A great curiosity in the peculiar growth of a cluster of Vicar of Wakefield pears is to be seen in John Gibson's window. The fruit has grown on the stem in a cluster much in the same manner that bananas grow. The cluster of fruit is about 16 inches in length and there are over 30 large pears in the cluster. The fruit grew on a tree on Colborne street.

To the readers of the CHRONICLE I want to say that I have just commenced the greatest, most gigantic, clearing sale every conducted in South Ontario. The Wrightman stock was composed largely of fall and winter fabrics, and as I bought it late in the spring a large portion of it had to be carried over until this fall trade opened. I am now closing it out at any sacrifice. If I cannot make the price of any article in my store satisfactory to any customer who will make that customer a handsome present before they leave the place. Now come and see and sign me to my advertisement. A. Mackie, sign of the golden lion, Oshawa.

Dr. Bigsby, Detroit, a graduate of Oxford University, England, gave an address before the pupils of the Oshawa High school on Monday afternoon. He is interested in educational work in Michigan and dropped here while on his way to Bowmanville to lecture before the Collegiate Institute there. Mr. Smith arranged with him for an address here and a few citizens were invited to attend. The address of Dr. Bigsby was calculated to insure an increased interest in the study of the English language by acquainting the pupils with the French and German languages which would in time become the language of the world. The address was very interesting. Mr. L. K. Murton moved the vote of thanks seconded by Mr. Hezlewood.

Back from Manitoba
John Nesbit, one of the prominent and well-to-do farmers of East Whitby, returned last week from a trip to Manitoba. He was in the Scars and Deloraine districts and was favorably impressed with the general appearance of the country. The wheat crop is most abundant, but in some places has been caught by the frost. He is of the opinion that the farmers are too much at the mercy of the elevator companies. For the farmer of limited means there is no land like it under the sun. It is easily worked and cheap. Land, he says, that has once been plowed and not regularly cultivated, is worse than unbroken land, because of weeds, which have a rank growth. He came home while the strike was on and found travelling very tedious. The trains ran very slowly and at curves in the road came to a dead standstill while a brakeman was sent ahead to see if the way was clear before venturing ahead again. In this way a great deal of time was spent in passing along the north shore of Lake Superior. Of the Ontario government pioneer farm at Wabagon, Mr. Nesbit says woe be gone to the man who is surrounded on all sides by rocks and is cut off from the rest of the world except by the railway. Mr. Nesbit enjoyed the trip and is satisfied that Manitoba has a great future before it.

An old resident gone.
Friday last James Smith, a well known resident, passed quietly into rest, at the age of 76 years. Mr. Smith was born in Scotland and came to Canada in his boyhood and settled on a bush farm north east of Columbus, with his mother and four brothers. They were an industrious family and well from the start. In due time deceased married the daughter of Wm. Beggs, East Whitby, and moved on an adjoining farm on what is known as known as the new road. He afterwards owned the farm now owned by the Conlins, and lived there until he moved into Oshawa. He accumulated a large fortune and at the time of settling in Oshawa he owned some $50,000. He was then, and continued for some time to be the treasurer of East Whitby township. On moving to Oshawa, he, in company with the late Wm. McGaw, bought the livery business of W. H. Thomas. After some five years they sold out for some $20,000. Mr. McGaw taking the Queen's hotel here. Mr. Smith first lived where Wm. Bambridge now lives and afterwards owned and lived in the property now occupied by Robt Woon. His property gradually slipped away from him until at his death he had scarcely any left. His wife died some ten years ago and their only child, a son who married a daughter of Wm. Black, Whitby, died about a year ago. Deceased was of a kindly disposition and had a host of friends. He was buried under the auspices of the Masonic order from Mrs. Thompson's boarding house in the McCaw block, and the large attendance at the funeral indicated the kindly feeling and respect that was entertained for him.

Mr. St. Germain, of Toronto, is visiting his relative, Mr. Thos Goodman on King St. East. Mr. St. Germain owns a 170 acre farm just north of Toronto. He is upwards of 70 years of age, but does not appear to be so and his wonderfully retentive memory is well stored with reminiscences of men and events that came before his eyes. He was engaged in newspaper work for some time and he listened to the gifted divine his mind went back to some fifty years ago when as a newspaper man he had presented himself as a candidate for the office of mayor in the city. The boy had just arrived in the country to begin life for himself. He was asked if he could spell and replied that he knew that a-b was ab and o-b was ob but that he did not know as much about grammar as he would like to. He is a very intelligent and bright man and he has a fine face and bright manner got him the respect he proved industrious and hard-working, and on borrowing Cobben's grammar from Mr. St. Germain, proved a capable scholar.

After serving his apprenticeship at the printing trade he went to St. Catharines as a printer and eventually became a Methodist preacher. While the congregation on Sunday only saw and thought of the gifted doctor of divinity who addressed them. Mr. St. Germain saw as well the boy who knew that a-b was ab and o-b was ob and knew something of the industry it takes the writer to make an eloquent preacher before him out of the ambitious boy of fifty years ago.

We have just learned that a second hand fire engine has been bought. All we can say is that we hope it will have another fire that the reeve and council will turn out and pump it.

At 4 p. m. on Saturday last, the old cry of fire was again heard on our streets when it was earned that the Public and High School was a mass of flames. It was not long before half the village was around the building. As there was a strong north east wind that the exception of an engine of any kind on hand the citizens were obliged to stand by and watch it burn. We should think it about time the village had fire protection. After the two large fires of last spring a public meeting was called and the matter discussed. That was six months ago and still there is no engine. Of course the city fathers won't think of coming before the public for re-election for the coming year, if they do we fear it will only be a waste of their precious time. The school was insured for $5400 and will be rebuilt at once. In the meantime, Mr. L. B. Davidson's division will be held in the Court House and the other rooms in the house lately vacated by Mr. Thos McClung.
