportunity of expressing. May your united and happy lives long be spared for loyal service in the cause of our Lord and Master, and may the present occasion be a foretaste of that crowning joy when the redeemed are all sit down together in blessed reunion at the "Marriage supper of the Lamb."

Signed on behalf of the society,
R. J. Mitchell.

The above was read by Rev. Mr. Abraham and responded to by Jno. Madill. In addition to the spectacles above presented, the family presented a pair of gold spectacles to both parents and a well-filled purse of gold coin. Many other suitable presents were sent in by friends. The evening was spent in social enjoyment to which every one contributed his part. Photographer O'Brien took a group photo in the afternoon which will be an appropriate souvenir of the occasion. We unite with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Madill in extending our congratulations.
