Keeping the House Cool. By a Little Care Intense Summer Heat Can be Greatly Modified.

"How best to keep the house cool in summer is a grave problem," writes Mrs S T Rorer in the Ladies' Home Journal. "During the hot months the house is much more livable if artificial heat can be cut down to the minimum."

"When do you take your vacation, Mr Tompkins?" "Can't tell yet; we all have to wait and see when the typewriter girl wants hers."

He—The record says you were born in 1860. She—That is correct. How old would you say I am? He—Oh, about 30. She—You horrid thing! I'm not 25 yet!

"I understand that Timmins swore a blue streak when his tire exploded." "Timmins, allow me to inform you, did nothing of the kind. He is too much of a modern literary man to swear other than crimson oaths."

Funny Things.

Charlie—Now, darling Annie, we are really and truly one—one forever. Annie—Of course, dear Charlie—but when it comes to ice cream, don't you think we had better order two plates.

The Judge—Didn't I tell you the last time that you were here that I wanted to see your face in this court no more.

Wearly Watkins—You did, yeronder, and that is exactly what I tole the cop.

Gumbleton's hat looks a mile too big for him. That's the hat he usually wears next morning.

Mrs Seldomhome—No, my husband and I are not going on a summer trip this year. We expect to take the money it would cost and buy a first-class tandem bicycle.

Mrs Gofrequent—That isn't at all nice. We are going to take the summer trip and buy a tandem, too. They don't speak.

Watts—Did you read about those Kansas hailstones that weighed a lb. apiece?

Watts—Yes, but everybody knows that a little thing a pound of ice is.

I think a woman should always allow someone else to choose her husband. What is your reason? So she won't have to blame herself if he doesn't turn out well.

Don't you think these stripes become me? asked the summer awning. They ought to run crosswise," said the window, savagely. You are nothing but a daylight robber.

"I am in receipt of your valued favor, and would say I most cheerfully testify again to the worth, value and merits of Paine's Celery Compound."

"I am never without a bottle of it in my possession, and I partake of it daily. This I have been in the habit of doing for some seven years, and can affirm that, judging from experience, it is a most wonderful nerve restorer and tonic. Hardly a day passes by me that I am not asked the question, 'What do you do to yourself to preserve your youthful appearance?' My reply is, 'I take Paine's Celery Compound.'"

Mrs. Angus McLean's sale which took place on Thursday was very well attended. Mrs. McLean is now visiting her mother in Beaverton, and on her return will leave for Manitoba, where she intends residing in the future.

LINDSAY

The Fall Fair season is now approaching, and there are a few matters that should be remedied before that time arrives.

"Speeding-in-the-ring" events are necessary to attract large gate receipts. While the government takes no exception to these speeding events, they on the other hand frown down anything and everything that can be called a "horse race."

Now while the WATCHMAN does not wish to enter into a controversy on the merits or demerits of horse racing at our local fairs or any where else, we would at the same time desire to draw the attention of our local representatives to the unsatisfactory condition of affairs at the present time.
