This is an unusually busy season with the Pedlar Metal Roofing Co. They have a large order from Eaton, Toronto, and to get it out in time are running from 12 o'clock midnight until 6 p. m. Mr. Pedlar has been asked to put a cushion on the six ton drop die for the first hours of the day, as it disturbs the slumbers of the neighbors.

Farmers and others having business to transact at the Oshawa Junction will be glad to know that Mr. Frank Mallett has completed his new hotel and sheds opposite the G. T. R. station. The sheds are one hundred feet long, and afford ample accommodation for horses, and extensions are being made to the hotel at a rapid rate. In the end Mr. Mallett will be at considerable expense, but will be much better situated than formerly.

Some person writes from Oshawa on the lake to the Vindicator in such a mysterious way one would fancy he credits the public with more than natural powers of perception. How is anybody to know, it is referred to when an item states that Bob or Tom did this or Fred or Bill does the other silly thing? If a man writes for the public why not make himself intelligible? If he writes only for himself and one or two others who know Bob and Tom and Fred, then why put it in a newspaper to puzzle people?

This town has many things to be proud of, and it is seldom a town's inhabitants appreciate their advantages better. Everything is up to date, and very little is wanting to render life here a great pleasure. But there is yet one thing, which is badly needed, namely: a drinking fountain near the corner of King and Simcoe streets. If a spring of water could be captured and conducted there in pipes, or if the town council would spend a couple of hundred dollars to dig a good well near the main crossing it would prove one of the most comforting and healthful things possible. Business men cannot now have a pitcher of fresh water in their shops because they do not know where to get it, while visitors in town suffer greatly for the want of a cooling draught to give them comfort and satisfaction in viewing the town's sights or transacting business.

We do not propose to quarrel with the 34th battalion band if such a display of feeling can be avoided, for such an organization is a very fine thing, but the noise made at this band's quarters is often very annoying to people who inhabit the centre of the town. There appears to be a general rally of fellows who do not belong to the band, and often a great noise is made, and is kept up until a late hour. On Friday night last, or rather Saturday morning about 2 a. m.—the fire-keepers of the band's quarters appeared to have a quarrel, which was almost extinguished in a fight. What the fracas was about we know not, and it makes no difference what caused the row. No persons have any right to ventilate their wrath in loud words in public places. Such methods of adjusting disputes are out of date now, and we trust that the band management will see to it that their rooms are not in future made a resort for noisy fellows.

The man "Dab" who writes "Kinks" for the Vindicator, has apparently hit the kinks taken out of him, and had better go into permanent retirement with the late Diogenes. The time is very short between the sunrise and sunset of some brilliant literary careers.

The fire alarm sounded yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, and it was found that J. D. Storey's stable was burning. The engine was run down to the corner of King and Simcoe streets, and in a very short time the blaze was extinguished. The loss will amount to $200 or $300.

It was the prophecy of a great many people that Simcoe and King streets would be in very poor condition for a year or two after the street railway would be laid, tracking up the turnpikes to lay the tracks, being looked upon as sufficient to destroy the road beds. It has been found, however, that the removal of the heavy traffic from the road bed to the irons has left the roads smoother than ever. There is not a rut on either King or Simcoe streets.

A pretty wedding was celebrated on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McNaughton, Cleveland, O., being the marriage of their niece, Miss Mabel Hobbs, to Mr. Fred Koester. Only relatives were present. The bride was attired in white organdy, and carried bride roses and maidenhair ferns. Shortly after the newly wedded couple started on their bridal tour up the lakes.

Mr. Frank Wiggins found it impossible to make his balloon ascension on Monday as advertised on account of the difficulty in inflating it, so was again announced for Wednesday afternoon; but the balloon prevented the ascension. The balloon is such an enormous thing when inflated, and it takes such a big fire to furnish the hot air that it is impossible in a brisk wind to keep from burning it before it can be filled.

The Toronto papers give details of a lawsuit in Toronto between Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Doel, Eglinton, in which the latter seeks to have instruments set aside wherein she decided to her husband some valuable city property. It is stated that she is now on the ground that misrepresentation and fraud were used to induce her to sign the deeds. Miss Clara Terry, Oshawa, is named as co-defendant, the property having been some person writes the Vindicator declaring that Punshon's cramp whilst bathing last week was no joke, but a real genuine pucker in the cords of his nether limbs. The incident is one of the things which come to one having the reputation of a practical joker, for it is stated that Mr. Punshon was seized with a cramp once last year, and that when rescued he immediately stepped upon the bow of the boat and plunged head long "to the bottom of the sea." It is said that chickens come home to roost.

A bad accident. Last week Mr. Robb, living on Lloyd st. and working in the Pedlar Metal Roofing works, bought a cow near Bowmanville. The cow was put in pasture here, but as she went back home on Monday Mr. Robb got a horse of W. H. Thomas' livery stable, and taking his wife and three small children, the oldest of whom was six years, drove out to bring the animal home. When at the top of Trennan's hill they met a rig driving in the opposite direction and a rig driving in the wheelmen riding east came along and ran into the horse driven by Mrs. Robb. The horse stopped suddenly, which threw the six year old child forward between the front wheel and the box of the buggy, then sprang forward. The screams of the child were something frightful and when she was released it was found that her thigh bone was fractured. The wheelman was thrown but picked himself up and disappeared in the darkness.

During the very hot spell we have experienced lately the residents of the town have been able to estimate the value of the street railway. Ten minutes suffices to take a large number of all quarters and land them beside the cooling breezes and beautiful waters of Lake Ontario, where the air is just that any person could desire. A ten cent fare to the lake and return is a thing that was never anticipated before the railway was built, and places frequent visits at the beach at a figure within almost anybody's means. One hears it said that the railway goes to the lake that the trip is most pleasant and beautiful, while the stay there is handling so many people with the present traffic is highly to be commended, and it is a certainty that more thought has been given to the wants and comfort of the public than to the over-worked but courteous and efficient staff which runs the cars. Such a course will prove not only pleasant to the public but in the end will make the railway popular and prosperous. We congratulate Mr. Sterrick and his staff upon the splendid service they have given during the first year of the railway's existence.

Death of John Allan. John Allan, well known throughout East Whitley and Oshawa, died at his residence 24th Street, on Sunday evening in his 72nd year. Mr. Allan had never known a day's sickness in his life until a year ago when he was for some time under the care of his wife. He has never been the same since and his friends have noticed that his system seemed to have sustained a loss through his illness that was not likely to be made good. He gradually lost strength and on Wednesday, two weeks ago, he was confined to his bed and never left it. He lived an honorable life and he is spoken of as a man without reproach. He was born in Yorkshire, England, and came to this country when a boy. He lived on a farm in the 4th concession of East Whitley from his boyhood until thirteen years ago when he sold his stock and with the proceeds bought from Rich Thomas the property on Simcoe street now occupied by Jas. Butland, butcher, and Thomas' restaurant. He moved into town himself and has lived a retired life. A wife and five grown daughters survive him. Two daughters are married and live at home. Mrs. Lyndy, Mrs. M. Phipps and Mrs. Lynde of Whitley. The funeral service was held on Tuesday.

Mr. W. J. Fowke died yesterday morning. We shall give some particulars of his life next week.

Miss Pantan and Miss Kivner will take a boat of the Richelieu and Ontario line of steamers at Bowmanville on Monday for a holiday trip to Montreal and Quebec city.

The steamer A. J. Tymon brought an excursion of about 300 from Cobourg and Port Hope Wednesday, and the visitors spent a very pleasant day at the park and around town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton, of Toronto, wheeled from Dunbar to Oshawa on a civic holiday and spent the day at Mr. E. C. Parsnell's, Mr. Hamilton has the contract for furnishing the Ontario Normal School ladies' college, Whitley.

The second event in the base ball controversy between King and Simcoe streets came off on Friday last, and resulted in the Simcoe men defeating the royalists and regaining their lost reputation. When the teams started up the field it became evident that there had been some culling down, and men of more or less local renown substituted for several who had proved weak in the former struggle. The score was 23 to 13 for Simcoe street.

Drowned—Humber bay. Ernest Lang, an Oshawa boy, youngest son of the late Wm. Lang, was drowned at Humber Bay on Monday. With two other boys in a canoe he was attempting to paddle across the bay against a high wave, which swamped the canoe. He left the other two clinging to the overturned bark and started to swim to shore, but sunk about half way. Had he clung to the boat he would have been saved with the others, for they were rescued very shortly after the boat capsized.

The 34th battalion band appears to have reached that state of prosperity when a general fuss and split-up is necessary. Last winter they laid aside Mr. D. Truitt and gave him a supper at To's to smooth his feelings whilst Mr. A. O. Geiger was placed in his stall. Now many of the members are in a state of mutiny and are breaking the band, and Truitt is reinstated. The musicians are always cranks, and the better musicians the bigger cranks. Seldom does an amateur band reach an advanced stage of peace with a trivial split-up.

A certain stage steps in and breaks the whole combination. It is to be hoped that the men of the 34th battalion band will have sense and let well enough alone until they can do better.

Civic holiday here was celebrated very nicely, the park and the streets were well patronized. About 500 visitors with the True Blues from Toronto. The procession took place at 10.30 and was made up of the True Blue lodges and Orange brigades from Toronto, all being dressed in shining and artistic regalia. In the 34th battalion band, which played some fine music, the visitors from Toronto brought two five-and-drum bands, and these made up the band for the day. When the process arrived at the park the Wilton's arrived a baseball match with an Oshawa club made up largely of the Bowdens of Oshawa. At the end of five innings the score stood 18 in favor of Oshawa, and the game was taken for granted. The ball was struck by King Eli fed hosts at his tent and they all declared he gave them a first class dinner. After dinner the Orange battalion front Toronto gave a drill exhibition in front of the grand stand, which was well patronized. The price of admission to the park. The band consisted of marching, formations and sword performances. The Orioles and Bowdens had another fly at each other, and it proved one of the best matches played in town this year. The local rivalry is as strong as ever between them, and each club is red hot to defeat the other. Bone, the south paw pitcher of the Orioles has joined Bowden's and catches Powers, his old time antagonist, who gave him a bad one on the thumb early in the game as a reminder of days that are gone. Mills and Cinnamon of Toronto held the points for the Orioles. The game was a hot one, well played, well rooted by the club followers, and well appreciated by the crowd. Score—Orioles 5, Bowdens 5. The bicyclist was well contested, and were all won as usual by Toronto scorches. The McLaughlins and Malleables chewed all the afternoon over the deal tug of war, but after several balks the Malleables easily defeated the Mc's in two straight pulls. The committee handled its business well, and made the day's events a great success. To the credit of the True Blues it may be said that they conducted themselves in a manner reflecting credit on their order. There are always few who must get drunk, and this element was in evidence Monday, but those in True Blue regalia kept straight.
