

WHITEVALE
The revival services in the baptist church are closed for the present.
Miss Ella White has been somewhat indisposed but is now better.
Mrs Benj Ellison has been rather ill lately, suffering with the quinsy.
The assessor has been around here the last week. He had quite a set to with one of our residents over some difficulty unknown to us.
Mrs Osborne of Bowmanville has been visiting her daughter Mrs Oke. She has had to go to Toronto hospital for to undergo an operation.
Miss Maggie Sidell had a collision on a bicycle with another one in the city last week, and got a very severe shaking up, but we are pleased to hear that she is progressing favorably.
Mr Geo Farmor, who died last week at Green River from diphtheria, is said to have contracted the disease from a cat, as the cat showed every indication of having the terrible disease.
A load from Whitby came up a few nights ago to hear the Methodist entertainment. We trust that they enjoyed the drive even though somewhat disappointed.
The annual oyster supper of the Locust Hill creamery took place at Mr D B Nighswander's on Friday night last. In every respect it was quite a success.
Mr and Mrs Tilmouth Pherrill, of Scarborough, was with friends here during the last week.
Miss Edna Chester of Scarborough, is staying with friends here for a couple of weeks.
Mrs John Turner of Dakota, who has been spending the winter here, returned home on Wednesday last.
Quite a number attended the L.O.O.F. oyster supper at Markham on Friday night last and reported oysters and program good.
Mr and Mrs L G Annis of Port Union was at "Penna Bank" on Sunday last.
The new liquor law seems to be universally denounced by the temperance people of the province.
Mr and Mrs Shaw of the North West, who has been visiting friends here and elsewhere, have returned to their home in Mr Shaw is much interested in gold mines at present.
A few creditors from here are interested in the assignment of Mr Isaac Littlejohn at Bringham.
Miss Maud Mathison and Miss Florence Smith who have situations in Toronto, are spending a few days under the parental roof.
Mr Ed Bagshaw of Brock, is with friends and relatives here for a short time.
Messrs Brace and Metcalfe of Markham, spent Sunday in the vale.
The Messrs and Misses Dobson and Campbell of Greenbank, are with Mr Jas Thornton for a few days.
Miss Ida Thornton has returned after spending several weeks with friends in the north.
Little Phemie Reesor has had a cancer or something that resembled one, taken from her cheek by the cancer doctor, Boyer, of Markham.
Master Jas Lyonde is acting as page during the present session of parliament at Toronto.
Whitevale seemed to be fairly swarming with visitors last Sunday on account of the anniversary.
The new regulations that went into force last week on the C.P.R. in respect to computation tickets and cheap market day tickets are causing no little dissatisfaction around here. However, there is another section of the community that is doubtless well pleased with the change. We think the idea is to benefit the railroad and smaller towns, but we are doubtful if it will benefit the latter, as when people once buy in the city they always will, even though the fare is raised.
Last week a Torontonian widow residing in Cleveland, wrote to an alderman in Toronto to try to dispose of her family burial plot. She claimed that poverty was the cause. The reflections that arise in the mind of reading of a woman's desire to sell her family burial plot in order to get bread are as sad as her chances of finding a purchaser are hopeless.
The anniversary services of the Methodist church were held on Sunday and Monday last. On Sunday the Rev Vickery and Edwards preached eloquent sermons, and the three different choirs furnished choice music to a crowded house. On Monday a large crowd gathered at the church to hear Miss Jessie Alexander, and we are confident, no one was disappointed. Miss Alexander excels everything that she has ever seen in the line of elocution. All her selections brought uproarious applause, and should she ever return her visit she will certainly have a full house.

The Wild Carrot.
This is becoming a troublesome weed in many parts of the country. A recent report from the Maine State Board of Agriculture says it has been known in that State for the last ten years, and is now very widely spread. Our experience with it goes back more than forty years. The first specimens in our neighborhood came from a neglected field of the common carrot, which was so poor a crop that it was never harvested. As the ground that winter was covered with snow most of the time these carrots lived and bore seed next year, which was widely distributed by winds and other means. Ever after this time that neighborhood abounded with wild carrots, growing smaller roots each year. Too much care cannot be taken in growing carrot seed not to let any of it run wild, for if it gets on the roadsides or in pastures it will at once degenerate and become the true wild carrot. It is, however, not a very troublesome weed if care is always taken in seeding down to put the clover and grass seed so thickly as to leave no room for it. Even on the roadside it is only abundant where the sod has been ploughed up and carted into the roadway as used to be done, leaving only the soil by the roadside in which only the wild carrot, mayweed, and ragweed will grow. All three of these weeds will be crowded out if the clover seeding covers the entire surface, as it always should.

Animals That Do Not Grow Thirsty.
How long would you be contented without a drop of water to drink? There are many different kinds of animals in the world that never in all their lives sip so much as a drop of water. Among these are the llamas of Patagonia and the gazelles of the far east. A parrot lived for 52 years in the zoo at London without drinking a drop of water, and many naturalists believe the only moisture imbibed by wild rabbits is derived from the green herbage laden with dew. Many reptiles—serpents, lizards and certain batrachians—live and thrive in places entirely devoid of water, and slugs are also said never to drink. An arid district in France has produced a race of nondrinking cows and sheep, and from the milk of the former Roquefort cheese is made. There is a species of mouse which established itself on the waterless plains of western America and which flourishes, notwithstanding the absence of moisture.

There was a large surprise party at Charles Garbutt's one evening recently. There were so many present that the house was full.
Stanley Hughes, brother of the station agent is very ill this week. His friends have been summoned from the city. At time of writing he is improving.
Erskine Presbyterian church will be supplied next Sabbath by Rev J H Barland, M.A., graduate of Toronto University in art, and Knox college in theology.
Harry Thomson had his leg torn with a nail while clinching a horse shoe and as a result he has been confined to the house for a few days. A competent man is in charge of the shop.
Cobourg beat Whitby at hockey, Bowmanville beat Cobourg, Brooklin beat Bowmanville, Claremont won from Brooklin. Considering the above how many Claremont players would it take to defeat Whitby?
Two curling matches took place here on Friday. In the forenoon Claremont defeated Malvern by two shots, and in the afternoon Malvern beat Stouffville 20 shots. The Hood team were here on Tuesday and were defeated by the home team by one shot.
Rev Earnest Fletcher, died at Toronto the other day from an acute attack of consumption. A few months ago he and Miss Brown were married in Manitoba. He was compelled to return to Toronto through illness where he died. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved young widow.
The annual festival and entertainment of the Mission Band, held in the baptist church on Friday evening was a great success. The tea was excellent and the programme superb. About $52 was taken in at the door. Mr Catton, of Goodwood, kindly furnished the lights for the tableaux. Mr McAlpine, B. A., rendered selections in Scotch, Irish, and English and was well received.—News.

Why Thunder Rolls.
The prolonged roll of thunder is readily explained by comparison with a volley fired along a line of troops. Suppose troops to be drawn up in line in such number as to extend for a mile, and ordered, by a signal that all could see, to fire at once. One standing at the end of the line would hear the report of the musket nearest him instantly. He would hear the others successively.
Thus a report 500 feet away would come to him in half a second, and he would not hear the last report for five or six seconds after the gun had been fired. This would produce a sort of roll, which would gradually increase in intensity. Flashes of lightning may be considered as presenting three lines of troops along which the explosions occur at the same time. Consider the variety of distance and position of the listener, and we account for the variety of sound in thunder. In mountainous regions the roll is augmented by reverberations or echoes.

Sow Plaster Early
The experience of farmers who have used plaster most shows that it cannot be relied upon to do any good if sown after most of the spring rains have passed. How early it can be sown with advantage cannot be said. It was a common practice of an old farmer of our acquaintance to sow plaster on the snow at the same time he sowed his clover and grass seed. If there is a heavy snow on the ground, the plaster may be sown any time in winter or even the previous autumn. It will help the clover until the field is ploughed again. It is supposed that one advantage of the plaster is in absorbing ammonia from the air and rain. But there is more ammonia in most snow in proportion to the water it contains than in any rainfall. For that reason sowing plaster on snow that fell in large, open flakes, and therefore absorbed most ammonia from the air, will probably be advisable.

The Country Woman
A recent article in a scientific journal stated that three-fourths of the woman found in state asylums for the insane were farmers' wives. If this is true, and there is no reason to doubt it, it should be interesting to know why. Another authority on some time ago declared that the larger number of male lunatics became insane through an exaggerated egotism, while the principal causes of lunacy among women were disappointed affection or the "dreaddful" of a "hard, monotonous, solitary life."
This last statement bears out the first. Nothing can be more wearing on the nerves than the constant strain of a nerve ending routine coupled with the mental stagnation which farmers' wives have usually had to endure. No treadmill could be more endlessly recussing than the inevitable round of daily duty, early and late, which the farmer's wife of a few years ago had to perform.

ORILLIA
A case that falls d
Last October, W T Y Lee laid in in formation against Mrs C McDonald for selling liquor without a license at her house at Mississauga and Front streets. Mrs McDonald testified that she had not. Subsequently, Mr Lee was told, so it has been related by certain parties that they were prepared to give evidence that would convict Mrs McDonald, of perjury and Mr Lee was thus induced to take proceedings against the lady named for untruthfulness. When the case was called on Tuesday before Mr Lafferty, Mr Lee's three witnesses, Josephine, Sarah, and Ellen O'Connell deposed that they did not know a thing about it. And so it ended.
A forgery charge
On February 16th Mr Archie Fyfe discounted a note bearing the signature of himself and his father-in-law, Mr E Turner North Orillia, for $100 at the Traders Bank here. Fyfe then went to Toronto and a little later the manager of the bank informed Turner of the signature. He despatched a messenger with the note to the latter's home, and the messenger so folded the note that Turner could see only his own name at the bottom of it. He at once repudiated the note. Fyfe was then arrested at Toronto and brought here for trial on a charge of forgery. The charge fell through as Turner testified that Fyfe was in the habit of signing notes for him, and that had been shown the latter's signature on the note he would not have repudiated it.
A $500 blaze
A few minutes after one o'clock on Friday afternoon an alarm was rung from No 7 box West and Mississauga streets, for a fire alarm at Coulter's paint shop, next to W Tudhope's carriage shop. The gongs attached to the system all rung, but the fire bell did not, and some minutes were lost. The fire wagon horses ran to their places at the first stroke of the tall gong, and stood there for some minutes before being hitched up. When the wagon did get out, it made excellent time, and the brigade did fine work. The roof of the building was damaged to the extent of $150. Mr Coulter's paint shop on the second floor was wrecked, his stock of paints being pretty well destroyed. About $150 worth of varnish, etc., were spoiled. The ground floor was occupied by stoves from the T. Phillip & Co. estate which were held by the Gurney Co., of Toronto, and they were damaged by water. Mr H S Holcroft owned the building. The losses were all covered by insurance. The cause of the fire was the over heating of the stove pipes in the paint shop. Under the new arrangements at the fire hall, there will not be any delay in getting the hose wagon out when an alarm is sent in.—News Letter.

Wood Ashes for Heavy Soils.
All heavy soils contain some potash, but it is often in form not available for crops. Hence ashes or other forms of available potash may do so much good on heavy loams as they do on sandy soils naturally deficient in this mineral. Even if potash is present in sandy soils it is quite likely to be in the form of a silicate of potash, which is insoluble except in contact with something that is fermenting. It is thus that a dressing of stable manure having very little potash itself may make bright, clean straw where it is applied, while on the land not manured the grain and straw will be rusted. It is potash or the lack of it that makes this difference, and the result shows that the manure made soluble enough potash in the soil to maintain healthful plant growth.

Turnips Must Go.
At the annual meeting of the Thamesford cheese factory patrons one of the most live subjects discussed was that of feeding turnips to cows, the milk from which was being made into cheese. There was a full meeting, and although a number of them had always been in the habit of feeding a few turnips to their cows in the fall, every man that expressed himself at all on the subject declared that he believed better results would be obtained if no turnips were fed, and that they should, therefore, not be used. At the close of the discussion the following resolution was unanimously carried: "We, as patrons of the Thamesford cheese factory, pledge ourselves not to feed turnips to our cows while sending milk to the factory, and do authorize our directors to pass a by law prohibiting the feeding of turnips to cows from which the milk is used for cheesemaking."

An icehouse should be upon every farm, and it should not be given over to the chickens after a few years either. What is a greater luxury in hot weather than ice cream and other frozen dainties made possible by its use? We just couldn't do without it for this reason if no other. Then, no one can make good butter in hot weather without some cooling agent, and we should all put it store for this use if for no other. The women folks do not have any too many conveniences to work with, and this is one which every farmer ought to provide.

Moths Must be Watched in Winter.
Moths will work in carpets in rooms that are kept warm in the winter as well as in the summer. A sure method of removing the pests is to pour strong alum water on the floor to the distance of half a yard around the edges before laying the carpets.
