The debut of Miss Trixie Hamilton, at the opera house on Friday last, marked the commencement of a career as a public reader that will undoubtedly be highly successful. Miss Hamilton is a daughter of Lt. Col. Hamilton, late of the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto, and grand daughter of Mr. Henry Pellatt, of Southwood Hall. The talent and thorough training evinced by Miss Hamilton are highly creditable to herself and the Whitby ladies' college, from which institution she recently graduated with the degree of M. E., and the gold medal for elecution. She showed herself thoroughly familiar with the proper inflection and gesture for both prose monologue and poetical selection. She has a charming stage presence, and as she recited her various numbers the Among the young ladies of Napanee audience showed its delighted apprecia-
