WHITBY, OCT. 2, 1896.

Political Notes Since Sir Oliver Mowat cancelled the new list of Queen's Counsels...

Short Notes Four weeks from next Tuesday, November 3rd, is the date of the United States Presidential election...

Exhibition Notes Quite a few fellows enjoyed their annual drunk during the fair.

Greenwood Miss Etta Gee spent Sunday with her parents.

Kinsale The heavy frost of late injured the late corn.

As a usual thing our capital, M's run out in setting up a prize list...

As a steady traffic of loaded wagons, for the brookline elevator, passes through town every day...

tion of late years will soon accomplish its destruction as a public institution.

The horse racing at this fair was a most successful feature. There were plenty of good horses, and so well matched were they...

One young chap from the rural parts fell in with a nut-shell man in one of the hotel sheds. After watching the shells for a time he easily detected the pea, but would not bet more than fifty cents on his opinion.

For the third time this fair has been the victim of bad weather. Everything would appear to be propitious until the fair would open, and then rain would set in and pour incessantly to the end of the chapter.

There was a list of fakirs at the show comprising every sort that is known, barring the nut-shell. Why the nut-shell man is banished and everything else licensed we cannot tell...

Miss Etta Gee spent Sunday with her parents. Mr. Walter Wilson has been spending a few days at home.

Messrs. F. Gibson and M. White left on Monday last for Lucknow, they having secured the situation of packing apples there for Mr. Henry, of Oshawa.

The Epworth League a week ago was conducted by Messrs. G. Ward and F. L. Green. Subject—Literature and Reading.

As a steady traffic of loaded wagons, for the brookline elevator, passes through town every day. Prices are exceedingly low but many are forced to sell in order to meet the bills, etc., of this season of the year.

Ben Wagener has not yet fully decided to go to Whitby, but will locate there if he can sell his property here satisfactorily.

Our store here is for sale to the highest bidder as the present proprietor intends going westward next spring...

Offerings for apples are exceptionally low this season. Most farmers are holding on for Mr. Laurier to so arrange matters that prices may advance at least a little.

The inspector visited our schools a few days since and found things so running he gave the usual half holiday along with a full days holiday on Tuesday for the renowned Whitby fair.

The undersigned has a power cider mill at Kinsale. Farmers may have their cider home with them. Bring sheaf of clean straw along.

SEAGRAVE We are pleased to see Rev W. Elliott back from his visit in the north looking so much improved.

Some of the young men (?) of our community do not know how to behave themselves. We think for the sake of their own reputations and for the feelings of others a little less boozing and cheering would serve a great deal better.
