

Result of a Neglected Cold. DISEASED LUNGS. CURED BY TAKING AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

Which Doctors Failed to Help, I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs, and I did what is often done in such cases, neglected it, thinking it would go away as it came; but I found, after a little while, that the slightest exertion pained me. I then consulted a doctor who found, on examining my lungs, that the upper part of the left one was badly affected.

The owner of a dwelling house in the south ward is in a quandry. Two months ago the tenant, who was in arrears, left for an adjacent village to look for work, taking the key with him. The landlord has waited in vain for his rental, and he cannot get into the house, which is his own. In addition to this he cannot make a seizure, as his tenant, whom he has tried in vain to find, has never refused to pay the rent once. It is just possible that when the curtains are raised it may be found that the effects, supposed to be there, may have vanished.

Last March Mr. Wm. Armstrong, a well-to-do farmer of the township of Huntley, rented his farm there and left for North Dakota, where he expected to do better. After putting in a very hard summer he returned, and is now hugging himself with joy for not having sold his old homestead. He says the wheat crop in the Glass-ton district of North Dakota will scarcely average five bushels to the acre. The day he left there a farmer was drawing oats five miles to an elevator, where he sold them for seven cents a bushel. Barley was bringing only 11 cents and wheat 42. Armstrong tells a touching story of hardships of the North Dakota farmers.

A young Frenchman named Frank Blair, hailing from Montreal, a portrait painter by profession and a harness maker by trade, who has been employed by J. W. Williamson for some months past, is now languishing in Castle Jackson, whether he was sent for fifteen days by P. M. McIntyre. Wednesday he hired a nobby horse and rig at Murphy Bros' livery stable to drive to Fenelon Falls, but not turning up at the appointed time suspicion was aroused, and Chief Bell put on his track. He was arrested at Port Hope on civic holiday and brought back to town. When brought before the magistrate he denied any intention of theft, but as he had his whole outfit with him at the time of his arrest, his worship decided otherwise. It pays to be honest, even if you don't have any fun.

A melancholy double drowning accident took place at Hennessy's landing near the southern borders of the town on Wednesday evening last. About 6.30 o'clock, it being very warm, Mr. John Richards and Mr. Fred Hawkins of the Central hotel started for the river for a swim. When they reached the landing they found that Master Roger, son of Mr. John Maunders, and Thos. Hugh Richards, a lad of thirteen years, had preceded them and were already in the water, which at this point is deep a short distance from shore and weedy as well, making it a somewhat dangerous spot for amateur swimmers to bathe. After divesting themselves of their clothes, Hawkins and Richards decided they would give the lads a few lessons in the art of swimming, and accordingly taking Roger Maunders between them, one supporting his head and the other his body, they swam out a considerable distance in the river and back. It was now young Richards' turn to receive his lesson. Mr. Richards was about to accompany his son, but Hawkins, who was a powerful swimmer, thought he could handle the lad better alone, and accordingly throwing himself on his back, with young Richards lying across his breast and his arms clasped around his neck, he struck out for the middle of the river. He had turned and was heading for the shore when the lad called out "Papa, I am drowning." His father called to him to let go his hold, swim for the shore and he would meet him, but the next instant Hawkins threw up one arm and sank to rise no more alive, carrying the boy down with him. The father was horror-stricken and became completely unnerved, so much so that he was unable to render the slightest assistance. Mr. Richards had not been in the water before for fifteen years and consequently had lost confidence in himself as a swimmer. Assistance soon arrived and the body of Hawkins was recovered about 7.30 in twelve feet of water, in a hole full of weeds. Young Richards body was recovered an hour later. The unfortunate accident spread a gloom over the whole town. Mr. Hawkins had been employed with Mr. John Maunders for some eight months and was an upright, straightforward young man and generally esteemed. His parents reside in Port Hope and the body was taken there for interment Friday evening, and was escorted to the station by the citizen's band and a large concourse of citizens. The funeral of Thomas H. Richards took place Friday afternoon and was very largely attended. The unfortunate lad was a charter member of the Queen's Own Piccolo band, the members of which turned out in a body and attended the funeral. He was a favorite with his companions, who placed a large number of beautiful bouquets on his coffin as a mark of their esteem.—Watchman.

A MONTREAL BUSINESS MAN Won the Battle Through his Wife's Advice.

A short time ago a Montreal business man returned from a New York private hospital, to which institution he had gone last February for treatment. The case was a serious one—kidney disease—and had baffled the skill of the local doctors. The New York specialist, after a month's close attention, could not hold out very strong hopes of a complete cure, but advised patience and continued treatment. The sick man, hoping for better results, finally left for home—sick, unhappy and despondent. Upon his arrival in Montreal, friends were alarmed when they found his condition had not improved, and some recommended a sea voyage. The sick man's wife having heard of the wonders accomplished by Paine's Celery Compound in cases of kidney disease, urged her husband to give it a trial. A supply of the medicine was procured and used faithfully, and the diet list—prepared specially for those afflicted with kidney troubles—was closely followed. After three weeks' use of Paine's Celery Compound, a blessed and happy change was observed. The patient was brighter and stronger, no constipation, no back aches, urine was more natural in color, and appetite was healthy and established. After due care and attention, and the use of Paine's Celery Compound, this Montreal merchant is well and attending to business to-day.

Poor sufferers from kidney trouble, what think you of this Montreal case? Will not the same treatment bring you the health and freedom from disease that you so much desire? Yes, we are certain it will. Paine's Celery Compound will quite renew your life, and give you a long lease of happy days. Use the kind that cured the Montreal merchant; remember there are imitations, and very worthless ones, too. "This 'Paine's' that makes people well." Orilla. Photo gallery burned. At 8.30 Tuesday morning Whiten's photograph gallery at foot of Mississauga street got a scorching, and the valuable appliances and art exhibits of Mr. Whiten were for the most part ruined. How the fire originated is a mystery. Mr. Whiten had just come down, and was engaged cleaning the stairs to the studio for the first time that morning and saw the roof was on fire. The room where the chemicals were kept was intact, so that the fire did not originate there. He rushed down and gave the alarm, and going back was only able to secure some of his instruments, being driven out by the smoke. The building was purchased two months ago by Mr. W. L. Bennett, Front street, and it was his intention to shortly convert the place into a grocery and bake shop. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Whiten are both heavy losers, as the insurance had been much reduced the past few weeks. When Mr. Bennett purchased the property there was a policy for $1,100, but he renewed for only $500. Mr. Whiten had a policy of $500 which expired two weeks ago, and he could not renew for the short time he expected to occupy the building, as he was to vacate on Saturday. He has $150 in the Lancashire, and estimates the loss between five and seven hundred dollars.—Times.

A sad drowning accident occurred in Lake Couchiching early Sunday morning, by which Wesley Davis, the young proprietor of the barber shop next to the Simcoe house, lost his life. After closing his shop shortly after midnight, Davis visited Maundrell's restaurant and partook of lunch. In company with Willie McKinlay, Boy Dunlop and the young fellow who was playing black man for the medicine fakir, he also had ice cream. Then, with the same companions, he went down to the wharf for a bathe, on the way down handing over his purse, containing $19 in notes and $6.50 in silver, to Constable Cotton. Arrived there the party proceeded to "take a duck." Davis got down on the stones at the head of the wharf, the others being up on it dressing or undressing. Suddenly he slipped off into deep water, went down and came up, but without raising his head above the surface. As his companions mistakingly supposed him to be a good swimmer, they took no particular notice of the unfortunate young man's struggles. But when he sank again, and did not reappear they became alarmed. Just at this moment Nightwatchman Cotton appeared on the scene having come down to watch the lads bathing. When he learned the position of affairs he roused up Mr. H. Bridgewater and the people at Sweetman's hotel, and went on for Dr. Giehrich's hotel, and went on once more to recover the body but it was some time before it was discovered, lying in eight feet of water, twelve or fourteen feet from the end of the wharf, and near by two hours after the accident it was got out by Joe Hurlibesse, with the aid of a pole and hooks. By that time all hope of restoring animation was gone. The parents of the unfortunate young man, who live at Jarratt's Corners, were at once communicated with, and their grief was pitiful to witness. Davis was a steady young fellow, of good disposition, and had the promise of doing an excellent business and making money. He was twenty years of age.—Packet.

The Drunkard's Character. (By Henry Wilson, Whitty, A Total Abstainer.)

Of all the fools on earth by heaven accurst The Drunkard should be reckoned with the worst. No beast that walks the plain, or bird that flies, Does act so base a part, or so unwise. The slow, the dull, the poor despised ass In wisdom does the drunkard far surpass; It drink's no more when nature's satisfied, But leaves the stream along the vale to glide. But drunkards of inferior sense will drink Till they can scarcely walk, or talk, or think. What sin will not a drunkard then commit While in this vile intoxicating fit? Satan then can rule him with easy sway, And turn him 'as he pleases' in his way. His health, his wealth, his character and time Are all destroyed by this atrocious crime. We censure thieves who intrude on houses creep, To rob their neighbors whilst they are asleep. The drunkard does in drink so much delight He robs his wife and children of their right. To purchase poison in the flowing bowl Which brings them all to want and damns his soul. Stay, drunkard, stay before it is too late! Reflect with sorrow on thine awful state. The blood of Christ can cleanse thy sins away. Oh, seek his mercy—seek without delay: Then sober live and let thy future days Be wholly spent God—thy Saviour's praise. "Know ye not that drunkards shall not inherit the Kingdom of God." Nor they that sell the poisonous drugs either.

A TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

That Has Won in Every Conflict.—The Three Great South American Remedies Never Fail in the Cure of Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and the Worst Forms of Indigestion.

The three great South American Remedies have been called into conflict with many a desperate enemy, but the case is yet to be recorded where they have not come out the victor. If we take South American Rheumatic Cure, the story of the patients who have been cured by it reads like a fairy tale. Mr. D. Desmet, of Peterboro, suffered so terribly from rheumatism, that he was blistered by doctors ten different times, in as many different places with the hope of driving the disease from his system. His hands were drawn out of shape and the fingers almost destroyed. His left leg had to be encased in a plaster of Paris cast for months. One week after using South American Rheumatic Cure this patient was like a new man, and in a short time was completely cured.

When South American Kidney Cure is called into question, unlike pills and powders and medicines of that kind, it immediately dissolves the uric acid and hardened substances that constitute this disease, and the system rid of these a cure is soon effected. Mr. D. J. Locke, of Sherbrooke, Quebec, says he spent over $100 in treatment for a complicated case of kidney disease, but received no relief. After taking a few doses of South American Kidney Cure he felt wonderfully helped, and, to quote his own words, "I have now taken four bottles, and consider myself completely cured."

The worst forms of indigestion were cured by the use of South American Nervine. It acts on the nerve centres located at the base of the brain, from which come all nervous troubles and disorders of the stomach. Mrs. H. Stapleton, Wingham, Ont., says: "I had been troubled for a number of years with nervous debility, indigestion and dyspepsia, and had been treated by a number of the best physicians in Canada and England. I was advised to take South American Nervine, and must say if I had not done so I would not have been alive to-day. I will never be without it." Sold by J. E. Willis, Whitty.

CLAREMONT. Albert Ferrer is here just now with friends. John Gerow is rustivating in the city this week. Miss Waddingham, of Toronto, is with Mrs. W. Leaper. David Peatie, of the city, is with Wm. Scott and family. Robert Campbell and family are with friends west for a short vacation. Miss Ettie Gee, of Toronto, was here on Monday with her aunt, Mrs. F. Hutchison. W. Gales and wife, of Toronto, were here on Monday with Reeve Gerow and family. It was Will, instead of Albert Rawson, who met with the accident spoken of last week. The Misses Hughes, of Toronto, are here with their brother, T. B. Hughes of the station. Walter Powell, of Pickering, and Alf Holliday, of Brooklin, were here Sunday with Geo. Field. The framework of the new rink is now up. The roof will be of a metallic nature, and therefore very light. Geo. Dowswell and Bryson Park, of Toronto, were here Monday. Miss Thomson gave a farewell party to her numerous young friends on Tuesday evening, before leaving for Buffalo, where she now resides. The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner indeed. Hereafter there will be no market fees at W. Dowswell's market. The trade has been split up for some months and if the same is pursued much longer there will be no market here. By throwing the building open it is to be hoped that there will be a grand re-organization of forces. Constable Gibson had two Italian women before Squire Gerow on Tuesday charged with peddling goods without a license. After hearing the evidence the magistrates gave the poor unfortunates a few hours to leave the neighborhood. They obeyed the order of the court. The women were of a very dissipated sort. Prof. Bates, principal of Woodstock Baptist college, who had been camping on one of the islands on Lake Joseph, near Bundy's point, died from blood poisoning the other day. While removing a dried piece of bait from a fish hook he scratched his hand slightly, and this caused his death. The deceased was well known among the Baptist people, and his sad death will be deeply regretted.

A shocking accident happened a short distance west of here on Henry Elson's farm on Saturday. While his two children, a boy of nine years and a girl of seven years were at play they had some dispute over a swing. The boy threatened to shoot the girl if she did not let him have possession of the swing. This the girl refused, and the boy took aim with an old gun that was near, and to the surprise of both the fire arm discharged, striking the child on the back and side of the head. Medical aid was called but the poor babe lived only a few hours. She could talk a little, but was unable to move after being shot. The family are beside themselves with grief. The gun had been thrown about for some time and this was not the first time the children had been playing with it, but the day before the accident it had been loaded for the purpose of shooting crows or something of that kind. How very careful people should be with fire arms, for as a rule it is the unloaded (?) guns that do the mischief.—News.

A Woman's Burden are lightened when she turns to the right medicine. If her existence is made gloomy by the chronic weakness, delicate derangements and painful disorders that afflict her sex, she will find relief and emancipation from her troubles in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If she's overworked, nervous, or "run-down," she has new life and strength after using this remarkable remedy. It's a powerful, invigorating tonic and nerve which was discovered and used by an eminent physician for many years, in all cases of "female complaints" and weakness. For young girls just entering womanhood; for women at the critical "change of life"; in bearing-down sensations, periodical pains, alteration, inflammation, and every kindred ailment, it effects perfect and permanent cure.
