

This is the cradle in which there grew That thought of a philanthropic brain; A remedy that would make life new For the multitudes that were racked with pain.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in its infancy half a century ago. To-day it doth "bestride the narrow world like a colossus." What is the secret of its power? Its cures! The number of them! The wonder of them! Imitators have followed it from the beginning of its success. They are still behind it. Wearing the only medal granted to sarsaparilla in the World's Fair of 1893, it points proudly to its record. Others imitate the remedy; they can't imitate the record:

50 Years of Cures.

The Steveston correspondent of the Vancouver, B.C., World has the following to say of Mr Geo A Kempf, son of the late Dr. Kempf, and formerly of this town, but who is now out on the coast: "Mrs A Klouthman fell off the wharf on Monday night about 11.30, but fortunately Geo A Kempf was just closing the books in Mr Nadelman's store, and hearing her cries, without calling for assistance he immediately proceeded to the rescue and, single handed, with a good deal of risk to his own life, rescued the drowning woman and packed her to Bishop's drug store where she received all possible care. Anyone who knows the place where the poor woman fell in will understand the chances he was taking. A medal from the Humane society would not be too much of a reward; in passing on, through life how cheering it is to still find that manhood is shorn of none of its glory." (This is not the first person Geo. has pulled out of the water. May success attend him.)

The moonlight excursion to Pleasant Point on Monday night for the purpose of visiting the Y. M. C. A. campers, was largely attended. Just after the Crandella had started on her return trip a drowning fatality was narrowly averted. Two young fellows, Geo Casley and Hunter, who live in the vicinity, were returning home by canoe and in trying to tow behind the steamer upset. Casley could swim but Hunter could not. The former bravely clutched his companion and managed to get a hold on the boat's punt, from which perilous position they were rescued by the Pleasant Point campers. Casley for a time was in great danger, as Hunter in his fright grabbed him by the throat and almost choked and dragged him under water. During the episode there was great excitement on board the Crandella, many thinking that some of their friends were drowned. All things considered Casley's brave deed is worthy of all praise and recognition. Although no one would desire to see a fatality, very little sympathy was expressed for the participants in the upset. The Crandella people, in fact all steamboat men, say there is too much recklessness displayed by canoeists in trying to get tows behind steamers. Even for an expert canoeist this is a very dangerous undertaking, as with the waves and the suction after the boat there is the greatest possible danger of an upset. Foolhardy canoeists always meet with their deserts and such a practice as this is generally attended with dire results. The thing should be discontinued on these waters.—War-

Midsummer

Danger.

Paine's Celery Compound Surely and Quickly Cures Neurasthenia.

One of the commonest and most dangerous diseases of midsummer is Neurasthenia, or nervous prostration. The disease, which respects neither age or sex is usually brought on by overwork and worry in the shop, office, home and school.

It is maintained by physicians of large experience that nervous diseases are increasing so fast that to-day few people can boast of perfect freedom from nervous ailments.

The symptoms of nervous exhaustion are so well known that it is almost unnecessary to name them. Dizziness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, shooting pains in the limbs, paralytic symptoms, constipation and headache are the commonest feeders of the disease.

One of the first indications of nervous disease is irritability, then ensues despondency, often followed by terrible insanity. How can nervous exhaustion be cured so that insanity and death may be avoided?

Past experience and medical testimony answer the question fully. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can surely overcome the troubles of the nervous. This marvellous curing medicine braces up every nerve, gives strength to the muscles and tissues, makes pure, rich blood, gives perfect digestion and sweet, sound sleep.

In this age of overwork, worry and fast living, Paine's Celery Compound is a shield and protector against the ravages of all nervous ailments. Medical men and druggists having a full knowledge of the virtues of Paine's Celery Compound are recommending it every day.

Its cures attest its superiority and unselfishness; its work in public institutions has given it a popularity never possessed by any other medicine. Try it, nervous one; it will quickly give you that condition of health that you are looking for.

Horse marks and Terms.

A white spot in the forehead is a star.

A white stripe in the face is a blaze. A stripe between the nostrils is a snip.

A white eye is a glass eye. A horse has pasterns, not ankles, and there is no such joint as a hind knee or fore shoulder.

White below the pastern joint is a white pastern. Above the pastern a white leg.

A star, blaze or bald face can't be anywhere except on the face. A snip can't be anywhere except on the nose.

Ambie, a gait like pacing, but slower in which the two legs on the same side are moved together.

Appel, the gentle tug on the rein given by the horse at each step.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of the family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Deceiving theories will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr Pierce's Medical discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to instructions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser" profusely illustrated.

ORILLIA
Messrs Moore & Kerr assigned on Monday to assignee Henderson. The assets are $14,000, and the liabilities $12,000. The assignee's assistant, M I F Bisset, is taking stock now and expects to have a statement for the creditors when they meet next Thursday. The financial difficulties of the firm of Lonsdale & Co of Montreal, and the nature of the business relations existing between that firm and Messrs Moore & Kerr, caused the latter to take the step they did. At present they cannot say whether a compromise will be effected or not.

Tap Open, Room Flooded.
There was a disastrous flood of town water among the rooms in Mr John Johnston's residence, on Laclie street, last week. All the members of the family were away for some days. By some unaccountable means the water tap in the bath rooms was left open, and for several days the water poured continuously from the open tap. The attention of the neighbors was first attracted by the appearance of water as it oozed through the brick veneer on the outside. Knowing the family to be absent, a door was forced open and the water was shut off. A good deal of damage was done to the furniture and carpets and the damage to the walls and ceilings will cost considerable to repair.

Who Owned This Sword?
Master Bert Moffatt has a keen eye for relics. When a young lad named Annie found an old sword at the bottom of Lake Couchiching at Bay Park some time ago, Bert offered to decipher with him for a canoe. And they dickered. The sword is probably two feet and a half in length. The handle still holds the wooden covering, but the outer cover of leather or of whatever it was made has been rotted off with age. The wood is scored and has what appears to be worm eaten holes in one or two places. There are no other marks on handle or blade to throw light upon its history. It is well preserved. The News letter would like to hear opinions as to how it became lodged in the bottom of the lake and to whom it belonged.

First in Eighteen Years.
Only a few people as far as the News Letter knows were observant enough on Saturday evening to notice that the electrical storm which passed over Orillia between 5.30 and 7 gathered in the east, or that it was the first storm arising in that quarter for eighteen years. Many will remember the terrific storm in the summer of 1879, with its accompaniment of hail sufficient to destroy nearly every pane of glass in town exposed to the north and east. It is related that on that occasion J Hatley for a week used ice in his refrigerator that had come down in hailstones. Perhaps there is no closer amateur student of weather and meteorological phenomena than Jno Gill of Front street. He says that following the storm of '79, came an eclipse of the sun and frosty nights. Consult your almanac and you will see an eclipse of the sun is forecast for July 28. Mr Gill is assured that we are going to have frosty nights before the close of the month, but perhaps not severe enough to damage growth. His calculations are based solely on the phenomena of the storm from the east on Saturday which, of course cannot bear comparison with that of eighteen years ago in severity, a fact that fathers the hope that the frost, which Mr Gill expects to come, will also be light in comparison with that in '97.—News Letter.

Struck With a Monkey Wrench
A somewhat remarkable accident, and one that may result fatally, occurred Monday afternoon on the farm of Jas Dorwood, 6th con Scott. Mr Dorwood and his third son, Charles, were fixing a track in the barn for the pilleyes of a hay fork. Mr Dorwood was standing on a ladder driving a bolt into a beam and had laid an ordinary sized monkey wrench, which he had been using, on top of the beam. The jarring caused by driving the bolt knocked the wrench off the beam, and in falling it struck the son, who was holding the ladder, on top of the head, knocking him unconscious. Medical aid was at once summoned, but it was six o'clock in the evening before the young fellow regained half consciousness, and then it was only for a few minutes. There is but a small scratch on the head where the wrench struck, but the doctors fear something into the head has been injured. The wrench only fell four or five feet and must have struck a very vital part to cause immediate unconsciousness.—Times.

Weak Lungs
Hot weather won't cure weak lungs. You may feel better because out of doors more, but the trouble is still there. Don't stop taking your because the weather happens to be warm. If you have a weak throat, a slight hacking cough, or some trouble with the bronchial tubes, summer is the best time to get rid of it. If you are losing flesh there is all the more need of attention. Weakness about the chest and thinness should never go together. One greatly increases the danger of the other. Heal the throat, cure the cough, and strengthen the whole system now. Keep taking Scott's Emulsion all summer.

Scott's Emulsion

Balsam & Mt Zion.
Mr Jones is on the sick list but we are glad to hear he is improving.

Some of the citizens of our village are trying to injure the market held here, but we are glad to know that the people of Balsam and vicinity pay no attention to the talk of those who would injure their own interests. On Saturday the buyers were well satisfied. Between four and five hundred pounds of butter was taken away, beside ten cases of eggs and a large number of fowl. 12c a pound was paid for butter and 10c a dozen for eggs.

Some have commenced harvesting and report a good crop.

Jno Jones has some of the finest potatoes we have seen this year.

Rev Mr Clare preached an able sermon to a large congregation on Sunday afternoon.

W F R Jones and his hired man have dissolved partnership.

The Dingley tariff bill was reported by the United States Senate on Saturday and agreed by President McKinley.

Funny Things.
Weary Waggle—Dis female suffrage racket is boss. I picked up an old Sunday paper today, and I see de wimmim is drivin de men out uv de job.
Wandering Willie—Dat's tuff, ain't it?
Vaery Waggle—Not by a long shot. Ef de wimmim ever git ter doin all de work in dis world, I wudn't be surprisid ef I got married.
Miss Bindley—Mr. Duckworth is such a modest, retiring man.
Mr. Forward—And yet he travels on his face a good deal of the time.
Miss Bindley—I don't understand you.
Mr. Forward—He is learning to ride the bike.
"I have observed," said the sweet young thing, "that it is the man who has never married who knows all about women."
"Certainly," said the unhappy bachelor. "It is the man who knows all about women who never marries."
"Isn't it strange?" she whispered as they sat in the gloaming.
"What, dear?" came a male voice.
"That it is gas which makes a cork pop and the absence of it which makes a man do that same thing."
Van Wither—Well, was your Uncle Josh struck by any of the modern improvements in city life?
Von Miner—Yes, but the fender worked.
