Death of David Briggs.

Briggs came west and purchased the farm where he resided until his death. He chopped and cleared the land, and proved himself a vigorous woodman. From the first it was apparent that he was a man of taste as well as industry, and his farm always looked well kept. In 1842 he was married to Phoebe Kerr, who possessed the same vigorous constitution and worthy attributes of her worthy spouse, and who survives him. Uniformally the calling of agriculture has been successful in Ontario, but it has passed through many trying vicissitudes. Throughout the whole 60 years Mr Briggs preserved the same cheeeful demeanor, come what would, and his home was ver the welcome stopping place of any man who wanted rest or social friendship. The writer has many times enjoyed the open hearted hospitality of the deceased and his noble family. Deceased was a methodist, a teetotaler, a Liberal in politics. He never sought public office, but was long the responsible county constable of his district. Four sons and three daughters survive him. The eldest son, San Sy'vester E, was one of the founders of the Steele Briggs Seed Co. Toronto, and is vice-president of the company at present. Daniel Leslie, the second son is also interested in that company. Henry Warren, the fourth son, is traveller for A A Allen & Co. Ioonto. William Francis, the third son, has al ways remained at home on the farm, and will continue to occupy it. To all of his children, sons and daughters, deceased was a kind father, one whose heart was full of parental love. His ther. Rev Mr Thom's efforts are apprecianeighbors looked upon David Briggs almost as Led.
